DAVE LEFEVER

GEORGETOWN (Lancaster Co.) — Dairy farmers know that low milk prices and high feed costs add up to tough times. Those are the conditions they face.

Especially in times like these, milk cooperative leaders try to assure farmers they are doing all they can to secure the best markets and member benefits. One way to offer better security to dairy farmers is by working together with other co-ops, according to Dairy Farmers of America (DFA) and Dairylea leaders speaking to about 70 dairy producers and family members at a meeting here late last week.

"We need to keep our eye on the ball and what we can do together," said Jerrel Heatwole, DFA director from Greenwood, Del.

DFA, an international milk-producers cooperative, and New York-based Dairylea have worked together as Dairy Marketing Services (DMS) since the fall of 1999. DMS also includes several smaller cooperatives, including Mount Joy Farmer's Co-op, based in Lancaster County.

Part of the meeting was spent

Farm Aid Brings Music, Message

BRIAN SNYDER

BURGETTSTOWN (Washington Co.) — When the Farm Aid extravaganza rolls into town, it brings with it much more than just some of the best music in America.

While the musical fare did not disappoint last Saturday's sold-out crowd of more than 23,000 fans who showed up at the Post-Gazette Pavilion in Burgettstown (near Pittsburgh) for the eight-hour feast of stars, the "real show" was mostly behind the scenes.

For a 24-hour period before the concert, the 15th edition of Farm Aid, and a host of local sponsors, presented numerous opportunities for members of the public and the press to be nourished on information and encouragement aimed at bolstering family farms all over Pennsylvania and the rest of the country.

Beginning at the Regional History Center in downtown Pittsburgh on Friday night, supporters of the Farm Aid message sponsored a program entitled "Challenges and Choices: The Future of Our Food and Farms," featuring the words and reflections of nationally known speakers as well as three Pennsylvania farmers.

GILBERT (Monroe Co.) — People seeking inspiration and support for managing small farms had a chance to gather with like-minded rural enthusiasts at the Northeast Small Farm and Rural Living Expo at the West End Fairgrounds here last weekend.

It was the second annual expo coordinated by the agricultural college extension programs from universities in New Jersey, New York, and Pennsylvania — Cornell, Rutgers, and Penn State, respectively.

"You have three states coming together, forgetting boundaries," Russell Gunton, regional director with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture (PDA), said of the two-day expo. Gunton joined ag representatives from New Jersey and New York for the official event kickoff on Saturday.

All-American Names Youth Supreme Champion

LAST YEAR	337	216	1008	1169	911

CATTLE: Compared to Thursday, slaughter cows sold fully steady to instances .50 higher on the bulk of the lean cow supply. Fleshier cows sold firm to 1.00 higher in active trading. The quality of the supply was fairly good with buyers relatively active due in part to the better quality. Slaughter bulls sold weak to instances 1.00 lower on a light run. Slaughter cows made up approximately 54 percent of the run.

SLAUGHTER COWS: PERCENT LEAN WEIGHT BULK LOW DRESSING Breakers 75-80 over 1400 lbs 40.00-43.25 35.00-38.00 Boners 80-85 over 1200 lbs 38.00-41.25 34.00-37.50 Lean (Hi-Yield) 85-88 over 1200 lbs 35.00-38.00 33.00-34.75 Lean 88-90 over 1000 lbs 32.50-37.50 30.50-32.50 Lean (Light-Wt) 85-90 750-1000 lbs 28.00-32.00 24.50-28.00

SLAUGHTER BULLS: Yield Grade 1 1180-2105 lbs 45.75-52.50. Yield Grade 2 1325-1645 lbs 43.50-45.50, few low dressing 39.50-41.75, few lightweight 820-1020 lbs 40.00-43.00. Bullocks: Select 1-2 few 955-1230 lbs 44.00-45.00.

CALVES: Compared to Thursday, vealers sold 4.00-10.00 lower on a very light run and test. Holstein bulls returning to the farm sold with a sharply lower undertone on a fairly thin test, and only moderate bidding. The bulk of the Holstein heifers sold with a lower undertone as well as receipts were light, and bidding was only moderate on the plainer-type stock.

VEALERS: Standard and Good few 85-100 lbs 25.00-30.00. Utility few 65-85 lbs 11.00-20.00. RETURNED TO FARM: Holstein bulls 95-115 lbs 85.00-125.00; 90 lbs 82.00-85.00; 80-85 lbs 57.00-70.00. Holstein heifers few 90-105 lbs 240.00-250.00, individual 590.00. Few Beef-type bulls 90-105 lbs 55.00-110.00. Individual beef-type heifer 110 lbs 50.00.

SHEEP: Compared to Thursday, slaughter lambs sold mostly steady on a good run and fairly active bidding. SLAUGHTER LAMBS: Choice and Prime 2-3 40-80 lbs 90.00-120.00; 90-120 lbs 70.00-82.00. SLAUGHTER EWES: Good and Choice Yearlings and 2 year-olds 35.00-50.00. Utility and Good 1-3 20.00-40.00.

HOGS: Barrows and gilts steady to .75 lower with heavier weights trading with a firmer undertone, sows steady to 1.00 lower, boars fully steady on a very light run. BARROWS AND GILTS: 49-54% lean 205-250 lbs 27.25-30.75, 220-265 lbs 26.50-29.00, 45-50% lean 220-280 lbs 25.00-27.75, string 27.85, 40-45% lean 220-275 lbs 23.75-25.50, string 26.10, 280-360 lbs 20.00-23.50.

SOWS: 1-3 300-450 lbs 17.00-18.00, 450-650 lbs 18.00-19.00.

BOARS: 300-700 lbs 6.00.

GOATS: Compared to last week, kids sold mixed on uneven demand, with a definite lower undertone on lower quality kids. The kid supply was much lighter when compared to the other classes, and demand suffered due to the low receipts. Yearlings sold fully steady to 6.00 higher on good demand. Nannies sold mixed, from 5.00 lower to 3.00 higher, as buyers were fairly selective on quality. Lighter wethers sold with a weaker undertone; with heavier, higher quality wethers trading sharply higher in active trading. Billies sold with a weaker undertone, even with the few fancy billies in the bulk, prices trended 2.00-3.00 lower. Compared to Thursday, slaughter steers sold mostly steady to firm. The bulk of the supply on Monday included heavier cattle with more finish on them; and prices trended firm to .25 higher. Tuesday's run included more average finished steers, and bids were weaker due to the difference in quality. Buyers continue to actively pursue the top-end steers, with moderate bidding on the bulk of the run. Holstein steers sold with a weaker undertone on a thin run. The majority of the Holstein run was slightly under-finished, and buyer activity was fairly light. Slaughter heifers were in very short supply, therefore a trend was not established. Fleshier cows sold firm to 1.00 higher, with lean cows trading steady to .50 higher. The supply was made up of a good run of lean cows, with the breaking and boning cow supply still fairly light. The supply included 48 percent steers, 7 percent heifers, 43 percent cows, and 2 percent bulls.

New Holland Feeder Pig Auction

NEW HOLLAND, PA
September 25, 2002
Report Supplied By USDA

FEEDER PIGS: WEDNESDAY 329, LAST WEEK 489, LAST YEAR 375.

Compared to last week, there were not enough pigs going back on feed for a market test. The few weights that were comparable sold with a lower undertone. Demand varied for slaughter pigs, with comparable weights trading with a higher undertone. However, 30-37 lb pigs sold sharply lower with very light interest. A pseudo rabies case in Pennsylvania is keeping feeder pigs from being shipped out of the state, although pigs are still being able to be shipped out of the state for slaughter. With the current lock-down in effect, and a weaker slaughter hog market, many feeders are showing little interest in procuring pigs. Around 15 percent of the run returned to feed. All pigs were weighed and graded on arrival and sold by the hundred weights.

National Egg Market At A Glance

Atlanta, Ga.
Report Supplied By USDA

Prices were unchanged in all locations. Trade sentiment was generally steady. Demand ranged light to good, mostly moderate. Supplies were usually adequate to occasionally in good balance. Breaking stock offerings were sufficient for the light to moderate demand. The National shell egg inventory increased 4% from last week. Light type fowl were fully adequate for the light demand.

National Broiler Market At A Glance

Atlanta, Ga.
Report Supplied By USDA

Trade sentiment was barely steady to weak. Retail demand was slow and disappointing to fair with few features. Food service was light to at times fairly good where fast food promotions were active. Supplies of all sizes were adequate to ample and prices reduced to help stimulate interest, but not very effective. In the parts structure, trading was limited. Breast items were fully adequate to ample and slow to clear even at discounted levels. Dark meat was at least sufficient, and wings were available. In production areas, live supplies were moderate. Weights were in a full range, but mostly desirable to slightly heavier.

The 12-City Weighted Average Price for 09/23/02 was 54.83, compared to 56.69 last week, and 62.02 a year ago.

EXPORT MARKET HIGHLIGHTS: Trading limited. Demand light some continued interest coming from Mexico. Supplies adequate for the current demand.

ATLANTA, GA.
Report Supplied By USDA

Mostly prices were unchanged on whites, unchanged to slightly higher on sugar yolks, slightly higher on whole, but unchanged to slightly lower on salt yolks when compared to previous week's trading. Overall, trade sentiment improved and was generally fully steady to firm on whole, steady to fully steady on sugar yolks, and steady on salt yolk and whites. Demand was fair but not aggressive for usually adequate offerings. Liquid and frozen eggs (ingredients included) processed under federal inspection in the Eastern region for the week ending September 14, 2002 were 11% more than the previous week, but 4% less than a year ago.

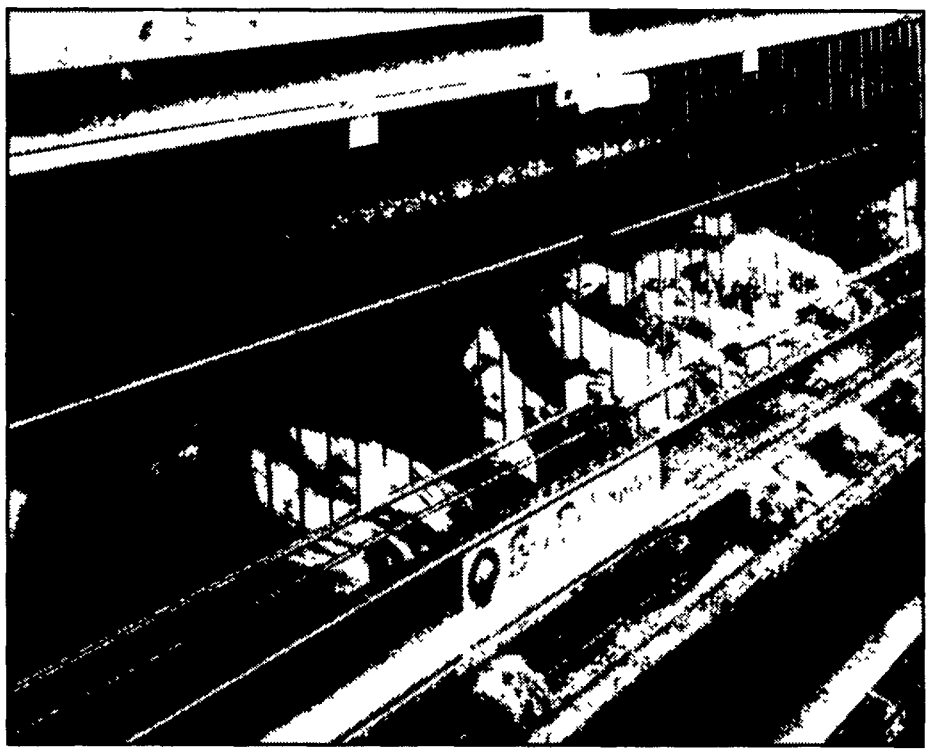
UNIVENT Starter Pullet Cages
Stacked with Manure Belt



Advantages

- simple assembly of 3 to 8 tiers;
- feed troughs are mounted on supports for trough stability and long service life;
- feed trough with inner rim provides minimal feed losses;
- upper walkway for batteries with more than 5 tiers = easy bird control;
- better thermal economy (reduced heating expenses and reduced investment costs per bird) is achieved with systems of 4 or more tiers due to increased density;
- remarkably low bird mortality during rearing.

Start Clean Next Spring with Fall Sprays

If weather delays next springs burndown applications you could wind up with some real weed-control headaches in your Roundup Ready* soybean fields That's where a well-planned timely fall herbicide application can help

Fall applications provide early burndown of actively growing weeds plus residual weed control to help you plant into clean fields next spring just like spring burndowns do But with a fall application your fields will dry down faster for earlier planting and insects may be fewer due to less weed vegetation Populations of soybean cyst nematode may also be reduced

Fall applications of Python WDG herbicide at 0 8 to 1 0 ounce 1 pint of 2 4-D and 1 pint of Glyphomax* Plus herbicide per acre control tough weeds like purple deadnettle and henbit, plus common chickweed, marestail shepherdspurse butterweed field pennycress yellow rocket, wild mustards and early flushes of lambsquarters

Make your fall application when soil temperatures have dropped to 50 degrees F and are continuing to fall This will help Python WDG remain stable in the soil until it activates next spring

One more benefit that Python WDG provides is the flexibility to plant corn if market or weather conditions dictate a change Canopy XL herbicide restricts growers to soybeans

When next spring arrives you can use one 32-ounce post application of Glyphomax Plus to clean up any remaining weeds in your Roundup Ready soybeans Or you can tank-mix 0 3 ounces of FirstRate* herbicide with reduced rates of Glyphomax Plus if common and giant ragweed cocklebur sunflowers or velvetleaf are a common weed problem in your fields

For more information about using Python WDG and Glyphomax Plus herbicides in a fall-applied program contact your local ag retailer

Report Supplied By USDA

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was disappointingly dull. Seller offerings were readily available for a lackluster buying interest. Live supplies were moderate; weights were in a full range of light to heavy. Processing schedules remained moderate to moderately heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were 1 cent lower at 48 to 62 cents. Trade sentiment was weak and unsettled. In the parts complex, supplies were more than sufficient for current requirements.

Daily National Grain Market Summary

St. Joseph, MO
Report Supplied By USDA

Grain bids were mixed today, with mostly a lower undertone noted. Normal harvest and wheat pressure from the pits brought prices lower. Traders are keeping an eye on the ongoing harvest in the U.S corn belt and also the tropical storm in the gulf moving northward to bring excessive rainfall and crop-damaging conditions. Wheat was mixed with a lower undertone noted. Corn was also mixed. Sorghum 1-2 cents lower. Soybeans 2-7 cents lower.

The OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC — THIS WEEK WITH

BEYOND GARDEN GUILT

If your garden is more bountiful than you had expected, The Old Farmer's Almanac Book of Garden Wisdom (available by calling 800-895-9265, ext. 220) offers these tips. One, host a harvest dinner full of zucchini and tomatoes. Two, give away what vegetables you can to friends and neighbors. Three, distribute boxes of surplus to public places like the library or school. (Stuffing mail boxes is a federal offense.) Four, feed the compost pile and thus feed the soil.

Prosperity is the surest breeder of insolence I know.

Mark Twain, American author and humorist (1835–1910)

TIP OF THE WEEK

For the best nutrient content in produce, don't harvest just before a storm.

ZUCCHINI BREAD

2 tablespoons dry yeast
1/2 cup warm water
2-1/2 cups white flour
1 cup graham flour
1 cup grated zucchini
3/4 cup plain yogurt
3/4 cup cottage cheese
3 tablespoons minced chives
1 teaspoon salt

Proof yeast in warm water for 10 minutes or until bubbly. Stir in flours and zucchini. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Knead dough on a floured surface for about 10 minutes. Let dough rise in a covered buttered bowl for about 1 hour until doubled. Cut dough in half and form into 2 eight-inch loaves. Let rise in loaf pans until doubled, for about 45 minutes. Brush tops with water and bake in preheated 375°F oven. After 3 minutes, brush tops again with water. Bake for 45 to 50 minutes. Cool for 10 minutes, then turn out of pans.

Makes 2 loaves.

THE OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

He that is surprised with the first frost feels it all the winter after.

You can expect rain when deer and elk come down from the mountains.

Come and Get It! The 2003 Old Farmer's Almanac loaded with wit, wisdom and weather is now on sale. To order or subscribe, call 800 729-9265, ext. 220, or visit www.almanac.com/go/WUF0209

OPINION

Fortunate Graduates

We receive a lot of information from various legislators from throughout the state. In an election year, the number of those receipts can be sky-high.

Nothing pleases us more than the releases we receive that can help our youth — directly.

Lately, they've come in the form of notices of the Agricultural Education Loan Forgiveness Program, which benefits state agriculture and veterinary medicine graduates. The program is not new — it began in 1992.

The program, administered by the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency (PHEAA), repays up to $2,000 annually to borrowers of PHEAA-guaranteed student loans for each year the borrower is employed full-time in an ag-related field. It covers only the PHEAA loans, not personal and commercial loans. The borrower is allowed a lifetime maximum of $10,000 in forgiveness payments.

The point of the program: keep skilled graduates in the state to assist in developing the state's largest industry, agriculture.

What a great idea! More youth should take advantage of this program.

But while we appreciate this, we are a little concerned. What about loan forgiveness programs for graduates in other fields? We can just imagine a "journalist" student loan forgiveness program.

To be eligible, the borrower must remain in Pennsylvania after graduation and find full-time employment in the operation of a family farm, family farm corporation, or a veterinary practice. Family farms and farm corporations must be owned by immediate family members and produce ag products.

Let's keep the "talent pool" in the state. This is one way. And $2,000 can go a long way to reducing some of the "mortgage loans" that college students incur on their way to bigger and better dreams.

For more information, contact your local senator or representative.

To Continue To Conserve Water

The National Weather Service Climate Prediction center released their latest seasonal assessment on Sept. 19.

The forecast is not promising for most of the Northeast. Drought is expected to continue or intensify through December for Pennsylvania and the surrounding states of New Jersey, Maryland, West Virginia, and Ohio.

The unknown of course is the possible path of storms such as Isidore. Although one storm could hardly make up the rainfall deficit of the last two years, a storm such as Hurricane Floyd in 1999 could make a huge difference. In that year Floyd ended drought in the coastal areas which had been experiencing serious rainfall deficits. However, until we get very significant relief, it is critical to reduce water use as much as possible. If you would like to check the climate prediction center's full report, you can find it at http:/www.cpc.ncep.noaa.gov/.

To Update Your Knowledge Of Nutrient Management And Water Policies

A new educational resource is available to help farmers and others understand nutrient management and water policies, regulations, and programs. The Nutrient and Water Policy Update Website (http://agenvpolicy.aers.psu.edu), sponsored by Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences, features news and notices on rapidly changing regulations, upcoming public policy decisions, and how citizens can become involved, fact sheets, research reports, and links to useful online resources.

The site, assembled by Alyssa Dodd, extension associate in agricultural economics and rural sociology, and Charles Abdalla, associate professor of agricultural economics, is available for citizens, farmers, agricultural and environmental interest groups, educators, government agencies, academics, and others interested in protecting water resources.

"Nutrients such as phosphorus and nitrogen are natural components of water ecosystems, but in excess may become pollutants, causing algae blooms or contaminating drinking water," Dodd said. "There are a number of federal and state regulations and programs currently in place to reduce nutrient pollution. The requirements and programs also are evolving.

"Pennsylvania's Nutrient Management Act regulations are under review, and the federal government is proposing new requirements for large concentrated animal feeding operations. In addition, the U.S. Farm Bill is making more than $17 billion in environmental and conservation funding available to farmers over the next 10 years. Information found on this Website can be used by farmers and others interested in protecting Pennsylvania's valuable water resources to stay current on these issues."

To learn more, visit the Website at http://agenvpolicy.aers.psu.edu or contact Alyssa Dodd at (814) 863-5884. Additional nutrient management information can be found online at http://nutrient.psu.edu/.

To Install Rollover Protection Systems On Tractors

About 30 percent of the tractor-related deaths in Pennsylvania in 2001 were a direct result of tractor overturn. Annually, tractor overturns account for more than 100 fatalities nationwide. A farm safety expert in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences said farm families should install rollover protection systems (ROPS) on all operating tractors.

"Tractor manufacturers have voluntarily installed ROPS on all new tractors since 1985," said Dennis Murphy, distinguished professor of agricultural engineering. "Still, nationwide data show that nearly two out of three tractors in the United States do not have an approved ROPS structure on them." Murphy also said farmers should be particularly familiar with safe operating principles for tractors and understand load and balance dynamics for operating tractors on uneven or hilly terrain. He emphasizes that farmers also should know the correct procedure for pulling loads to prevent the tractor from rolling over backward.

"Use of ROPS and seatbelts on tractors can save lives and injuries," Murphy said. "It may cost extra dollars to retrofit an older tractor with ROPS and seatbelts, but the result will be safer operating conditions for every tractor operator on the farm."

Murphy offers a few preventative tips that will help farmers make their tractor-driving time safer. First outfit all tractors with rollover protection systems and seatbelts. Make sure you've read the operating manual before using any equipment. Perform service and maintenance on the tractor before operating it. Set the wheel tread at the widest possible setting. Slow down when turning, crossing slopes or driving on slick, rough or muddy surfaces. If you must drive on steep slopes, drive in reverse up the slope or forward down the slope. Never drive across a steep slope. Avoid ditches, embankments, riverbanks and holes. Stay away from edges. If the tractor becomes stuck in a ditch, always back out. Hitch all loads to the drawbar. Pull the load slowly and increase speed very gradually. Use front-end weights to increase tractor stability when pulling a heavy load. If the tractor has a front-end loader, drive with the bucket or load as low as possible. Finally, Murphy suggests you should lock brake pedals together when traveling on public roads.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

ARE YOU LISTENING?

Background Scripture:
Jeremiah 25 through 26; 2 Chronicles 36.
Devotional Reading:
Proverbs 4:20-27.

Many years ago I saw a Broadway production of "The Lark," Jean Anouilh's remarkable play about Joan of Arc. I remember vividly, if not verbatim, a memorable scene in which the Dauphin (heir to the French throne) petulantly asks why, if he is the Dauphin, God speaks to Joan instead of himself. Joan's reply is relevant, not only to the Dauphin, but all of us: "He does speak to you, but you do not listen."

One of the most frequent complaints against God is that he is silent when we need to hear from him. I have myself made that complaint from time to time. But, I have come to believe that the problem is not that God does not speak to us but that, despite our protestations to the contrary, we are simply not listening.

We need to remember that God speaks to us in many different ways. Sometimes it may be in a vision or a heavenly voice, but more often it is the "still, small voice" within that came to Elijah. Sometimes he may speak to us through a scripture passage, a creative work, or the testimony of someone else.

Often, God speaks to us through prophets, and there is our problem. Prophets rarely, if ever, come to tell us how well we are doing; mostly, they come to us with warnings, and we do not like warnings and their implied or explicit criticisms. And what we do not want to hear, we often do not hear.

Should Have Listened

Nat G. Long tells the story of a man with swollen eyes and bandaged face who was asked by a friend what the trouble was. "Nothing," the man replied, "except that at a party last night I was standing up talking when I ought to have been sitting down listening." That is something that could be well applied to many of us and our society.

This is also the message that Jeremiah brought to the people of Judah in June, 605 B.C. "For twenty-three years . . . the word of the Lord has come to me, and I have spoken persistently to you, but you have not listened. You have neither listened nor inclined your ears to hear, although the Lord persistently sent to you all his servants the prophets. . . ." (Jer. 25:3,4). This prophetic word was not just a single pronouncement that the people missed, but a persistent message to which they have failed again and again to give ear.

The good news here is that God is very persistent. Why? Because he wants us to hear and respond and thus avoid the consequences of our way of life. A vengeful God would give the warning message only once and then make us suffer the consequences. But God comes to us repeatedly through his prophets so that we do not fail to hear the message. The bad news, of course, is that as persistent as God is in speaking to us in this manner, we seem equally persistent in closing our ears and hearts to him.

Selective 'Listening'

One of the reasons for this may be that we do not recognize his prophets because we don't like their message: "Turn now, every one of you, from his evil way and wrongdoings. . . . do not . . . provoke me to anger with the work of your hands" (25:5,6). Prophets always want us to turn from our "evil way an wrongdoings" and most of the time we don't believe our ways and doings are "wrong" or "evil."

There's the sticking point: prophets call "evil" what we think of as "good." So we assume that either the prophet is wrong or his/her message is for someone else.

The intention of the prophet is not to condemn us, but to call us to turn from our ways that displease God. They are sent not to destroy us, but save us. Unfortunately, all too often we respond to God's messengers — and they may be messengers who do not even know they are messengers of God not merely with indifference, but anger and even violence. Jeremiah narrowly escaped public wrath (26:10-19) but another prophet, Uriah, was slain in the presence of King Jehoiakim (26:20-23).

In our own times, who might be or have been God's unrecognized prophets? What messages that have annoyed or angered us might be sent from God? From what "evil ways" may God be calling us to "turn away," both as individuals and as a society? Are we failing to listen to God and is it possible we are provoking his anger?

Five-Acre Corn Contest Offers A 'Harvest' Of Information

SCHAEFFERSTOWN (Lebanon Co.) — Entering and winning the Pennsylvania Five-Acre Corn Club Contest may not necessarily be about winning.

For corn grower Steve Wenger his goal and emphasis centers on the information he can glean from the results.

"I don't enter the contest to win," he said. "I enter the contest because I can look for strengths or know what I need to improve.

Steve took home a second place in the shelled grain, non-irrigated tilled class in the 1998-2000 three-year average award division with a yield of 220.8 bushels per acre and a plant population of 37,636 using NK N82J6.

Guy Wagner
President, PCGA

Hello, my name is Guy Wagner. I'm the president of the PCGA. I'm proud and honored to be PCGA president.

It's been an exciting year for PCGA. We conducted our conference Feb. 5 in Grantville and we had a good turnout and an excellent program. Ed Winkle's program has generated a lot of interest in the No-Till system I have been using for the past two years, resulting in excellent stands and my best yields ever.

I'd like to suggest that everyone look at Ed's 14-step handout from his presentation. It has worked very well for me.

I would like to personally thank all of our speakers. I think they all did a fantastic job.

PCGA made some big changes in 2001. The first was our name change from the Pennsylvania Master Corn Growers Association to the Pennsylvania Corn Growers Association. This has brought us more in line with the other state organiza-

"We would use slats again if doing it all over!"

Harold Keeney; David, Nancy & Mark Wolfskill

Our original plan was to install scrapers. But after 10 minutes in a slatted barn in Somerset County, we changed our minds. Some people stay away from slats because of the initial cost, but that extra cost is made up for in the first couple years.

The one thing I like the most about slats is that there is no expense. I don't have any scrapers or drive units to maintain. I don't have to run scrapers every day or haul manure like we did in our previous tie stall barn. The cows' foot health has been a lot better, and the cows stay much cleaner. Our milk production is up and the somatic cell count has gone down. I give at least some of the credit to the slats because with less moisture on the floor, there is less bacteria.

-David Wolfskill

A Dry Cow Booster That Costs 7¢ a Day

Hoffmans Horse and Cattle Powder is an ideal tonic for cows over freshening. Feed 6 wks. before freshening. 1 Tablespoon a day. (Two weeks over freshening, feed 1 Tablespoon in the morning & 1 Tablespoon in evening)

Cows will clean better after freshening. Cows have a lower somatic cell count and will have less mastitus problems. Great for reproduction tract and cows will cycle better after freshening. Will help rumen function over freshing. Less feet problems and less stress.

This is an over-all good booster if fed to dry cows, and it will pay you big dividends.

With corn harvest under way, now may be a good time to look over plans for next year's crop and see what successful producers did this year. You can do so with Corn Talk, the official newsletter of the Pennsylvania Corn Growers Association (PCGA), to be published in Lancaster Farming Oct. 19. Included will be highlights of a Virginia crop exposition, grower highlights, and news from the Pennsylvania and national corn growers associations.

Improve Cow Comfort WITHOUT Extensive Renovations

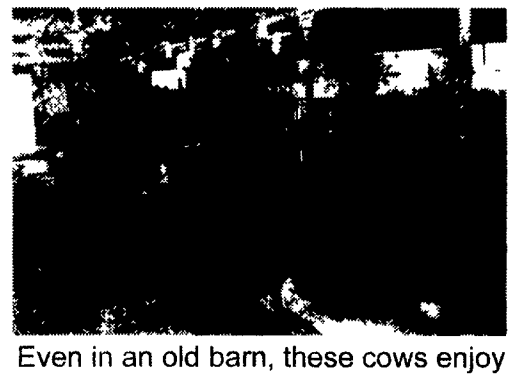
Install PastureMat® in your existing stalls

Cow comfort is our specialty!

PastureMat® has the resilience of natural turf which:

- Increases the time cows spend lying down
- Reduces leg injuries
- Allows mattresses to retain their shape

US Patent # 5653195



Even in an old barn, these cows enjoy the comfort of pasture year-round with PastureMat!

- Blocks, barrels rally.
- Butter remains steady.
- USDA announces DEIP.
- October MILC payment is $1.59/CWT.

The cheese market in Chicago showed some surprising strength this week with cheese prices officially rallying! Forty-pound blocks rose from $1.18 per pound on Monday, Sept. 16, to $1.2650 on Friday, Sept. 20. Barrels rose from $1.10 per pound on Monday to $1.14 per pound by Friday. Grade AA butter ended the week at $0.99 per pound.

The rally was unexpected, particularly following Tuesday's milk production report. It showed August milk production in 20 major dairy states up 3.8 percent from a year ago. August cow numbers at 7.79 million head were up 51,000 from a year ago, and up 3,000 head from July 2002 levels.

So what does this mean? Clearly, someone was buying cheese in Chicago this week. In fact, 48 car loads of blocks and 22 car loads of barrels were traded. That represents strong sales. My contacts indicate that the market is trying to find traction for higher fall cheese prices. Clearly there is plenty of cheese out west. But there is less cheese in the Upper Midwest and Northeast.

The concern is that the cheese price rally may be short-lived. The block/barrel spread, normally $0.03-$0.05 per pound, rose from $0.08 on Monday to $0.1250 by Friday. That kind of "spread" will not last long. Either barrels will rally or blocks will weaken.

USDA announced DEIP allocations for the new 2002/2003 marketing year. This is the Dairy Export Incentive Program. Allocations were announced for nonfat dry milk, butter, and cheese. What was most unusual was that USDA made only "partial" allocations for the current marketing year. The interpretation here is that USDA wants to be sensitive to our trading partners who are very concerned about already low global prices for butter, cheese, and nonfat dry milk.

Finally, USDA announced the October 2002 Class I mover for federal orders at $10.15 per CWT. Thus the Boston Class I price is $13.40 per CWT (with a $3.25 Class I differential). That translates into an October MILC payment rate of $1.59 per CWT. Dairy producers signed up and eligible for the Farm Bill's MILC program can expect to receive this payment on milk sales in October.

USDA just released the August 2002 Cold Storage report. Stocks of butter in August were 229.9 million pounds, up 95 percent from a year ago. Cheese stocks were also high for August: American cheese at 565.6 million pounds, up 13 percent, other cheese at 220.4 million pounds, up 4 percent, and total cheese at 800 million pounds, up 11 percent.

Average Farm Feed Costs for Handy Reference

To help farmers across the state to have handy reference of commodity input costs in their feeding operations for DHIA record sheets or to develop livestock feed cost data, here's last week's average costs of various ingredients as compiled from regional reports across the state of Pennsylvania.

Remember, these are averages, so you will need to adjust your figures up or down according to your location and the quality of your crop.

Pasture Perfect® Dealer of the Week:
Homestead Nutrition

This week Ampac Seed Company and Rohrer Seeds recognizes Homestead Nutrition, Inc. of New Holland, PA. "We look at the whole picture," says Don Weaver, President and Owner of Homestead Nutrition. "At Homestead, we place priority on integrity, trust and honesty in our relationships, and in our stewardship of natural, economic, and human resources for healthy soil, crops and livestock. We call this 'Balanced Nutrition for Soil and Livestock.' We work from the soil up to provide quality service and products that perform."

Don Weaver
Homestead Nutrition

Don is very impressed with the high quality Pasture Perfect® Mixes he's been buying from Rohrer Seeds, and wants his customers to know that it's not too late to plant ryegrasses. "The Renovator Special mix works very well to thicken up thinning pastures and hay fields," says Don. "There's still time to overseed your weak pastures this fall. This tetraploid mix establishes quickly to give high quality pasture forage."

Don adds, "Getting high quality pasture is more than putting good seed in the field, it also takes management. We have just added a new pasture layout and consulting service to help you get results. We welcome the opportunity to serve our community."

PURINA SERVICE

CUSTOM PELLETS MAKE MIXING FEED A SNAP ON HOOVER DAIRY

When Gordon Hoover switched to a Purina feeding program about 10 years ago, he did it for the high level of service and no-hassle custom feed mix they deliver.

Hoover, who owns and operates the 120-cow dairy here with his wife Carole and their three daughters, used to harvest high moisture corn from the farm and buy the rest from several neighbors "here and there." A variety of feed commodities were delivered to the farm. These had to be stored, then weighed and loaded at each mixing. Ingredients could shrink in storage or even blow away while being moved on the farm.

That hassle was eliminated by Purina custom pellets. Now, Hoover doesn't worry about harvesting and storing high moisture corn or handling separate commodities. The complete pelleted feed, "formulated and mixed just for us," provides dry ground corn as well as all the protein- and mineral-balancing needs for the TMR, allowing Hoover to focus on herd management and growing alfalfa and corn for forage.

"We simplified our feeding program with this complete feed," Hoover said.

For good digestion and cow health, he aims for a 60:40 forage-to-grain ratio in the TMR, "pushing forages rather than concentrate." Under this program, "production has been very consistent."

Gordon Hoover, left, is happy with the ease of mixing Purina custom pellets with his homegrown forages, and the quality service offered by Purina representative Rick Kolb, center, and Doug High of High Bros.

Hoover's latest rolling herd average stands at 23,300 pounds of milk, 853 of fat, and 676 of protein. That meets his goal of being within the top 10 percent of Lancaster County DHIA herds - without using BST.

Low SCC counts have earned Hoover quality milk premiums for more than five consecutive years, another sign of overall good management.

Hoover's feedman is Doug High of High Bros., Gordonville. High visits the farm every other week to do the nutritional work and balance the rations. While Hoover has come to expect consistent, high-quality feed from Purina, he said it's the accessible service that really makes the difference.

"My philosophy on feed companies is that they're all working out of the same playbook," Hoover said. "My biggest criteria is service. They have to meet my needs and deliver the feed on time."

For Hoover, that means Purina.

East Fluid Milk And Cream Review

Madison, Wis.
Report Supplied by USDA

Spot prices of class II cream, dollars per lb. butterfat: F.O.B. producing plants: Northeast: 1.3320-1.4307. Delivered Equivalent: Atlanta: 1.3419-1.4307 mostly 1.3616-1.4011.

PRICES OF CONDENSED SKIM, dollars per lb. wet solids, F.O.B. producing plants: Northeast: Class II, includes monthly formula prices: .9750-1.0300; Class III - spot prices - .8600-.9250.

SPOT SHIPMENTS OF GRADE A MILK: FLORIDA: This week - In 168, Out 0; last week - In 134, Out 0; last year - In 102, Out 0. SOUTHEAST STATES: This week - In 0, Out 0; last week - In 0, Out 0; last year - In 145, Out 0.

The base price for Class I milk for October 2002 is $10.15 per cwt., down $0.31 from August. A Class I differential specific to each pricing point (county) is added to the base price to determine the applicable Class I price. The Class II skim milk price for October is $7.61, down one cent from September.

Milk production is mixed, but mostly steady. Some slight rebounds in output have been reported in the Northeast where temperatures have cooled and decreases have been noted in the Southeast. This week, Tropical Storm Isidore is about to make landfall in the Gulf Coast. Shoppers have not made much run on bottled milk, but bottled water sales are "through the roof." In fact, bottlers in the path of the hurricane are going to voluntarily shut down on Thursday rather than have the storm catch them with a full plant and no power to process it. This is temporarily pushing some additional milk into manufacturing channels.

Florida's need for milk increased this week with more than 160 loads imported. Last week's figure was adjusted lower. Fluid milk sales in the Southeast are fair to good as quite a few retail features are in effect. Further north, bottled milk sales are termed as just fair and little changed from last week. Surplus milk volumes are still tight in most of the region. Shipments of Middle Atlantic milk to Florida are increasing and keeping supplying plants a little short on milk. Also, some logistical changes have select plants receiving more milk, but that is often at the expense of other operations.

The condensed skim market is mostly steady, but some price increases were noted this week. Demand for wet solids is fair to good.

The fluid cream market is firm. Supplies are reported as snug, but buyers can usually find the volumes they need. Spot prices are higher because the CME average butter price jumped more than 5.25 cents last week. Demand for cream is good and clearing most offerings. Ice cream output is seasonal, but holding up quite well for this time of year. Cream cheese production is moderate to heavier and some producers are out looking for more cream. Bottled cream production is steady at best. Churning activity is light to moderate.

In Second Year, Solanco Dairy Beef Bidders 'Come Through'

ANDY ANDREWS
Editor

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Dairy beef bidders came "through for us with shining colors," said Zoann Parker, 4-H leader with the Solanco Holstein Steer Club. "This year was better than ever. Everybody is just thrilled."

Bidding on dairy beef and other 4-H livestock took place late last week during the Solanco Fair Livestock Sale at the fairgrounds in Quarryville.

Joshua Hershberger sold his 623-pound homebred dairy beef, "Rocky," for $1.10 a pound to Brett Holzhauer, Quarryville Agway. Reserve, exhibited by Joshua's sister Jenna, sold for $1 a pound to Roger Rohrer at First Union Bank.

Joshua, 14, son of Dan and Gayle Hershberger, Quarryville, is in the eighth grade at Swift Middle School. "Rocky" was named in honor of that infamous film boxer, Rocky Balboa, marking a first champion for Joshua, who is in his second year of the club.

Jenna, Joshua's sister, exhibited "Hoss," a character in the family favorite old-time TV show, "Bonanza." Jenna is in the sixth grade at Swift Middle School and exhibited at county roundup. She walks the reserve champion every day.

Grand champion lamb, exhibited by Miriam Henry, 10, sold for $4.30 a pound to the Rick Leibold of Leibold Family Dentistry. Miriam is the daughter of Tom and Martha Henry of Holtwood. The lamb was purchased from the Fleeners of Robesonia.

Reserve champion lamb, exhibited by Kelsey Binkley, 12, went for $7.25 per pound to Don Musser, sales manager of Engle Publishing. Kelsey is the daughter of Van and Beth Binkley, Conestoga.

Swine grand champion, exhibited by Mandie Holloway, 16, sold for $4.25 per pound to Kenn Rutt of Farmer's First Bank. Mandie, daughter of Clifford and Joyce Holloway, Peach Bottom, is a junior at Solanco High School. Mandie exhibited "Pebbles," a 260-pound purebred Yorkshire gilt, she said, purchased from her uncle Henry Holloway. She won the heavyweight class.

Reserve champion, a 248-pound hog exhibited by Loren Hershey, 16, sold for $2.50 per pound to Charles Roten of People's Bank of Oxford. Loren, son of Les and Lois Hershey, Kirkwood, is a junior at Lancaster Mennonite High School. He purchased the crossbred gilt from Kevin Pfautz. He planned to show at the West Lampeter Community Fair this week and at Farm Show in January.

Grand champion Solanco Fair steer exhibited by Freddy Frey, 9, sold for $3.45 per pound to Tim and Chip Hassler of Ferguson and Hassler, Quarryville. Freddy, 9, is the son of Fritz and Nancy Frey, Quarryville. Freddy is in the fourth grade at Claremont School.

Freddy said his middleweight 1,224-pound first-time champion, "Lucky," was named in honor of the ear tag number "7."

'He's lucky," said Freddy, who plans to show at West Lampeter Community Fair.

West Lampeter Fair Awards 4-H, FFA, Breeding Sheep

Pennsylvania Fair Queen Jacqueline Pratt was on hand to award the trophy to Dana Carville for exhibiting the FFA grand champion market lamb. Judge John Eaton selected the middleweight for its obvious muscling.

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — West Lampeter Fair offers separate competitions for market sheep shown by 4-H and FFA members.

John Eaton, sheep breeder from York County, judged the 27 market entries plus breeding sheep at the Wednesday morning show.

First-year exhibitor Dana Carville clinched the FFA grand champion market lamb title with her middleweight named Beans.

Tiffany Dean showed a homebred lamb for the 4-H market grand champion. The 16-year-old has lost tract of all the trophies she has collected over the years, but she said of the achievement, "It's still a big deal."

Dana, Penn Manor FFA member, said that she raised Beans and Axle for a class project. When she purchased the lamb from Kathleen Railings, Willow Street, the lamb was so jumpy that Dana christened him Beans — short for jumping beans.

"It was awesome working with my lambs. I walked them 20 minutes daily and spent a lot of time with them. They are very well behaved, except when I get the food out, they come flying," she said.

Dana, who was commended by the judge for her ability in showing the lamb, credited Carole Fay, her agriculture teacher, who came to the barn one day and gave Dana one onone instruction and helped her shear the lambs.

From left, John Eaton, judge, stands with breeding sheep champions. Julene Hoover holds the Dorset ewe owned by Kelsey Binkley with the Dorset ram champion. Katrina Frey holds the Suffolk ewe, Freddy Frey the reserve Suffolk ewe, Kristy Garrett the Suffolk ram, and Jaymi McMichael the Corriedale ewe.

"It's been a good experience raising lambs, but I'm not going to do it again because I'm too attached to them. They're so adorable, and now I've got to sell them," she said.

Dana, daughter of Linda and Paul Carville, Millersville, will continue to concentrate on her horse, which she rides in competition.

Tiffany's grand champion heavyweight lamb was noted for its long hind saddle and depth through the loin out through the leg. Tiffany said that she picked her lamb named Snivels from the seven born on the family farm. Her parents are Gary and Joan Dean, Strasburg.

Snivels, Tiffany said, competed in several Jackpot shows this season and did well. "He competed against the big 'dogs' in Ohio and held his own," Tiffany said of the outstanding achievement for a homebred lamb.

West Lampeter awards champions in each breed for ewe and ram but does not select a champion over all breeds. Champions in each breed are as follows: Champion Dorset ram and ewe, Kelsey Binkley; Suffolk ewe, Katrina Frey; reserve Suffolk ewe, Freddy Frey; Suffolk ram, Kristy Garrett; Corriedale ewe, Jaymi MicMichael.

KILE Set To Open Oct. 1-7

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is in its 46th year at Harrisburg.

The event is recognized nationally as a showcase for the nation's top beef cattle, swine, sheep and horses. It will be conducted at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg on Oct. 1-7.

The year 2002 has been designated as the "Year of the Horse," so horse exhibitors will receive special attention as part of the effort to increase public awareness of the horse industry.

Nine major breeds will be shown. They are Haflinger, Appaloosa, Belgian, Clydesdale, Shire, Percheron, Paso Fino, Quarter Horse, and Arabian.

The Draft Horse Show is a qualifying show in the North American Six-Horse Hitch Classic Series, with approximately 26 of the top rated six-horse hitches trying to qualify for next year's national competition.

The "All Breeds Classic Series Six-Horse Hitch Show" will be conducted as the Friday evening arena performance at KILE.

On Saturday will be the popular "Challenge of the Breeds" event, which will attract participants from 10 breeds competing for a $1,000 first-place award.

In the beef arena, KILE has been designated as a Simmental "Progress Through Performance" Show as well as the Eastern Regional Hereford Classic Show.

The Limousin Cattle Show has again been designated a "Medal of Excellence Show."

Back again will be the British White Park Cattle and the Angus Show. New this year is the Texas Longhorn Cattle.

Swine will be represented by eight different purebred breeds being shown, plus the open on junior barrow shows. The National Junior Swine Association Eastern Regional Show and Skillathon will be back again this year.

Starting on Thursday, at 4 p.m., will be the Stockmen's Trade Show.

Hundreds of collegiate, FFA and 4-H students from several states always enter the junior livestock judging and stockman contests at KILE.Over 4,500 entries are expected for the 2002 show, which offers a record $200,000 in premiums.

• Tuesday, Oct. 1 — The show officially opens with a Draft Horse Hitch Show at 7 p.m.

• Wednesday, Oct. 2 — Show opens at 8 a.m. with the Shire, Percheron, and Haflingers showing, plus a Draft Horse Hitch Show in the evening.

• Thursday, Oct. 3 — The Belgian and Clydesdale Show will begin at 8 a.m. Draft Horse Hitch Shows will be featured at 6:30 p.m. The Opening Ceremony will be conducted at 4 p.m. with the Livestock Person of the Year and Outstanding FFA and 4- H Livestock members being recognized. Breeding sheep and swine judging will begin at 5 p.m.

• Friday, Oct. 4 — Stockman's Day — The Draft Horse Youth Show will take place in the large arena starting at 9 a.m. Also, at 9 a.m. begins the judging of breeding swine, sheep, and cattle.

At 6 p.m. the Keystone Classic Sale will take place, which will feature eight breeds of swine.

The Heavy Hitch Show begins at 6:30 p.m. The breeds featured are Belgian, Clydesdale, Shire, and Percheron with their six-horse competition. Also included will be draft horse hitch classes. There will be a $5 charge for the evening performance.

• Saturday, Oct. 5 — Kid's Day at KILE. The Intercollegiate and Junior Livestock Judging Contest is conducted at 8 a.m. Judging also begins at 8 a.m. for the sheep show.

A special attraction at noon is the Keystone Lead Line, an attractive combination, as sheep and shepherd are dressed in their finest.

Also at noon, Lebanon Valley Farmers/Fulton Bank is sponsoring Agri-Kid Olympics. Farm-related competitive events will be conducted for children at 3 p.m. with the Kids Pedal Power Pull sponsored by Evergreen Tractor.

At noon the Paso Fino Horse Show is featured.

The Yearling Bred Ewe Sale begins at 3 p.m.

On Saturday evening, at 7:30 p.m., the Club Calf Sale will be conducted. The Challenge of the Breeds begins at 6:30 p.m. in the new Equine Arena. This is horsemanship at its best as 10 breeds, the Appaloosa, the Arabian, the Paint, Half Arabian, Morgan, Palomino, Pinto, Percheron, Saddlebred, and the Quarter Horse, compete against each other. The animals will be chosen by their respective breed associations. In order to compete, the horses must be owned by a Pennsylvania resident. An admission fee of $5 will be charged for this show.

• Sunday, Oct. 6 — At 8 a.m., a family sunrise church service will be conducted.

Junior beef breeding cattle and sheep judging begins at 8 a.m. Also at 8 a.m. is the Barrows-On-Foot Show and the Quarter Horse Show. At noon is the Junior Steer Show. A busy day at KILE continues with lambs, sheep and hog judging throughout the rest of the day.

• Monday, Oct. 7 — The Arabian Horse Show will begin at 8 a.m., and cattle and sheep judging continues in the various show rings. The Keystone Stockman's Contest Awards Program is scheduled for 3:15 p.m.

DAYCO SUPER II V-BELTS

Now there's a belt that beats the toughest drive problems.

Many heavy-duty industrial machines demand more than conventional wrapped v-belts can stand Their punishing drives make ordinary belts crack under pressure The result unnecessary and expensive downtime

Now there's a solution to the consistent costly problem of replacing or retensioning belts It's the revolutionary new Super II™ v-belt from Dayco The Super II belt was designed specifically for the most brutal applications And its performance blows the cover off conventional wrapped belts

In heavy torque, high horsepower and extreme shock load comparisons it's not even a contest The Super II v-belt is stronger, more flexible, and lasts far longer

Innovative design & construction provide extra strength and stamina

The secret to the Super II v-belt's durability is its unique construction The central position of the polyester cords in the neoprene rubber core provides greater strength, balance and longer life Multiple fabric plies top and bottom, enhance flexibility And Dayco's unique raw-edged construction gives it a better grip for controlled slippage

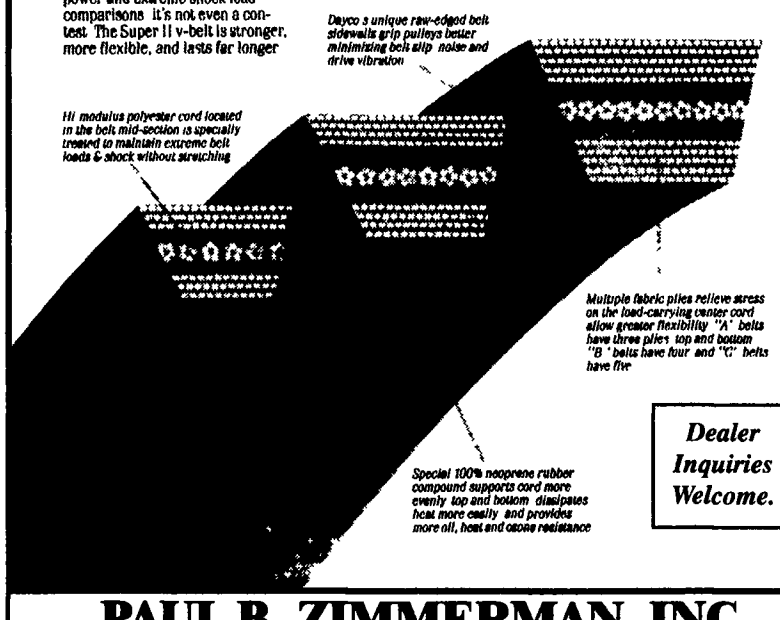
These attributes, combined make the Super II belt superior to conventional wrapped belts in every way

Test the Super II v-belt on your toughest drive

The Super II v-belt was field tested for two years on the most severe applications rock quarry shaker screens, lumber mill tree debarkers and pipe descalers In every case it outperformed conventional wrapped belts by a wide margin But the only test that really counts is the one you do on your own equipment.

Try the Super II belt on your toughest drive problem You'll be so amazed by its incredible endurance that you'll want to put it on all your drives In fact, we're so sure you'll be pleased with the performance of the Super II v-belt that in the unlikely event you're not satisfied, we'll refund the original purchase price, or replace it with a conventional wrapped v-belt

The Super II v-belt from Dayco The super problem solver



Dayco's unique raw-edged belt sidewalls grip pulleys better minimizing belt slip noise and drive vibration
Hi modulus polyester cord located in the belt mid-section is specially treated to maintain extreme belt loads & shock without stretching
Multiple fabric plies relieve stress on the load-carrying center cord allow greater flexibility "A" belts have three plies top and bottom "B" belts have four and "C" belts have five
Special 100% neoprene rubber compound supports cord more evenly top and bottom dissipates heat more easily and provides more oil, heat and ozone resistance

Ephrata Sheep Includes Market, Nonsale, Breeding Competition

LOU ANN GOOD
Food And Family
Features Editor

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — At the Ephrata Fair Sheep Show Wednesday, 109 sheep competed for honors in market, nonsale, and breeding categories.

"It was my best day ever," said Andrew Gerhart, who clinched grand championships in both market and the breeding sheep competitions.

Ed Keeney, York County judge, said that in selecting a supreme breeding sheep, he looks for one that is as good as can be in breed characteristics and for the one that will go the farthest in its respective breed outside of the local show.

Andrew showed both the champion and reserve champion ewe and ram over all breeds with his Suffolks. His ewe, named Sweet Pea, purchased from Linlee Farms, State College, was named supreme champion over all breeds. Jen Zimmerman's homebred Southdown ram Bubba was appointed the reserve grand champion.

Keeney said the Suffolk was super sound on its feet and legs with lots of good points.

Bubba had been named grand champion breeding sheep at the Denver Fair at last week's competition.

Both Jen and Andrew raise large flocks in Reinholds and are consistent winners in the county show circuit.

In the nonsale category, Joelyn Donough showed the champion, a homebred from the family farm in Manheim. "It's by best show ever," Joelyn said. "I won showmanship champion — and I never won that before — and it's the first time I showed a market champion."

Joelynn has two older brothers who have been consistent winners in showing homebreds from the family farm.

Joelynn's lamb, named Dexter, had faced Sarah Zimmerman's Havier at the Denver Fair. Only this time, they switched roles when Joelynn's was named champion and Sarah's reserve.

"All four suit me well. They have adequate muscling and finishing," Keeney said of the four finalists when selecting the nonsale champions.

Youth Contests Featured At KILE

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The 25th Annual Keystone Stockman's Contest, a youth activity in the program of the KILE Show, is scheduled for Monday, Oct. 7. The contest is open to all 4-H and FFA members between the ages of 13 and 19. Each county or chapter is invited to enter one or more teams of three or four members.

These members will also compete as individuals. Registration begins at 8 a.m. and the contest concludes with the naming of the Stockman of the Year at approximately 3 p.m.

Almost 200 FFA members, 4-H members and college students will enter the Junior and Collegiate Judging Contests at KILE. This educational competition tests live animal knowledge and verbal skills, providing students with valuable experiences for their futures in agriculture. This contest begins at 8 a.m. on Saturday, Oct. 5.

The Ninth Annual Keystone Arabian Horse Judging Contest will also be conducted. Prizes for this event are provided by the Keystone International Livestock Exposition. This contest will be held on Monday, Oct. 7 beginning at 8 a.m.

2002 Hall Of Fame Winners: Stavers of Palmyra

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Ken and Ann Staver of Palmyra in Dauphin County are being honored as this year's inductees into the Pennsylvania Livestock Association Hall of Fame. A team in marriage as well in the livestock industry, it seemed appropriate that they be honored together by the industry to which they have contributed so much of their lives.

Ken has been active in agriculture his entire life working on his grandfather's farm from an early age. He graduated from Shippensburg College with a degree in education, then served in World War II. Returning home from war, he entered Penn State to earn a degree in ag education.

Except for a couple of years when he ran Kenneth W. Staver Co Feed Mill, Ken spent his entire career in education until his retirement in 1986.

Ann grew up on a dairy farm in Berks County and earned a degree in agronomy from Penn State. When her children reached school age, Ann returned to the classroom as a science teacher until her retirement in 1993.

Following their marriage on June 11, 1948, the Stavers started farming and raising a family on their Dauphin County farm, and combined their talents and energy into a lifelong dedication to agriculture and the sheep industry of Pennsylvania. They raise champion Dorset sheep on their Ovine Alley Dorsets Farm.

Ken has been an active member of PLA, currently serving one of many consecutive terms on the board of directors.

Both Ken and Ann have been active participants and supporters of 4-H and FFA as well as many community organizations where they have held leadership roles as volunteers and elected officials.

They are active in both local and state agriculture societies where they have held offices, served committees and been honored with many awards.

Ken and Ann's three children, Chuck, Julia and Ken have pursued careers in agricultural fields.

Ken and Ann Staver, Palmyra, are this year's inductees into the Pennsylvania Livestock Association Hall of Fame.

PLA Youth Awards

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Livestock Association (PLA) has recognized outstanding 4-H and FFA Youth for the past 25 years. The winners are selected from a field of candidates submitted by county extension personnel and vocational agriculture teachers throughout the Commonwealth.

The female FFA Youth Award winner is Regina Lehman, daughter of Carl and Mabel Lehman of Mechanicsburg. A senior honor student at Cumberland Valley High School, Regina is a three year member of the Cumberland Valley FFA chapter. Her projects include market swine, sheep and goats. She is active in her local and state FFA, in school extracurricular activities and in her church. Following graduation next year, she plans to attend Penn State where she will major in Ag Sciences with a career goal in research.

The male FFA Youth Award recipient this year is Ryan Donough, son of Edward and LaRue Donough from Manheim. Ryan, a senior, is a member of the Manheim FFA Chapter at Manheim Central School where he has been active for the past four years. His projects include market swine, and market and sheep production, as well as raising show steers. In FFA, Ryan has held several offices and worked on many committees while remaining an honor roll student. Ryan is also a member of the Lancaster County 4-H Red Rose Beef Club, 4-H Woolies Club and 4-H Swine Club where he has held several offices. Future plans include attending Penn State and a career in agri business.

The outstanding 4-H Female is Kelly Jo Bankert, daughter of Wayne and Sue Bankert of Red Lion. A senior at Red Lion High School, Kelly Jo's future plans include majoring in Large Animal Science at Delaware Valley College. In nine years of 4-H, she has held several offices, served on committees, Livestock Judging, and been a mentor to younger children. Kelly Jo is a member of her community club as well as the York Co. Lamb and Wool Club. She has a flock of about fifteen ewes and two rams from which she sells market lambs or incorporates the lambs into her flock. In addition, Kelly Jo has been active in extracurricular activities in school, the Red Lion Chapter of FFA as well as working part time at Hopewell Vet Clinic.

A freshman at Penn State, Kyle Fleener is the recipient of the Male Outstanding 4-H Award. He is the son of Tim and Sarah Fleener of Robesonia. Kyle has been exhibiting sheep since he was five years old and currently has a flock of ten including Hampshires and crossbred brood ewes. He is a member of the Lebanon County 4-H Beef, Sheep and Swine Clubs, where he has held several offices and was a member of the 2001 PA 4-H Livestock Judging Team. Throughout his 4-H career, he has earned several local, state and national awards. An FFA member at Eastern Lebanon County High School, he was also a member of the band and played basketball. Future plans include a degree in agriculture with a major in ag business with an ag ed or extension option.

The young people will be recognized at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition opening ceremony in the Small Arena of the Farm Show Complex on Thursday, October 3, at 4 p.m. They will receive a plaque and a monetary award.

All Breed Classic Series 6-Horse Hitch Set For KILE

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — On Friday, Oct. 4, the Farm Show Arena will come alive with the sound of thundering hooves. The All Breed Classic Series Six-Horse Hitch will begin at 7 p.m. in the Large Arena of the Farm Show Complex. An admission fee of $5 per person will be charged at the gate.

The six-horse hitches come from sevens states and represent four major draft horse breeds.

In 2001, more than 300 six-horse hitchers were entered in the 45 qualifying shows across the United States and Canada. The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is again a qualifying show for the series final. Prize money totaling over $38,000 will be awarded at the KILE Show.

KILE has been chosen as one of 45 recognized qualifying shows on the Classic Series Show circuit. Each year all across America, six-horse hitches perform at state fairs and agricultural exhibitions to accumulate points for their region. The competition builds to a climax at the end of the year when the high-point hitches are invited to compete in the final competition, the Classic Series. The winner of the Classic Series All Breed Trophy is considered by many to be the best six-horse hitch in the world.

The four major draft horse breeds that compete in the Classic Series are Belgians, Percherons, Clydesdales, and Shires. Hitches are judged on conformation, manners, the proper fit and cleanliness of the harness, the appropriateness of the wagon, and the hitch's way of going.

The stride of a draft horse at the walk should be long, one that covers ground, with plenty of snap.

The trot should be stylish, giving the distinct impression of power and energy.

More than 675 draft horses will be on display and it is expected that over thirty six-horse hitches will be in competition for the Classic at the Keystone.

Challenge Of The Breeds

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Saturday, Oct. 5 evening arena program at the 2002 Keystone International Livestock Exposition, will be the "Challenge of the Breeds." This show pits 10 internationally recognized horse breeds, the Appaloosa, Arabian, the Paint, Half Arabian, Morgan, Palomino, Pinto, Quarter Horse, Percheron, and Saddlebred, against each other.

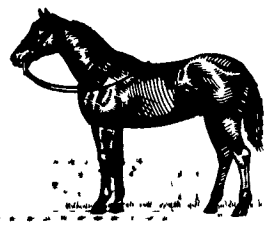
These animals have been chosen by their respective breed associations. In order to compete, the horse must be owned by a Pennsylvania resident or by a bonafide member of the Pennsylvania Breed Association invited to participate.

The seven events in which each horse can be entered include:

- Pleasure Driving — Horses are asked to perform both ways at a walk and trot.
- English Pleasure — In English tack, horses will perform both directions at a walk, trot and a canter.
- Hunter Hack — In addition to performing on the rail, the horse will be asked to take two jumps.
- Western Pleasure — In western gear, the horse will walk, jog, and lope in both directions.
- Western Riding — The horse performs a prescribed course which demonstrates the performance of a well-mannered ranch horse.
- Barrel Racing — A timed event in the clover-leaf pattern is performed by the horse.
- Timed Obstacle Trail Class — Horses negotiate a series of obstacles encountered on the trail.

The horses will be judged at each of these events on a point system by two qualified judges. The winning horse will receive the distinction of being the Keystone Sovereign Champion and will receive an award of $1,000. The reserve champion will be awarded $500. Placings will be paid through eighth place.

This marks the 14th time that a "Challenge of the Breeds" event has been held in Pennsylvania.The admission fee for the show is $5.



KILE Shepherd's Lead Line

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Who looks better, the sheep or the shepherd? Judges will tell at the KILE Shepherd's Lead Line Competition to be conducted on Saturday, Oct. 5, at noon at the Farm Show Complex.

The objectives of this class are to present a class of yearling ewes in a most attractive manner and give spectators an opportunity to see the best of the sheep industry.

The normal procedure at a Livestock Show is for the animal to be all primped and lovely, but in the lead line competition the leadsman is also in the limelight. Both are to be dressed fashionably in their best wool outfit. (At least 80 percent wool).

The contestants and the sheep must be able to work together in the ring.

Spokespersons point out the virtues of wool at ringside.

All-American Announces Invitational Youth Dairy Cattle Judging Contest Results

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The All-American Dairy Show hosted teams from across North America in the 34th Annual Invitational Youth Dairy Cattle Judging Contest.

Teams from as far away as Washington state and Oklahoma traveled to Harrisburg to compete in the contest. This year there were 14 4-H teams, six FFA Teams, and 15 collegiate teams. The teams evaluated 10 classes of dairy cattle.

At the awards banquet Monday evening, it was announced that the winning teams were 4-H — Maryland 4-H, FFA — Indiana FFA, and Collegiate — University of Wisconsin, Madison.

In the individual contest, the highest scoring individuals were 4-H — Emily Yeiser, Maryland 4-H; FFA — Mary Brink, Michigan FFA; and collegiate Laurie Winkelman, University of Wisconsin, Madison.

For the reasons competition, the teams rising to the occasion were 4-H — Maryland 4-H, FFA — Michigan FFA, and Collegiate — University of Wisconsin, Madison. The high scoring individuals in the reasons contest were Emily Yeiser, Maryland 4-H; FFA-Mary Brink, Michigan FFA; and collegiate — Laurie Winkelman, University of Wisconsin, Madison.

Carbon County Fair Posts Dairy, Beef Results

DEANNA CUNFER
Carbon Co. Correspondent

PALMERTON (Carbon Co.) — Friday of the Carbon County Fair saw activity in the cattle barn throughout the day as the open dairy show followed by the 4-H dairy beef, market steer and beef breeding shows were judged.

Mike Swartley, herdsman of the production facility for Select Sires, and graduate of Delaware Valley College returned to judge the open dairy show for his second year at the fair.

In reviewing the entries in contention for the junior champion honor Swartley said, "while reviewing junior entries you are looking for strength over the topline and the most correct heifer with confidence in what you see and what you hope they develop into as they mature."

As his junior champion Swartley selected the spring yearling heifer of Caitlyn Ruch, Andreas. Ruch, 11, is a sixth grade student in the Tamaqua School District.

As his reserve junior champion Swartley selected the March 2001 spring yearling of Stephanie Blaker.

In placing his senior and grand champion Swartley went to the junior 2-year-old class to select the March 2000 entry of Shelly Rex, 11, also of Andreas, and a sixth grade student in the Tamaqua School District. The animal was described by the judge as being a well-uddered young cow that shows a lot of angularity and dairyness. This entry also received the Best Udder Award for Rex.

Receiving the reserve senior and reserve grand champion rosette was Aaron Ruch.

Best three females honors went to Brian Ruch, Andreas.

Later that day the 4-H dairy beef and market steer competition as well as the 4-H and open beef breeding show was judged by Brian Kreider.

As his champion fitter of the dairy beef show Kreider selected Christiana Graver, 12, from the intermediate division following with Kerry Shoenberger, 16, as his choice for the reserve champion fitter honors.

In the dairy beef showmanship competition first member Kari Bauchspies, 13, was selected champion showman while the reserve showman title went to senior Josh Kemmerer, 18.

After reviewing the five weight classes Kreider selected the 576-pound entry of Nicholas Simmons, 15-year-old son of Paul and Kris Simmons, from the medium weight class as his grand champion dairy beef. Kreider then looked to the 603-pound winner of the light heavyweight class of Christiana Graver as his reserve grand champion dairy beef.

Graver, daughter of Paul and Diane Graver, is in her sixth year of 4-H and is a seventh grade student at Lehighton Middle School.

Moving on to the market steer competition Kreider selected the 1,344-pound Angus entry of Justin Cunfer, Lehighton, as his grand champion market steer of the fair. Cunfer also was selected as the champion fitter and showman in the market steer and breeding beef competitions. Cunfer, 18, is the son of Dennis and Deanna Cunfer and currently in his first year of studies at Penn State University Park majoring in animal science.

Reserve grand champion market steer honors went to the 1,299-pound Angus entry of Josh Kemmerer, Lehighton. Kemmerer, 18, has begun his first year at Penn State-Lehigh Valley campus majoring in ag science/ engineering.

The reserve champion fitter and showman titles in the market steer competition went to Kerry Shoenberger, 16, son of Dan and Ann Shoenberger. Shoenberger is a junior at Lehighton High School.

Finishing the day of cattle shows at the fair was the beef breeding judging where Kreider selected a bred and owned Jan. 2001 entry of Justin Cunfer as the champion Angus heifer and supreme beef heifer of the show. The reserve champion Angus heifer title went to Cunfer's bred and owned April 2002 calf.

Champion cow/calf honors went to Cunfer's May 1999 cow with his April 2002 spring heifer calf at her side.

Williams Family Display Bryncoed Antiques At All-American

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — A short distance from Harrisburg, a three-generation family farm can be found near the town of Highspire. A purebred Jersey herd owned by the Samuel Williams family has been grazing here since 1933 when the first generation of the Williams family purchased the farm.

Samuel Williams brought his Welsh bride, Carol, from New York City to live in Dauphin County and farm with him. Neither had any previous farm experience, but after Sam graduated from Penn State University in 1931 with a degree in dairy husbandry, he decided to give agriculture a try. They named their new farm Bryncoed, which means hills and trees in Welsh.

Williams purchased seven Jersey cows and began to produce milk. A large portion of the 154-acre farm was in paddocks for rotational grazing. Today, rotational grazing still meets a large part of the feed and nutritional needs for the herd. Milking was done by hand until the automatic milking machine was purchased from Sears & Roebuck Co. of Chicago, Ill.

Soon after the herd began producing milk, Sam and Carol decided to bottle their own Jersey milk and go door to door in the Highspire area to sell it, along with other dairy items and produce. In 1933 the Bryncoed Milk Delivery business began. The raw milk was offered in pints and quarts. All milk and milk products would carry the National Jersey seal "Queen of Quality." Their bottles displayed the "Queen of Quality" logo and were sold for 24 cents per quart and 14 cents per pint of 4.8 percent butterfat milk. Chocolate milk was offered for 22 cents per quart.

The cream was separated before selling the raw milk and sold under the "Creamline" products symbol.

Bryncoed Milk won numerous awards at many and shows. The milk was an award winner for more then 20 years at the Pennsylvania Farm Show. In 1960, Lenkerbrook Farms and Wengerts of Lebanon purchased the business and later sold it to Eastern Dairies of Harrisburg. Today, milk is shipped to the Land of Lakes Cooperative. Currently a son, Tom Williams, runs the family farm, along with the continuing help of his father, Sam. Tom was graduated from Penn State in 1958 and formed a partnership with his father in 1960. He and his wife, Tiz, have raised their four children on the Bryncoed Farm.

Tom's son, Craig Williams, also was graduated from Penn State with a degree in dairy science in 1986. He is employed as a Tioga County extension agent and returns to the family farm as often as possible.

The family exhibited some of the original items from their farm and direct-route delivery at the All-American Dairy Antique And Collectibles Show from Saturday, Sept. 21 thru Sept. 25 at the Farm Show Complex. Original order blanks were displayed along with milk bottles, farm signs, and a copy of the family scrapbook.

role family farmers play in building the regional economy while producing fresh, quality food and protecting the environment were themselves a smorgasbord of groups working to improve the lot of the region's farmers and health of its citizens, including the Pennsylvania Farmers Union, Pennsylvania Association for Sustainable Agriculture, Farmers Market Alliance of Pittsburgh, Just Harvest, East End Food Co-op, Greater Pittsburgh Community Food Banks, Southwest Pennsylvania Commission, Penn's Corner Farm Alliance, PLOW Organics, Slow Food Pittsburgh, and Farmers at the Firehouse.

Principle speakers for evening were Andrew Kimbrell, executive director of the Center for Food Safety in Washington D.C. and Fred Kirschenmann, director of the Leopold Center for Sustainable Agriculture and professor of religion and philosophy at Iowa State University in Ames, Iowa. Kirschenmann was also in town to serve as a keynote speaker for PennAg Industries Association's 124th annual convention at the Nemacolin Woodlands resort and spa in nearby Farmington, addressing the assigned topic of "Seeking a Balance: Is There Room for Both Large-Scale, Commercial Farms and Smaller, Sustainable Farms?"

No small farmer himself, Kirschenmann, who is president of Kirschenmann Family Farms, a 3,500-acre certified organic farm in Windsor, N.D., told Friday night's estimated crowd of 450 eager listeners that "it's high time that federal policy be designed to build stronger rural communities as opposed to commodities," leaving no one in doubt regarding his disappointment with current farm policy and the Farm Bill signed into law earlier this year.

Bradford County dairy farmer Kim Seeley, who operates a successful, 40-year old bottling and direct marketing enterprise, was one of the Pennsylvania farmers to speak at the History Center. He introduced a theme that would endure from beginning to end of the weekend's festivities.

"You can become empowered in the decisions you make, the food you buy, the purchasing decisions you make for other people, the stories you tell in the media," he said, extolling the crowd of mostly nonfarmers to "meet a farmer . . . you will learn more than just how your food was produced."

Noon on Saturday brought the next big opportunity to listen to the Farm Aid message, with a press conference featuring all the stars, representing a dynamic mix of musical genres. Front and center was Willie Nelson, the acknowledged "father" of the Farm Aid movement.

But if Willie is the head of the group, and superstars John Mellencamp and Dave Matthews provide the raw strength that keeps it going, then Rock 'n Roll Hall of Fame member Neil Young showed both at the press conference and onstage later that he is the group's conscience and most effective communicator.

"Attention shoppers!" shouted Young, bringing the media throng to strict attention. "Buy with a conscience and save the family farm," he continued, echoing the plea of farmer Seeley the night before. He also admonished the press, "Don't write about who played or what anybody wore. Try to write about the real issues."

Following the press conference and offstage during the concert, a series of briefings were sponsored by concert organizers that featured a wide array of speakers from Pennsylvania and across the country. Panels of speakers addressed a variety of topics, including farm policy and Farm Bill perspectives, new organic standards and sustainable agriculture models, dairy issues in Pennsylvania, and national farm concerns.

According to Ted Quaday, program director of Farm Aid, these briefings were designed "to provide the media with opportunities to learn more about agriculture issues and to develop new contacts and ideas for future stories." As in the other events, speakers emphasized the need for consumer education and awareness in purchasing food.

If there is a common thread in American agriculture today, it seems to be this pervasive understanding that consumers, and not farmers, legislators, or lobbyists, will have the ultimate say about the future of food and farms in this country. And like other industries, the choices consumers make will depend on factors such as price, quality, and service.

Many of the speakers in this day-and-a-half marathon, whether celebrity or not, conceded that it will be difficult for smaller family farms to compete in the area of price, but remained adamant that the competitive edge in the other two arenas, quality and service, goes to the smaller producers who can be both directly accountable and responsive to their customers.

New National Holstein Protein Production Leader

Three States Converge At Small Farm Expo

community-supported agriculture (CSA) groups were just a few of the informative presentation topics visitors could choose to attend. Events for children included a recycling workshop offered by James Garthe of Penn State's Department of Agricultural and Biological Engineering. In this activity, kids used tools to create works of art out of items such as old copper wire and discarded silverware.

For those looking to make relatively high profits on a small amount of land, Ted Blomgren of Cornell gave an overview of one possible way: the business of "field-grown cut flowers."

Blomgren divides his time between teaching vegetable production at Cornell and farming vegetables and flowers with his wife. They sell their goods to numerous clients in Albany and New York City.

"We're growing cut flowers like a vegetable farmer," Blomgren said. As the cut flower business is labor-intensive, he advised grower/marketers to be as efficient as possible, resisting the tendency to "be an artist" when making flower arrangements to sell at the market. Simple, colorful bunches that can be made quickly and in large numbers will bring in the most money, he said.

Blomgren reviewed types of flowers that do well in the marketplace and gave out numerous growing tips. He highly recommended using high tunnels for extending the flower-growing season.

"Bending your own high tunnel is not hard to do," he said of these structures erected in the field from PVC pipes and greenhouse plastic. "It's quick and economical."

Numerous vendors were also on hand at the expo, offering products geared toward small-scale farms and rural life.

Planners have already announced Northeast Small Farm and Rural Living Expo dates and locations for the next two years.The 2003 expo is scheduled to take place Sept. 20 and 21 at the Warren County Fairgrounds, Harmony, N.J., and the 2004 event is slated for Sept. 18 and 19 in Walton, N.Y.

John Blackmore, a 4th-grader from Cresco, is busy turning an old fork into a work of art at the recycling workshop offered at the Northeast Small Farm and Rural Living Expo.

Northeast Small Farm and Rural Living Expo coordinators from three states gathered to launch the second annual expo. Joining Eileen Pasquin of Pocono Country Carriages, from left, are Art Charlton, New Jersey Department of Tourism and Public Information, Warren County; Greg Solt, Northampton County extension agent; Everett Chamberlain, Warren County extension agent, New Jersey; Les Hulcoop, Dutchess County extension agent, New York; and Russell Gunton, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture regional director.

Dairymen's Club Seeks Award Nominations

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Penn State Dairymen's Club is soliciting nominations for its annual service award to recognize an industry representative in Pennsylvania who has supported the Pennsylvania dairy industry and/or Penn State agricultural programs.

This year marks the 11th year for the award. The winner will be recognized at the Penn State Dairymen's Club annual meeting Friday, Nov. 15, at 6:30 p.m. at Celebration Hall in State College.

To make a reservation for the dinner meeting, contact Beth Raney at 405 Ag Admin. Bldg., University Park PA 16802, phone (814) 863-2525 or send e-mail to bnr1@psu.edu.

All nominations of industry representatives should be submitted to Jayne Sebright at P.O. Box 529, East Berlin, PA 17316, or send via e-mail to jsebr@landolakes.com. Deadline for nominations is Oct. 16.

There is no specific format for nominations. However, items that may be discussed are leadership in the agricultural community, personal involvement in the dairy industry, and personal achievement and contributions to local organizations and youth.

Guernsey Sire To Be Sold At World Dairy Expo Benefit Youth Scholarship

REYNOLDSBURG, Ohio — An outstanding Guernsey young sire will be syndicated at World Dairy Expo in the International Guernsey Classic Sale on Oct. 2, with the proceeds used to start a national scholarship fund for Guernsey Youth. The scholarship will be named in honor of Ralph and Martha Turley of Orient, Ohio, who have spent their lives in service of the Guernsey cow and the dairy industry as a whole.

Ralph Turley was elected to the American Guernsey Association board of directors for 10 years, and served as president and vice president. The association has honored Turley with its two most prestigious honors, Master Breeder in 2000 and Distinguished Service Award in 1993. Noted for a keen eye for dairy cattle, he has judged national and international shows and was the breeder of one of the breed's only Excellent-96 appraised cows, Raemelton Fashion Kandy. Martha Turley has enthusiastically supported her husband's love for the Guernsey breed and today serves as executive secretary of the Ohio Guernsey Breeders Association and Purebred Dairy Cattle Association.

The Turley Scholarship will be awarded annually to a junior member of the American Guernsey Association who has exhibited at a National Junior Guernsey Show, and will be based on academics, youth activities, an essay question, and an interview with the scholarship committee.

going over the milk income loss compensation (MILC) provision of the federal Farm Bill. Sign-up for the program has been under way for more than a month. With milk prices in decline through the summer and dipping close to $11 per hundredweight — well below the $16.95 target price established in the MILC program — even dairy farmers with small herds will be entitled to significant payments. Some of the details, however, remain to be worked out.

"We're all tussling with this," Dairylea President Clyde Rutherford said of the dairy program.

According to Rutherford, one of the provisions in the Farm Bill may allow cooperatives to take on a "power of attorney" role in administering the program for groups such as the Amish. In this type of arrangement, Farm Bill funds would be received by the cooperative, who would then distribute them to the farmers.

Rutherford also talked about several dairy trends that effect prices. Dairy product stockpiles, as of midsummer, were significantly higher than in the past two years. That's "not good news for prices," he said. According to his figures, milk production this year is projected to be up 2.75 percent from 2001. But Ritherford was optimistic, despite noting that production is outpacing consumption by 2 percent.

"Some predict low prices throughout (next year.) Others predict a rebound," he said. "History shows a quick rebound."

Rutherford also pointed out that corn, soybean, and alfalfa production nationwide is down from last year, driving up feed prices and squeezing the income/cost ratio even further. (In last week's Pennsylvania grain report, southeastern Pennsylvania corn and soybean prices averaged $3.19 and $5.61 per bushel, respectively.)

DFA's Heatwole said that co-op consolidation helps dairy farmers in several ways. Increased hauling and marketing efficiencies have helped maintain premiums paid to farmers during this period of low prices, he said.

Consolidation also gives cooperatives more clout in major decisions that effect milk markets, according to Heatwole.

"Working together, we have more of a say on what goes on," he said.

DFA and Dairylea are addressing various issues, including ways to lower retail cheese prices and ways to boost tariffs on imported milk protein concentrates (MPCs) used in some cheese products.

The co-ops are asking U.S. customs to reclassify MPCs as a powder, which would result in higher tariffs, according to Rutherford. As it is now, importation of MPCs is "not a level playing field," he said.

Heatwole acknowledged that some things — like the weather — cannot be influenced by cooperatives.

"Mother nature, God, can do more in a month than all our marketing efforts over a long time," he said.

Church Joins Holstein Assoc. Communications Staff

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. — Holstein Association USA has announced the hiring of Ben Church as communications and promotions specialist. He began work with the association Sept. 23.

In this role, he is responsible for all communications, public relations, and advertising efforts for the organization, both in print and online. He will also be editor of Holstein Association News, the official bimonthly newsletter for the association.

"Church brings energy, enthusiasm, and dedication to the Registered Holstein business to the organization. His educational background, combined with his experiences in the milk cooperative and publishing arena, make him a natural fit for this key position," said John M. Meyer, Holstein Association USA chief executive officer.

Most recently, Church held a position at Purebred Publishing as editor of a national dairy breed publication. Immediately following college, he was communications specialist for Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Association, Inc., a milk cooperative based in Reston, Va.

Ben Church

Church has a bachelor's degree in agriculture and natural resources communication from Michigan State University.

Carbon County Fair Posts Market, Dairy Goat Results

DEANNA CUNFER
Carbon Co. Correspondent

PALMERTON (Carbon Co.) — The pleasant weather and newly-erected show ring made for an enjoyable evening as the crowd watched judge Robert Leib, Mechanicsburg, a Vo-Ag teacher at Cumberland Valley High School and breeder of Southdown sheep and crossbred Boer goats review the entries of the 4-H market and dairy goat and the open dairy goat shows recently conducted during the Carbon County Fair. Leib, a professional fitter and showman, also raises Nubian and LaMancha goats.

For his champion showman in the 4-H market goat competition Leib selected Ashley Barry. Described as a very smooth showman Barry first topped the senior division. Barry, 16, a junior at Lehighton High School is the daughter of Guy and Priscilla Barry, East Penn Township. In addition to the market goat project she also completed the dairy beef, swine and sheep projects this year.

The reserve showman title was awarded to Shanna Simmons, 18, daughter of Paul and Kris Simmons also of East Penn Township. Simmons, a sophomore at Penn State University — Hazleton campus is a physics major and was also Leib's choice as champion fitter of the market goat show. This being Simmons' last year of 4-H it was, however, her first year to complete the market goat project.

Following Simmons in the fitting competition was Rebecca Cunfer, 14, daughter of Bart and Margie Cunfer, Mahoning Township, as reserve champion fitter. Cunfer, a ninth-grade student at Lehighton High School, who first topped the intermediate division, also completed the dairy beef project this year.

Moving into the weight classes, Leib reviewed the entries, selecting the Nubian entry of Simmons from the heavy medium weight class as his grand champion market goat. In selecting the straight Nubian Leib described the 65-pound entry of Simmons as being in perfect condition with lots of length.

The reserve champion market goat honors went to the 78-pound Boer-Nubian cross entry of Andrew Miller from the heavyweight class. Miller, 15, a sophomore at Carbon County Vo Tech School studying Industrial Electronics is the son of Kevin and Diane Miller, East Penn Township and also completed the swine project.

In the 4-H dairy goat show, Leib reviewed the various breeds selecting the May 2001 entry of Sarah Miller, as the junior and grand champion Nubian doe with her Jasperhollow Jarrett Diva taking the reserve junior and reserve champion honors. This pair of twin does did a reversal of their winning positions from last year's fair. Sarah's junior and grand champion, Jasperhollow Jarrett Mink, was then dropped to the reserve junior and reserve champion Nubian spot in the open dairy goat show following behind Kevin Miller's Jasperhollow Powell Hula who was Leib's choice as the junior and grand champion Nubian doe.

Sarah Miller, 14, will be a ninth-grade student at Lehighton High School and also completed the market swine project this year. With three children, Amanda, Andrew and Sarah, competing in the market and dairy goat 4-H program in Carbon County for the past several years their father, Kevin, decided to make his debut in the show ring and was quite happy when his lone entry was awarded the grand champion Nubian honors. Kevin and his wife, Diane, serve as the goat project leaders in the Carbon County 4-H Livestock Club and have approximately 30 goats including LaMancha, Nubian, purebred Boer and Boer crosses on their farm.

In the Recorded Grade division of the 4-H and open competition Josh Kemmerer of Franklin Township captured both the junior and senior champion titles. Kemmerer's entry from the doe, one year and under two (not in milk) class, The Big Creek Farm Tinkerbell, a March 2001 bred and owned entry went on to be named the junior champion by Leib with his June 1998 entry taking the senior and grand champion honors. This senior champion of Kemmerer also won the Best Udder Award of the Recorded Grade competition at the fair. His junior champion went on to be named the reserve champion Recorded Grade and his senior champion became the grand champion.

Kemmerer, 18, son of Violet and the late LeRoy Kemmerer, is continuing his studies at Penn State — Lehigh Valley campus majoring in agricultural science/engineering. He also completed the dairy beef and market steer projects this year.

In naming his Best Doe of Show, Leib selected the March 1998 doe of Andrew Miller. This doe, Peach Valley Knights Chaleece, was earlier named the senior and grand champion LaMancha doe as well as the recipient of the Best Udder Award in the LaMancha division.

Reserve champion LaMancha honors went to Sarah Miller's Feb. 1997 doe.

In the 4-H junior market breeding goat competition Sarah Miller's Jan. 2002 goat was selected as the grand champion.

Blackadar Family Dominates Plainfield Sheep, Market Goat Show

DEANNA CUNFER
Carbon Co. Correspondent

BANGOR (Northampton Co.) — Ron Miller, Bernville, Fair Fund Administrator with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture (PDA) judged the market and breeding sheep and market goat show at the Plainfield Farmers Fair recently.

As his champion fitter of the market lamb competition Miller selected Sarah Blackadar from the senior division. Following as reserve champion fitter was her younger brother, Christopher Blackadar, who first topped the intermediate division. Christopher and Sarah are the children of Dave and Allison Blackadar, Riegelsville.

Champion showman honors went to Amber Buttner, 16, of Bath. Miller then selected Sarah Blackadar as the reserve champion showman.

Topping the 24 entries of the market lamb competition was the 133-pound entry from the heavy heavyweight class exhibited by Christopher Blackadar. The reserve champion market lamb title went to Sarah Blackadar with her 109-pound entry from the heavyweight class. Following in that order Christopher was awarded the champion pairs ribbon while Sarah Blackadar followed with the reserve champion pair award.

In the market goat competition we again saw Sarah Blackadar rise to the top with her 87-pound entry from the heavyweight class. The reserve champion market goat title went to Josh Bauman with his 65-pound entry.

Moving on to the breeding sheep competition the Blackadar family again gathered honors as Sarah's Dorset ewe was named the grand champion ewe of the show and Christopher's Dorset ewe followed into the reserve grand champion ewe spot.

The fair provided the following results:

Heritage Festival Examines Transportation History

WYOMISSING (Berks Co.) — On Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 5-6, the Berks County Parks and Recreation Department presents the 21st annual Heritage Festival from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Heritage Center.

Recapture the past at this festival dedicated to celebrating the area's history and transportation heritage through demonstrations, exhibitions, music, lectures, walks, arts and crafts.

On Saturday, visitors can see an antique auto and farm equipment display. Featured will be riding demos by local 4-H Horse and student riding clubs beginning at 1:15 p.m.

Children can enjoy many of the activities we have planned just for them, including pony and wagon rides; storytelling, games, crafts, and a pedal tractor pull at 2 p.m. coordinated by the Old Time Plow Boys (registration required by 1:30 p.m.).

Artists and craftsmen will be displaying and selling their work, as well as demonstrating their talents from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The day will also be filled with special programs and walking tours of the Heritage Center grounds. The topics of these lectures include Berks County Canal Living History, the Deppen Cemetery with Betty Riegel, the Herb Garden with Grace Kline, and the history of the Red Bridge with local historian and author Fred Moll. The engine that powered the Gruber Wagon Works, the Otto Gasoline Engine will be "fired-up" in demonstrations throughout the day.

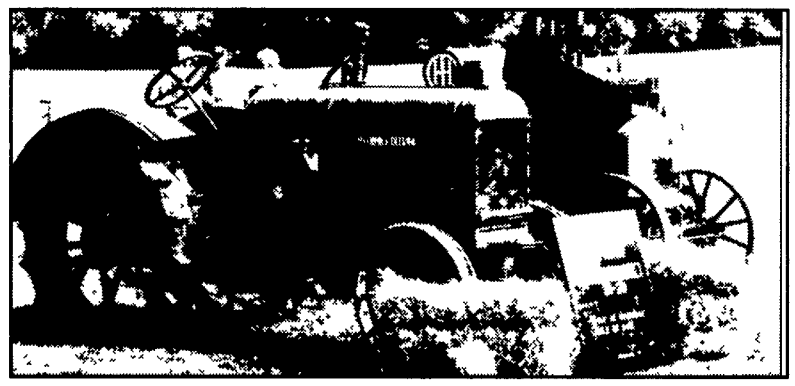
Don't miss the "Chief Wahoo Miracle Elixir Medicine Show and Phydeux's Famous Flying Flea Circus of Fate" on Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Both shows will take you back to the golden age of quackery and hawking of the late 19th century when hucksters took advantage of a receptive, unsophisticated public that was barraged daily by the legitimate scientific discoveries of Edison and Bell.

Hang on to your wallets and lend a skeptical ear if you cross paths with the show's creator, George Esparza, who will be looking for "pigeons" waiting to be plucked.

Joining the Wahoo Medicine Show is a genuine miniature circus complete with a flea-sized high wire, high dive, and circus cannon.On Sunday, the festivities continue with a full-size and miniature carriage and wagon show. More than 75 pieces will be on display by local collectors. The antique farm equipment show, children's activities, home craft demonstrations, family games of corn husking, log sawing, and nail driving, and artist and crafter demonstrations will also be continued. Highlights of the day are the draft horse demonstrations, including plowing and pulling exhibitions, along with a horse and wagon obstacle course.

The main stage area will feature Pennsylvania German Celebration beginning at 12:30 p.m. The Druvelmachers (student hoedowners) will perform at 1:15 p.m. and 2:30 p.m.Admission is free to the public, with a $2 parking donation. Held rain or shine.

The Heritage Center is located on Red Bridge Road off Route 183, ½ mile south of the Rt. 222 exit. Shuttle buses will be running all day Sunday from the Met Ed parking lot on Rt. 183. Call (610) 374-8839 for registration of your vehicle or wagon or more information or visit the Website www.berksparkandrec.org.



Antique tractors and equipment will be on display at the Heritage Festival Oct. 5-6.

Homebred Takes All-American Milking Shorthorn Show

MICHELLE KUNJAPPU
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — A homebred 5-year-old cow took home grand champion honors in the Eastern National Milking Shorthorn Show Tuesday at the All-American Dairy Show, Farm Show Complex.

The Milking Shorthorn show featured 144 head, and was conducted in conjunction with the Eastern National Milking Shorthorn Junior Show.

In the open show, judge Danny Huddleston picked a cow owned by Peter Cate, Cate Farm, Warren, N.H., for senior and grand champion placing. The cow, Cates Rebel Tangerine, also took home best senior female bred and owned placing.

Reserve senior and grand champion honors in the open show went to John and Marjorie Kuszlyk, Kuszlyk Cattle Company, Batavia, N.Y.

Junior champion of the junior and open show was Halpin's Joslyn, bred and owned by Michael Halpin, Halpin Farms, Cullom, Ill.

The heifer was also born in December 2000. Halpin also exhibited the senior and grand champion of the junior show.

Steven Kuszlyk, Kuszlyk Cattle Company, Batavia, N.Y., showed the reserve senior and reserve grand champion in the junior show.

Matthew Baxter, Newman, Illinois, showed the reserve junior champion of the junior show, an animal which also garnered reserve junior champion in the open show.

Michelle Ritschard, Monroe, Wis., took a 13-hour, 800-mile drive in to Harrisburg with her father to support the show.

Crowned this past July as the national Milking Shorthorn queen, she has made parade appearances and written articles for the American Milking Shorthorn Society Journal.

She also plans to attend the World Dairy Expo and the Winter National Show in Louisville Ky.

Ritschard, 19, took time off from her classes at the University of Wisconsin-Platteville, where she is a sophomore studying animal science and agribusiness.

Growing up on a dairy farm gave Ritschard the background knowledge she needs as a national Milking Shorthorn representative. Her family (Ritschard is one of four girls) milks 50 head of Milking Shorthorns on Mi-San Acres, a 260-acre operation.

Judge Huddleston, Alba, Texas, milks 115 head and has 250 head on his Milking Shorthorn-based dairy farm. He has exhibited national champion cows and numerous All-American animals, and attends six state fairs and two national shows a year.

NITRATE PROBLEMS IN FEEDS

Glenn A. Shirk
Extension Agent — Dairy
Lancaster County

Abnormal weather conditions during growing and harvesting seasons can increase the incidence and severity of nitrate problems in feeds.

Forages may contain elevated levels of nitrates when fields are heavily fertilized with manure or nitrogen-containing fertilizers, when crops are stressed by drought or hale, or by periods of cold, rainy weather and a lack of sunshine. Drought-stricken forages may be highest in nitrates for a period of three to seven days following an appreciable rainfall.

Although corn silage is often associated with nitrate problems, high levels also can be found in legumes such as alfalfa. Certain weeds, such as pigweed and lambsquarter, are nitrate accumulators and may increase nitrate levels in forages even under normal growing conditions. Water can also be a source of nitrates. Thus, all sources of nitrates must be considered when evaluating total nitrate intake by animals.

Nitrates in dairy rations can be a complex issue because so many factors are involved. Recommendations and guidelines based upon old data from earlier research and field observations need to be updated with more recent findings. There is a wide variation in response to high nitrate intake among animals on a given diet and among trials. These variations may be due to apparent differences in environment, diet, and feeding practices.

Rumen microorganisms often adapt to higher levels of nitrates over a period of time, so the rate at which animals are introduced to higher nitrate intakes appears to be a critical factor. Rumen health can affect how animals will respond to nitrates. In the rumen, nitrates are reduced to more-toxic nitrites. The level of nitrites can build up, especially when the rumen is taxed and has difficulty metabolizing ammonia. Such a situation could occur when animals are on high-forage or forage-alone rations that lack sources of readily available carbohydrates or key minerals that are necessary for normal rumen function.

Most of the symptoms of nitrate toxicity are chronic in nature and can be confused with those of other diseases. A more obvious impact is a reduction in reproductive performance. Acute toxicity can result in serious illness and death because of nitrites interfering with the blood's ability to transport oxygen to body tissues; seriously affected animals and fetuses literally die of suffocation. These conditions are usually preceded by rapid breathing, accelerated heart rates, a discoloration of mucous membranes (the blue baby syndrome that is associated with a lack of oxygen in the blood stream), muscular weakness, incoordination, and convulsions. The negative impact of nitrates can be reduced by testing suspect feeds, by eliminating or restricting the intake of suspect feeds, by introducing animals to suspect feeds gradually over a period of time, by feeding a balanced ration, and by maintaining good rumen health.

Under some conditions, suspect feeds for cattle could include forages that test more than 1,000 ppm of nitrate nitrogen and water that exceeds 23 ppm of nitrate nitrogen. As a comparison, the acceptable level of nitrate nitrogen in water deemed safe for human consumption is 10 ppm. Nitrate levels are reported several different ways, so be sure to note which method of reporting is being used. For example, parts per million (ppm) is the same as milligrams per liter (mgl). If it is reported as "nitrate" (NO3) rather than "nitrate nitrogen" (NO3-N), the levels will be about 4 times as large. For example 10 ppm of nitrate nitrogen is the same as 44 ppm of nitrate.

More detailed information on nitrates is available in a publication titled "Prevention and Control of Nitrate Toxicity in Cattle" available from many county extension offices or on the Internet at http://www.das.psu.edu/dcn/catforg/DAS/pdf/nitrate.pdf.

Angussource Offers Online Marketing

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. — Cattle producers looking for alternatives to marketing Angus-influenced cattle, need to look no further than AngusSource.

Formerly known as Angus Resource Clearinghouse Network or ARCNet, AngusSource is the newest online service offered by the American Angus Association's Commercial Programs Department.

AngusSource is an Internet-based listing, accessible by feedyards, commercial producers, and anyone searching for high-quality Angus genetics. Potential buyers of Angus cattle can log onto www.angussource.com to view listings of feeder calves and replacement females for sale, upcoming sale dates and cattle wanted. Producers who have cattle for sale can also submit information on the Web site.

Potential buyers can access the listings via the Internet or sign up for a weekly e-mail update of feeder calf and sale listings. Plus, association members can list their commercial customers' cattle on a member-dedicated AngusSource site through the member logon services.

For more information about AngusSource, log onto www.angussource.com or contact Matt Perrier at mperrier@angus.org.

Youth Purebred Swine Enthusiasts Prepare For Eastern Regional

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Youth swine exhibitors from across the country will be gathering in Harrisburg for the second-annual National Junior Swine Association Eastern Regional show.

This event will take place Oct. 4-6 at the Farm Show Complex during the Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE).

The Eastern Regional will consist of a purebred gilt show, a showmanship contest and a skillathon. Points will be awarded to participants in these three events and compiled toward a sweepstakes contest where awards will be given to the top five contestants in each age division. The age divisions are as follows: novice (8 and under), junior (9-12), intermediate (13-16), and senior (17-21).Registration and check-in will be from 5-9 p.m. on Frday, Oct. 4. All junior gilts must be in place by 9 p.m. Friday. The skillathon will begin at 8 a.m. on Saturday, Oct. 5. All skillathon participants must be registered by 10:30 a.m. The showmanship contest will take place on Saturday at 1 p.m., followed by the purebred gilt show. Jim Gibson, Panora, Iowa, will be evaluating the showmanship contest and gilt show entries.

The sweepstakes awards will be presented on Sunday, Oct. 6 at 7:30 a.m., prior to the KILE barrow show.

All NJSA members ages 21 and under are invited to attend and participate in the NJSA Eastern Regional. Pre-registration is not required for the skillathon, so all interested youth are welcome to come out to the Farm Show Complex and participate in this event. A $5 entry fee will be charged to all participants who do not exhibit a gilt.

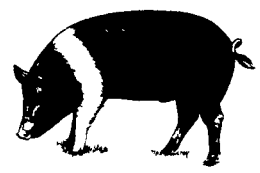
For more information, contact Jennifer Shike, NSR Director of Junior Activities, at (765) 463-3594 or (217) 485-5315. Information is also available at www.nationalswine.com.

Drought Disaster Coverage Available

POTTSVILLE (Schuylkill Co.) — Schuylkill County farmers impacted by the drought are to participate in the Non-Insured Disaster Assistance Program. This program provides a 50 percent yield guarantee to growers of crops which are not insurable. To procure this coverage a grower must pay a $100 per crop fee prior to the sales closing date.

Several sales closing dates are fast approaching; mechanically harvested forages and pasture must be covered by Sept. 30 for the coming year; most fruit crops must be selected by Nov. 20, and spring planted crops by March 15.

Those interested in reducing their risks in 2003, should contact their county FSA prior to the sales closing dates.



Penn State Hosts Ag Career Day

Saturday Is Family Day At KILE

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Keystone International Livestock Exposition has chosen Saturday, Oct. 5, as Family Day.

Lebanon Valley Farmers/Fulton Bank is sponsoring the II Agri-Kid Olympics" at noon. The Olympics is a fun time for kids as they compete is such farm-related events as sack races, wheelbarrow races, laughing contest, horseshoe pitch and hog-calling contest.

The Kiddie Pedal Power Tractor Pull, sponsored by Evergreen Tractor Sales at Myerstown, is a special event very similar to the big tractor pulls seen at many county fairs. Children must preregister previous to the event which wil! be held at 3 p.m.

The event is limited to 80 participants.

Kessler's "Barnyard" is open all weekend long providing a unique experience for the children to actually touch farm animals such as a calves, sheep, and pigs. A farmer will be there to answer any questions youngsters may have.

Blue Valley Farm Show Conducts Impressive Dairy Show

DEANNA CUNFER
Carbon Co. Correspondent

BANGOR (Northampton Co.) — The open and 4-H dairy show was recently conducted during the Blue Valley Farm Show featuring the Holstein and Colored Breeds divisions.

The event was judged by Dave Smith, Lebanon County, a graduate of Virginia Tech where he majored in dairy science. In addition to operating the family farm where he raises dairy heifers Smith also works part time for the Pennsylvania Dairyman's Association and is in charge of the milk facilities at the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

For his champion showman of the 4-H show, Smith selected 16-year-old Bailey Reichard from the senior division. According to Smith Reichard was always quick to have her animal set up and had it set up more consistently than her competitors. Reichard, daughter of Melissa Finken, is a junior at Pen Argyl High School and resides on Finken Farms.

The reserve champion showman title went to Brandy Hahn also from the senior division. This being her last year of 4-H Hahn, 19, will be attending East Stroudsburg University majoring in education. The daughter of Ralph Hahn she resides on the family farm, Winding Acres, in Plainfield Township. Hahn was also Smith's choice for champion fitter of the show stating he was impressed with how she had the animals clipped correctly while paying attention to the cleanliness of the animal especially the ears.

Stacy Brewer, 9-year-old daughter of Kevin and Lori Brewer of Brewer Farms, Bangor, was then awarded the reserve fitter title. Brewer will be a fourth grade student at DeFranco Elementary School.

In the Colored Breeds division Smith selected the Jersey spring yearling of Krissa Brewer, Brew-Line Berretta Daisy, as his junior champion of the 4-H and open competition. In describing this May 2001 heifer Smith said he liked the breed character and dairyness she possessed.

Krissa, 9-year-old daughter of Jeff and Tammy Brewer, also of Brewer Farms, Bangor, will be in the fourth grade at Washington Elementary School.

The reserve junior champion ribbon was then presented to Stacy Brewer for her Jan. 2002 Jersey winter calf, Brew-Line Cosmo Princess and described as having a lot of style and balance.

In running the 4-H and open shows together there were divisions where the placings needed to be separated. As his senior and grand champion Colored Breed in the 4-H show Smith selected the June 1999 Jersey junior 3-year-old entry of Krissa Brewer, Vall-Haven Berretta Daffodil, describing the cow as being longer with more strength through the front end and having more width in the rear udder attachment.

The 4-H reserve senior and reserve grand champion title went to the Dec. 1999 KL Topkick Precious from the Jersey senior 2-year-old class exhibited by Stacy Brewer. Smith said he liked how tall and long this cow was with lots of capacity to the udder.

The senior and grand champion Colored Breed of the open dairy show went to the July 1993 Jersey entry of Brian Kromer, Easton, from the aged cow class, Prosper Jester Misty. This cow was described by Smith as being a tremendous cow for a 9-year-old and that you had to like her from the tip of her nose to the tip of her tail. She possesses a lot of dairyness and balance as well as a lot of capacity of the udder. Interestingly this award winner for Kromer has received the same comments from the various judges she paraded before throughout the summer.

The 4-H senior and grand champion of Krissa Brewer then moved to the reserve senior and reserve grand champion spot of the open show.

Moving on to the Holstein division the winter yearling entry of Stephanie Brewer was selected as the junior champion of the 4-H and open shows. In selecting the Dec. 2000 Rue-Hel Ray Mylar as his junior champion Smith described her as a very correct heifer with udder promise.

Stephanie Brewer, 11, daughter of Kevin and Lori Brewer, is a sixth grade student at DeFranco Elementary School.

The four Brewer girls — Krissa, Brittany, Stephanie and Stacy — are all active in the daily operation of Brewer Farms and although they own and show both Holsteins and Jerseys all have said they have no preference as to breed or color. They enjoy showing each and every one that they bring to the shows they compete at each summer.

Krissa Brewer then saw her May 2002 spring calf, Brew-Line Cooper Julie, named the reserve junior champion of both the 4-H and open shows.

Separating the 4-H and open competition for the senior and grand champion title Smith selected the entry of Stephanie Brewer from the senior 2-year-old class as the champion of both the 4-H and open show. In describing the Dec. 1999 Brew-Line Bestow Jangle, Smith said she excels in dairy character and has a beautiful strong rear udder attachment.

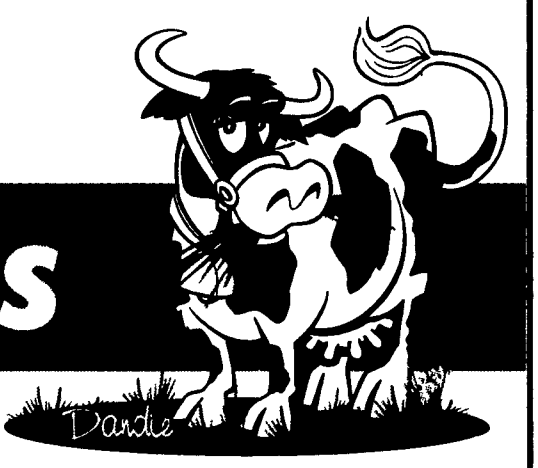
Dandie says...

PUT MILK IN THE TANK WITH

High Energy Grasses



High grain diets are hard on your herd's health. Reduce high grain feeding without sacrificing milk production with our high energy grasses.

Ryegrass and festulolium energy levels are often as good or better than corn silage. Combine this energy (high sugar) with protein levels in the low 20s or higher and you have a milk maker. Best for grazing and balage.

PERENNIAL RYEGRASSES

Plant on your farm's best soils for top production.

TIVOLI
A high sugar late heading tetraploid variety. You can taste the sugars. Seed alone or with alfalfa and/or clovers to improve summer production.

MARA
A tough diploid ryegrass. Mara was bred in Romania and survives harsh summers and winters very well. It is excellent for grazing.

BG 34
A popular blend of three diploid ryegrasses primarily recommended for pasture. 30% of the mix is Mara.

SUGAR DATA	% Water Soluable Carbohydrates (Sugar)
Perun Festulolium (highest in trial)	21.4
Perennial Ryegrass (average)	19.4
Tall Fescue	8.4
Orchardgrass	6.2

FESTULOLIUMS

Our varieties are new releases with a breeding emphasis on high sugars and reduced summer heading. They look and taste like ryegrass but take the summer heat and harsh winters better. Can be planted alone or in combination with alfalfa and/or clovers.

PERUN
An "Italian-type" tetraploid that will give 3 years of high production. Highest yielding variety among 20 entries in 2001 trials (MI St.) with over 8 tons of dry matter /acre. Also highest rated for palatability.

LOFA
A perennial type bred for 5 years of production. It looks very promising in trials. Sweet tasting and bright green.

"Incredible," says Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Raechel Kilgore. "I look forward to promoting the dairy industry with everyone of these wonderful dairy princesses."

Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Raechel Kilgore anticipates promoting the dairy industry with First Alternate Rachel Ebert and Second Alternate Ashley Lynn Chapman.

A Night To Remember

At Pageant, 33 County Dairy Princesses Vie For State Title

LOU ANN GOOD
Food And Family Features Editor

CAMP HILL (Dauphin Co.) — "This is an incredible moment. A night I will always remember," said Raechel Kilgore as she was crowned the 46th Pennsylvania Dairy Princess.

For Raechel and the 32 other county princesses, the pageant followed two days of intense judging. Each princess had been individually interviewed and participated in other informal meetings with the four judges. Each had presented a skit, speech, and submitted a scrapbook for review.

When the 33 contestants filled the stage at the Radisson Penn Harris Hotel and Convention Center last Saturday evening, seven finalists were selected to vie for the state dairy princess title and four of the participants were selected to present award-winning skits or presentations.

Raechel and Laura Blauch, Lebanon County, were named for having the most outstanding speeches. The most outstanding skits were presented by Anna Johnson, Bradford County, and Rachel Ebert, Westmoreland County. The four winners presented their skits before an audience of 400 attending the pageant.

Raechel's speech centered on the dairy food group and the 400 varieties of cheeses that offer health choices for consumers. Laura's speech examined the six myths about milk. To find the same amount of calcium in other foods as found in drinking 3 cups of milk, Laura said it would be necessary to consume 12 cups of broccoli or 5½ gallons of soy milk daily.

Rebecca Mowrer bids farewell by saying, "Thank you to the 9,700 Pennsylvania dairy farmers, for giving me the opportunity of a lifetime." Not only was she last year's state dairy princess but she also won the Tina Shultz Memorial Award given annually to the dairy princess who is judged to have done the most outstanding job of representing the dairy industry in her county.

Anna Johnson's skillfully used a puppet that appeared to be talking to emphasize the importance of drinking milk. Rachel Ebert's prize-winning skit was a mystery based on "Blue Meets Moos Show."

The seven finalists included Raechel, Ashley Chapman, Erie County; Anna Lee Johnson, Bradford County; Kari Martin, Lancaster County; Courtney Johnson, Franklin County; Rebecca Zimmerman, Juniata County; and Rachel Ebert, Westmoreland County.

Each finalist answered the impromptu question administered by Chip Pratt, New Woodstock, N.Y. at the request of the judges: "You've been put into a back to the future car and blasted 100 years into the future. How would you as a dairy princess promote the dairy industry?"

Ashley Chapman answered that she would promote the industry with enthusiasm and a positive attitude.

Bradford County dairy princess said that by then everyone would realize the importance of milk and she would promote it the same way as she does now — with a smile and doing the best she can.

Lancaster County's dairy princess said that she would show her muscles and share how milk has helped her and can help them.

Raechel representing York County said that it is important

Joyce Bupp

Well, hi there.

Don't look so startled. We cows talk all the time. You people just don't take time to listen to us.

Look out!

Whoa, you stepped aside there just in time. Those heifers will run right over you, if you don't pay attention. Actually, we're all in hurry, even us older girls who've been around here a while. Those two-legged folks that serve us finally put in the last posts and wire up and opened the gates.

And there's a whole hillside of fresh grass out there.

Hey, watch it!

Here, why don't you step outside the fence, while I stay here on the inside. I'm herd Boss and they won't run over me. They know I'll send them packing down to the far end of the feed bunk if they do. Understand, though, they're just in a big hurry to munch away on those new, green shoots.

Don't get me wrong. We enjoy our regular feed and scarf it up every day. But fresh grass? Why that's like turning our farmer's wife into a field of chocolate candy.

We watched that hillside out there all summer, wondering why we couldn't go out there. But it was full of those tall cornstalks. The two-legged ones gets miffed if we get in that and come yelling and chasing after us. So they secure stuff pretty tight to keep us inside. Except for a couple of those flighty teen-age heifers that figured out how to sneak across the cattle-guard bridges and go romp around.

You know how kids are.

Then, a couple of weeks ago, during one of those stretches of weather hot enough to turn my milk to custard, that field of green corn turned brown overnight. Next thing we knew, they chopped off all that corn and hauled it up there to that pile on the hill, where they fix all our meals.

And, boy, was that fresh stuff tasty.

But even that's not as good as this green, fresh grass. We thought they should let us out there right away to play in the field, but there was nothing to eat except some stalks knocked down on the corners and a few weeds here and there. Those things are tough and don't have much flavor.

So they scattered some seed over that bare field and, by gosh, wonder of wonders, it rained. After that, this field turned green real fast in the warm fall weather. We just couldn't wait to get out to sample it. A couple of us veteran cows who remembered fall grazing from other years leaned against the gate behind the barn pretty hard, y'know, hoping for a head start.

Sometimes we can knock gates loose. In fact, some of us are rather good at it. This time, no way. It was fastened too tight. So we just had to wait.

Well, here comes one lingering slowpoke. She's always the last with her head buried in the feed trough. Wait 'til she gets a mouthful of this fresh stuff.

Hey, I gotta' go before that bunch eats all the best spots. And then, I'm going to go lay down in the shade of the trees, chew my cud, and enjoy this beautiful day.

Yeah, some of these girls will have to go shoving their heads around that pile of ground at the corner of the lot. And a couple more will be out nosing around the trees and seeing what kind of trouble they can stir up. But not me. I've done all that in my younger years. Now, I'm content to just eat as much fresh grass as I want and then stretch out in the shade until we have to go back to the barn to work.

If you're not busy, come hang out with us for a couple of hours. The sun still gets hot by midday and we'll be ready to go back in and take a nap in the barn under the fans. Keeps the bugs away.

Too busy? Have to go work, you say?

Maybe you should consider switching careers.

At least during fall grazing season.

Grandparents Raising Grandchildren

Many grandparents joke, "The best thing about being a grandparent is spoiling the grandchildren then sending them home to their parents. "For an increasing number of grandparents they are not sending their grandchildren home to their parents, instead the grandchildren are staying and they find themselves with a second family to raise.

The number of United States children being raised by their grandparents is rising. In 1998, 1.4 million children in 888,000 households were being raised solely by their grandparents — a 53 percent increase since 1990. In Pennsylvania alone, there are more than 80,000 grandparent-headed households. These families face many challenges, including child care, health care, housing, legal issues and education.

Maria McCarthy, a parent-educator in an Intermediate Unit located in western Pennsylvania said, "When you think about why grandparents or aunts or uncles end up with their grandchildren, the literature talks about the 4 D's: death, drugs, divorce and desertion. There are seldom happy reasons why you have these children."

Barb and her husband Joe have let go of their dreams, they though they would be living in a condo in Florida by now, however, this couple is bound by love and duty to stay put, caring for their daughter's two daughters. "By the time we get to Florida we'll probably be in wheelchairs," Barbara says wryly.

Joe and Barbara must also deal with their feelings of anger and resentment toward their drug-addicted daughter.

"She's a mess," says Barbara. "I'm absolutely resentful of her for what she's done."

Despite their anger, Barbara and Joe have focused all their energies on the children.

Despite the challenges grandparents face when they become the primary caregivers for their grandchildren they discover there are gifts such as — energy, optimism, laughter, activity, love, youthfulness, and satisfaction. Grandparents are wise to welcome these gifts and encourage them in their relationship with their grandchild. Do not forget the gifts grandparents bring to their grandchildren — maturity, experience, stability, and family roots, to name a few.

Bill and his wife Sharon are raising their 11-year-old granddaughter, Brittany. They find themselves facing the challenge of grandparent involvement in education. Bill reports, "I spend a lot of time at her school trying to make sure I understand what the teachers expect."

Hicks says that when he first met Brittany's teachers, they were a little shocked to see a man in his 50s. Since then, things have gone very well. He tries to talk with Brittany's teacher at least once a month. "They seem to be a little surprised that we're so actively involved — but they sure do like it!"

Grandparents cope with far more than the usual demands of parenthood, "It has not been easy. Sometimes we feel a little bitter because our anticipated freedom has been taken away." But when asked if he and his wife would open their home to Brittany again, he answered, "Positively yes!" Brittany has been a shining light in our lives. She has forced us to stay young at heart. And that's not such a bad thing to happen."

Grandparents raising their grandchildren make it possible for them to grow up in a stable home and community. The loving care and support they give to the children is laying the foundation for the future relationships they will develop.

For additional grandparents raising grandchildren information and materials you can contact the Grandparent Information Center, c/o AARP, Social Outreach and Support, 601 E Street, N.W., Washington, DC 20049. Phone (202) 434-2296.

Neotame Is New Sugar Substitute

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — The U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has given approval to the NutraSweet Company to start marketing a non-nutritive, general-purpose sweetener in foods.

According to the amended food additive regulations, which took effect July 9, the new product, called "Neotame," can be used as a tabletop sweetener and in baked goods, nonalcoholic beverages like soft drinks, chewing gum, confections and frostings, frozen desserts, gelatins and puddings, jams and jellies, processed fruits and fruit juices, toppings and syrups.

Neotame is a soluble, crystalline white powder that is heat-stable, unlike NutraSweet's other sweetener, Aspartame. Neotame is 7,000 to 13,000 times sweeter than sugar.

FDA states "Based on the available preclinical and clinical information from the Neotame studies database, the agency concludes that there is no concern for potential neurotoxic or behavioral effects in humans from the ingestion of Neotame. Products made with Neotame require no special labeling for phenylketonuria.

Neotame will be marketed directly to food industries for use in soft drinks, powdered gelatin mixes and yogurt rather than directly to consumers as a tabletop sweetener.

Free Program For Hunters On Food Safety

CARLISLE (Cumberland Co.) — Calling all hunters and fishermen! Learn how to avoid contaminating meat or fish while dressing, handling and transporting it.

Come to a free program on "Hunters' Food Safety" Monday, September 30, from 7 p.m. - 9 p.m. at the Penn State Cooperative Extension Office, Cumberland County, at 1100 Claremont Road, Carlisle.

A safe hunting or fishing experience doesn't have to end at the field or stream. You need to be sure that your game meat or fish doesn't sicken you or your family.

Glenn Finkenbinder will demonstrate field dressing an animal. Marg Malehorn, extension agent, will show how to prepare and preserve your game safely, and a game commission representative will teach proper handling and transport of wild game and fish.

You will learn the importance of temperature control, field dressing and handling of deer and other large animals, small animals, game birds and fish, and recommended equipment for dressing and transporting.

Call the extension office at (717) 240-6500 for registration information.

Walnuts Come Out Of Their Shell

WALNUT CHEWS

1 cup butter
1 cup flour
1 cup brown sugar

Cream butter with brown sugar and flour. Pat into bottom of 8-inch square pan. Bake 15-17 minutes in 375-degree oven. It should look bubbly and have soft-brownish edges.

1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
⅔ cup chopped walnuts
⅔ cup brown sugar
1 cup shredded coconut
2 tablespoons flour
Dash of salt

Beat egg, brown sugar and vanilla. Combine nuts, coconut, flour and salt. Add to egg mixture. Mix until blended. Spread on baked crust. Bake 15 minutes longer or until edges look brown. When slightly cool, cut into squares.

ENGLISH TOFFEE COOKIES

1 cup butter
1 egg, separated
1 cup sugar
2 cups sifted flour
1 cup walnuts, chopped
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine butter and sugar; add egg yolk and vanilla; and beat well. Add flour and half of walnuts. Press into 10½x15-inch cookie sheet. Whip egg white until foamy. Brush over cookie dough. Spread with rest of nuts. Bake in 300-degree oven for 40 minutes. When taken from oven, cut into squares or bars. (The finished product is not thick, so pan size is important.)

BANANA SPLIT PIE

1½ sticks butter
3 cups graham cracker crumbs

Melt butter and stir in graham cracker crumbs. Press into a 13x9x2-inch pan.

2 sticks butter
2 cups confectioners' sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix the above for 10 minutes until fluffy. (Will be consistency of ice cream). Spread this mixture over crumb mixture.

1 medium can crushed pineapple, drained
1 cup chopped walnuts
6 halved cherries
4-6 bananas
1 large container whipped cream topping
Chocolate syrup

Spread the pineapple over the fluffy mixture. Top with sliced bananas and then with whipped topping making sure that all bananas are covered. Sprinkle with chopped nuts, drizzle with chocolate syrup and dot with cherries. Refrigerate 3-4 hours before serving.

MAGIC COOKIE BARS

½ cup melted butter
1½ cup graham cracker crumbs
1 can sweetened condensed milk
6 ounces chocolate chips
1 cup shredded coconut
1 cup chopped walnuts

In 13X9-inch baking pan, pour melted butter over entire base of pan. Evenly sprinkle with graham cracker crumbs and walnuts. Pour milk evenly over top of crumbs and nuts. Put chocolate chips over milk. Coconut over chocolate chips. Press down gently. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes. Let cool and cut. Enjoy!

I just tried these bars for the first time and my family went nuts! They're a keeper!

BEST CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIES

1 cup butter, softened
1⅓ cups sugar
⅔ cup firmly-packed brown sugar
2 eggs
1½ teaspoons vanilla
3 cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups semi-sweet chocolate pieces
2 cups chopped walnuts

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Combine butter, sugar, brown sugar, eggs, and vanilla; beat until light and fluffy. Stir in flour, baking soda, and salt; mix well. Stir in chocolate and walnuts. Drop by tablespoonfuls onto ungreased cookie sheets. Bake in upper third of oven at 350 degrees for 10 minutes or until set. Cookies do not brown very much. Texture is soft when removed from oven but slightly crisp and chewy when cool). Remove from cookie sheets; cool on wire racks. About 5 dozen cookies.

RASPBERRY WALNUT SHORTBREAD BARS

1¼ cups plus 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour, divided
½ cup sugar
½ cup butter
⅓ cup raspberry jam
2 eggs
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
⅛ teaspoon baking soda
1 cup chopped walnuts

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Lightly grease a 9-inch square pan. Combine 1¼ cups flour and ½ cup sugar; using pastry blender or fork, cut in butter until mixture resembles fine meal. Press into greased pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes or just until edges are lightly golden. Spread hot crust with raspberry jam. Combine eggs, brown sugar, and vanilla; beat well. Combine remaining 2 tablespoons flour and baking soda; stir into egg mixture. Fold in walnuts. Spoon over jam; spread lightly to pan corners. Return to oven; bake additional 20-25 minutes or until top is set. Cool completely; cut into bars. 20 bars.

PARMESAN WALNUT PEAS IN PASTRY CUPS

2 tablespoons frozen petite peas
1 teaspoon butter
1 tablespoon finely grated Parmesan cheese
1 tablespoon chopped walnuts
3 mini hors d' oeuvres cups, phyllo pastry cups or pastry tartlets

Prepare peas according to package directions. While still warm, stir in butter, Parmesan cheese and walnuts. Fill hors d'oeuvres cups and serve immediately.

Walnut Marketing Board

Walnuts offer more than they're often cracked up to be. In addition to eye and taste appeal in many versatile dishes, walnuts have been scientifically proven to lower cholesterol and offer heart-healthy omega-3 fatty acids. Walnuts are high in food energy, are a good source of vegetable protein, and low in saturated fats and sodium.

Walnut Tips

- Toasting enhances the flavor and crispness of walnuts. To toast in the oven, spread shelled walnuts on baking sheet or shallow pan, and bake at 350 degrees Fahrenheit for 10 to 12 minutes; stir several times.
- You can toast walnuts in the microwave. Place ¼ to 1 cup of walnuts in a single layer in a glass pie plate. Microwave on high (650 to 700 watt, 100 percent) for four to five minutes, or until toasted, stirring every two minutes; cool.
- Walnuts aren't just for baked goods — these wonderfully versatile nuts also enhance pastas, salads, appetizers and sauces and contribute valuable protein to vegetarian dishes.
- To keep your walnuts fresh, store shelled nuts in an airtight container in the refrigerator or freezer.
- Do not shell walnuts until ready to use.
- Always measure walnuts after chopping, and for best results, use a chef's knife to chop walnuts.

Featured Recipe

One of the oldest foods, walnuts today are recognized for their flavor, versatility, and health benefits. Walnuts have omega-3 fatty acids that are proven to reduce the risk of heart disease.

Walnuts lend themselves to party-fare, an enticing way to serve a variety of foods at one time.

Offer a selection of simply prepared, small bites that offer an assortment of flavors and textures. This style of finger food eating is appealing to kids, and smaller portions are a healthier way to live.

Get a double dose of omega-3s with these crunchy, fun-to-eat salmon bites. Baked in a walnut, crumb, and cilantro mixture, these delicious morsels are complemented with a tangy Apricot Ginger Dipping Sauce.

WALNUT-CRUSTED SALMON BITES WITH APRICOT GINGER DIPPING SAUCE

¼ cup apricot jam
2 tablespoons white balsamic vinegar or white wine vinegar
¼ cup chopped walnuts
¾ cup bread crumbs (regular or seasoned)
2 tablespoons chopped cilantro
Non-stick cooking spray
1 pound skinless salmon fillet, cut into 1-inch cubes

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Whisk together jam and vinegar; set aside.

In a blender or food processor, combine walnuts, bread crumbs, cilantro. Process a few turns until blended but still a coarse texture.

Coat a baking sheet with non-stick cooking spray.

Apricot Ginger Dipping Sauce

½ cup apricot jam
4 teaspoons low-sodium soy sauce
1 teaspoon white balsamic vinegar
2 tablespoons water
2 tablespoons finely chopped walnuts
1 tablespoon thinly sliced green onion, white and pale green part
1 teaspoon minced ginger

In a small bowl, whisk together all ingredients. Serve with crispy salmon bites. 8 servings: 1 serving equals 2 bites.

Well Preserved

Storing, Using Dried Foods

This is a continuation of last week's Well-Preserved column describing methods of drying fruits and vegetables.

Today we will look at judging dryness, conditioning, storing, and using dried foods.

Drying as a method of food preservation is dependent upon the removal of adequate moisture to prevent bacterial growth and enzymatic reaction. Check foods near the end of the drying period and remove those that are dried. Not all pieces will be dry at the same time.

Test dryness of fruit by cooling a piece of fruit to room temperature, touching, and tasting it. It should be pliable and leather-like. If you press it between your fingers, no beads of moisture should form. Fruits usually contain 15 to 20 percent moisture when dried. Because some pieces of the dried fruit will be more moist than others, condition the dried fruit by packing it loosely in an air tight glass or plastic container. Let it set for four or more days for the excess moisture in some pieces to be absorbed by the drier pieces. If condensation occurs, the fruit should be returned to the dehydrator for more drying.

Unpeeled fruit and fruit exposed to insects before or during drying need to be pasteurized to prevent "critters" from developing during storage. After the fruit has been dried and conditioned, it may be frozen for at least 48 hours or it may be heated in an open roasting pan in a preheated oven at 175 degrees F. for 15 minutes or at 160 degrees F. for 30 minutes.

Most vegetables will loose 95 percent of their water content in the drying process.

Vegetables are tough, brittle, crisp, or crunchy when dry. It is not necessary to condition vegetables because so much of the water has been removed.

Select a storage method that prevents moisture from re-entering the food. Glass, air tight plastic containers, and plastic freezer bags work well. Remove as much air from freezer bags as possible. If you have a home vacuum packaging device, you will find they extend shelf-life of dried foods. Store foods in a dark cool place to preserve nutrients, color, and flavor. Plastic bags should be put in a plastic or metal container that will not allow the light to penetrate. Avoid storing dried fruits and vegetables in the same container because flavor and moisture may transfer. Package dried foods promptly so that they do not absorb moisture from the air.

Even though food is dried, placing it in the refrigerator or freezer is desirable especially for low acid foods like dried meats and vegetables. The shelf life of dried foods increases three to four times for every 18 degrees F. drop in temperature.

The nutritional value of food is only slightly changed by drying. Although vitamin A is retained during drying, it is light sensitive and food containing it should be stored in a dark place. This includes dark green and dark yellow vegetables. Exposure to heat and air destroys vitamin C, but pre-treating foods with lemon, orange, or pineapple juice or with ascorbic acid solutions increases their vitamin C content. Dried fruits and vegetables are high in fiber and carbohydrates and low in fat. This makes them healthy food choices. The lack of moisture concentrates nutrients and therefore calories. Calorie watchers want to snack on dried foods in moderation.

Some uses of dried foods require that they be reconstituted. Reconstituting means restoring the moisture to the food by soaking it in water. Fruits and vegetables may also be rehydrated in other liquids such as fruit juice, cider, vegetable juice, milk, and consomme. Refrigerate any foods soaking in liquids other than water or if the soaking process will take longer than an hour. Do not add salt, sugar, or seasonings during rehydration because they slow the rehydration process. The length of time it takes to reconstitute the food depends upon the size and shape of the food and the food itself. Most dried fruits can be reconstituted in eight hours or less.

A quicker method of reconstituting fruit is to pour boiling water over the dried fruit and let it soak until tender and the liquid is absorbed. Thinly sliced fruits may not need any soaking before using them in cooked dishes. One cup of dried fruit will yield about one and one-half cups of reconstituted fruit. Reconstituted foods should be cooked in the liquid in which they were soaking to save the water soluble vitamins. Dried fruits may be used as is as a snack, or larger pieces may be chopped and used in baked goods. Try dried fruits in cobblers, breads, pies, puddings, granola, gelatin salads, milk shakes, and cooked cereals.

One cup of dried vegetables will yield approximately two cups of reconstituted vegetables. To rehydrate and cook leafy or tender vegetables such as spinach, kale, cabbage, or tomatoes cover with hot water and simmer to desired tenderness. Soak root, stem, and seed vegetables such as carrots, peas, or corn before cooking. Cover with cold water and soak one-half hour to two hours, or cover with boiling water and soak twenty minutes to one hour. After soaking, simmer until tender.

Dehydrated vegetables are best used as ingredients for soups, casseroles, sauces, stuffings, and stews.

Other suggestions for using dried vegetables include using dried grated carrot in salads, carrot cake or coleslaw. Dried tomato slices can be crumbled over a tossed salad for extra crunch. Dried onion slices can be chopped in the blender for chopped onions or powdered for your own homemade onion powder. Tomato to sauce can be dried as a leather and powdered to be used as an instant soup, sauce, or paste.

Next week this column will answer questions about making jerky and fruit leathers.

Do You Suffer From Fibromyalgia?
When I was introduced to New Image I was 50 pounds over weight and suffered from fibromyalgia I was so depressed and in pain the majority of the time I was taking steroids and four other medications one of which made me so 'groggy' I could hardly get out of bed and another gave me ulcers I began taking New Image secretly because I thought my family would make fun of me After a month, I discovered I had lost eight pounds and seven inches Wow! Then it dawned on me, I was feeling better, the depression and pain were gone In two months I was off all medications "I feel SUPERIFIC!" Now, two years later I have lost 43 pounds and 30 inches Thank you New Image for giving me a new life again Judy Swift - Mt Washington KY

If you are looking for a recipe but can't find it, send your recipe request to Lou Ann Good, Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send a self-addressed stamped envelope. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible. Check your recipe to make sure you copy the right amounts and complete instructions for making the recipe. Sometimes we receive numerous answers to the same request, but cannot print each one.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address. You may also e-mail questions and answers to LGOOD.EPH@LNPNEWS.COM

QUESTION — A reader would like recipes for zucchini relish, hot dog relish and other relishes to can.

QUESTION — Susan Mineitsch is looking for a German apple cake recipe published in this column several years ago. The streusel, she remembers, stays at the top of the cake, instead of dropping down like some apple cake recipes she tried. The recipe she remembers requested buttermilk (not sour milk) and all-purpose (not cake) flour.

QUESTION — A fairly new homemaker wants recipes that are easy but taste wonderful to serve to guests. She would also enjoy any pointers to help entertain guests with ease.

QUESTION — Anna Bryan, Oxford, N.J., wants a recipe for pickled red cabbage.

QUESTION — A reader wants recipes to use end-of-season produce.

QUESTION — How about some recipes for dried apple slices and other ways to use an abundance of apples?

QUESTION — Readers would like recipes for preparing pumpkin and squash dishes to serve as a vegetable or main course.

QUESTION — A Leola reader wants a recipe to make homemade French vanilla coffee creamer.

QUESTION — A Leola reader wants a recipe to make beef gravy like that served with Salisbury steak in restaurants.

QUESTION — A reader from Lebanon wants a recipe for pizza sauce that tastes like the Ragu brand.

QUESTION — Penny Haber from Bucks County writes that for several years she has used a Victoria Squeezo Strainer to prepare her tomatoes for canning. She has also tried to use it to prepare strawberries and raspberries for jelly making but the proportions have turned out wrong. She would appreciate if readers who have successfully prepared fruit this way send instructions and the proportions of sugar, fruit pectin, and fruit they used.

QUESTION — Gail Silveira would like a recipe for a corn, shrimp soup, which she recalls had been printed in a previous issue. Anyone have the recipe to which she is referring?

QUESTION — Eva Burrell, Glen Gardner, N.J., wants to know how to make filet of beef on the grill by using wet newspapers and encasing meat in a paste made with kosher salt and water. Years ago, the Burrells used this method but can't remember exactly how it was done or the time required to cook per pound. This made the best filet of beef Eva has ever tasted and she would like to use it for several cookouts. If we do not receive a response to this within the next two weeks, we will assume our readers do not know the answer and drop the request.

QUESTION — Dave Wilder, Gladwyne, grows lingonberries in Berks County. He wants to know uses for this Old World fruit. The Latin name, Wilder writes, is Vacciniam vitis-idaea. Native varieties are sometimes called cowberry. If we do not receive a response to this within the next two weeks, we will assume our readers do not know the answer and drop the request.

ANSWER — A reader wanted a recipe for green tomato pie. Here is another one from Cheryl Figard, New Enterprise. The recipe is from a book called "Old Fashioned Tomato Recipes," which includes other green tomato recipes, by Bear Wallow Books.

Green Tomato Pie

1¼ cups sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon salt
5 tablespoons flour
4 cups sliced, peeled green tomatoes
9-inch pie shell and crust (for top)

Combine dry ingredients. Add lemon juice and sliced tomatoes. Mix until tomatoes are well coated. Pour into pie shell and cover with crust. Bake in 425-degree oven for one hour.

ANSWER — This is a recipe to use in-season apples.

Caramel-Nut Apple Pie

15-ounce package pie crust
¾ cup sugar
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
¾ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
1 tablespoon lemon juice
6 cups (6 medium) thinly sliced, peeled apples water
1 tablespoon sugar
½ cup caramel ice cream topping
¼ cup chopped pecans

Heat oven to 425 degrees. Prepare pie crusts as directed on package for two-crust pie using 9-inch glass pie pan.

In a large bowl, combine ¾ cup sugar, flour, cinnamon, salt, and nutmeg; mix well. Add lemon juice and apples; toss gently to mix. Spoon into crust-lined pan. Top with second crust; seal edges and flute. Brush top crust with water and sprinkle with 1 tablespoon sugar.

Bake at 425 degrees for 40 to 45 minutes or until apples are tender and crust is golden brown.

To serve, top each slice with 1 tablespoon topping and 1½ teaspoons pecans. Makes 8 servings.

ANSWER — Here is a recipe from Rosanna Taylor, Havre De Grace, Md., that may be just what you need to use in-season grapes.

Grape Juice

Wash and stem grapes (Concords preferred). Measure and to every 4 quarts grapes before cooking, add 1 quart cold water. Boil until soft. Remove from heat. When cool enough to handle, strain through a coarse cloth twice to extract juice. Measure again and to each quart juice, add 1 cup sugar. Place on heat and boil 10 minutes. Remove and bottle in canning jars. Process in boiling water bath for 15 minutes.

ANSWER — Here is a recipe to use sweet peppers. The same recipe can also be used to make hot pepper rings. Remove the tops, seeds, and membranes, and slice hot peppers crosswise. The person who submitted the recipe did not include her name, but she warns readers to always wear rubber gloves when working with hot peppers. She writes: "I'll never forget the first time I made hot pepper rings and hot pepper relish. I had a beautiful crop of assorted hot peppers. I was slicing, dicing, and layering pepper rings of different colors nicely into jars. I diced the red hot cherry bombs for relish. As I finished putting the lids on the jars, I started to feel the burn. My hands felt like they were on fire!"

Pickled Sweet Green Peppers

2½ pounds sweet peppers, sliced, seeded, and membranes removed
2 cups sugar
2 cups apple cider vinegar
2 cups water
½ teaspoon celery seed
½ teaspoon mustard seed
2 cloves garlic, crushed
1 teaspoon salt

In a medium-sized saucepan, boil peppers for 3 minutes. Drain. Pack into wide-mouth pint jars. Mix all remaining ingredients; bring to a boil; simmer five minutes. Pour over peppers, leaving ½-inch headspace; put on lids. Process in a boiling water bath. Pints — 10 minutes.

ANSWER — Melissa Lapp sent in this recipe to can green beans.

Dilly Beans

2 pounds trimmed green beans
¼ cup pickling salt
1 teaspoon dill seed or 1 fresh head per pint
1 bulb garlic, quartered
1 teaspoon cayenne pepper
2½ cups vinegar
2½ cups water

Pack beans into hot jars leaving ¼-inch headspace. To each pint, add ½ teaspoon cayenne pepper, 1 clove garlic, 1 head dill or seed. Combine remaining ingredients and bring to a boiling point. Pour hot over beans, leaving ½-inch headspace. Remove air bubbles. Cap. Process in water bath for 10 minutes.

Hans Herr House Plans Apple Festival 'Snitz Fest'

WILLOW STREET (Lancaster Co.) — On Saturday Oct. 5, the 1719 Hans Herr House and Museum in Willow Street hosts the 15th annual apple festival Snitz Fest.

This event celebrates the history of the apple in Lancaster County, where dried apples, or "snitz" and apple cider were mainstays of the traditional German settler's diet.

This year's theme is "The Harvest of Freedoms." The early Mennonite community had special reason to celebrate their life in Pennsylvania, as they had tremendous freedom of belief and practice as compared to their former life in what is now Germany and Switzerland.

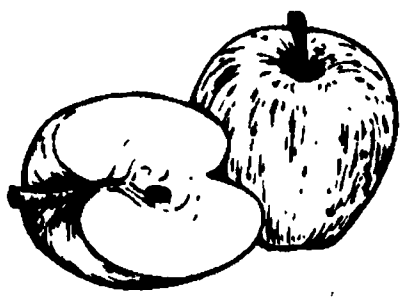
Visitors to Snitz Fest will be able to take a wagon ride tour of the museum's orchard of heirloom apple varieties and see apple cider pressing and apple butter making. Apples from the orchard may be sampled at the apple tasting table. Thanks to a good crop, a number of varieties will be available to taste, including Winter Banana and Sheepnose.

Children's games and other harvest activities such as corn shelling and sorghum pressing are also part of the day's events. Enjoy traditional Pennsylvania German recipes cooked at the hearth and bake oven. Taste the sausages smoked over an applewood fire in the museum's 18th century smokehouse, and take home a snitz pie, apple dumplings, or a jar of fresh apple butter.

Snitz Fest hours are from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Admission is $5 for adults and $1.50 for children ages 7 to 12; children younger than 7 are free.

The 1719 Hans Herr House and Museum, 1849 Hans Herr Drive, Willow Street, five miles south of Lancaster between US 222/PA 741 and Penn Grant Road.

For more information call (717) 464-4438 or see the museum Website, www.hansherr.org.



Harvest Days At Landis Valley Museum

LANDIS VALLEY (Lancaster Co.) — Landis Valley is pleased to present the 43rd annual Harvest Days: a celebration of Pennsylvania German life from 1740-1940.

The event takes place on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 12 and 13 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days. Voted Lancaster County's number 1 event, it is one of the biggest and longest running festivals of its type.

Travel back in time through 200 years of Lancaster County history. Visit the 1700s where you'll see a camp from the French and Indian War era and watch as logs are hewn, roof shingles and thatch are made, grain is flailed and straw is cut for bedding, all by hand.

Visitors will see and learn from over 80 demonstrations of traditional crafts and Pennsylvania Dutch harvest activities. The mule treadle will provide power for the grain threshing and corn grinding machinery when you see the improvements of the 1800s. Work that took place for generations including bean flailing, making apple cider and apple butter and spinning flax and wool for cloth will be ongoing.

Craftspeople from the blacksmith and wood worker to the seamstress and lace maker will be available to show and explain the intricacies of the vanishing crafts.

On Saturday, Oct. 12, from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m., author Ken Collins will be at the Weathervane, Landis Valley Museum Store, to sign copies of his recently published book "Covered Bridges of Lancaster County, Pennsylvania."

Also at the Weathervane on Saturday from 1 to 4 p.m., Debra Hill will demonstrate the art of rug hooking, with handmade rug hooking kits in many designs and sizes featured for sale.

Admission is $10 for adults, $8 for seniors, $7 for children ages 6-17, children under 6 free. Food and ample free parking will be available.

Landis Valley Museum is a nationally significant living history village dedicated to collecting, preserving and interpreting the history and culture of the Pennsylvania German community from 1740-1940. Landis Valley Museum is administered by the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission with active support from the Landis Valley Associates. It is located off Route 272/Oregon Pike, a marked exit off both Route 30 and Route 222. For more information, call (717) 569-0401 or visit www.landisvalleymuseum.org.

Consuming Thoughts

Home Economist for Berks Co.

Your herb garden may be drought-stricken, but early September rains may bring many herbs back to life to yield enough to harvest.

You probably have already been harvesting most leafy herbs during this growing season, and left enough of the plant to ensure further growth. Basil, mint, marjoram, rosemary, thyme and most others can be harvested in small amounts for immediate use by cutting the ends of stems. This type of clipping encourages branching, and will produce bushier plants. Chives, chervil, and parsley are exceptions, and should be cut off near the base of the stem rather than from the top.

The best time for gathering herbs is mid-morning on a sunny day; after the dew has dried, but before their essential oils have dissipated. After you cut the herbs, rinse them in lukewarm to cool water and pat dry with a towel. To keep the herbs fresh for use later in the day, place stems down in a glass of water.

It is especially important to harvest herbs for drying or freezing when their oils are at maximum concentration. Leafy herbs are ready when the flower buds begin to open; seeds when they change from green to brown; and herb flowers when fully opened. Leafy herbs should be cut half way down the stem, allowing for a second growth. At the end of the season, annuals can be cut to the ground, but some foliage should be left on perennial herbs. After rinsing and patting dry, the herbs, if they are long-stemmed, can be tied in small bunches, labeled, and hung upside down in a well-ventilated, warm (70-80) dark area. Hanging them inside a brown paper bag will suffice.

Flowers, seed heads, and herbs with short stems can be dried on a drying rack avoiding exposure to bright light. A window screen propped between two chairs will work, or a simple rack can be build of 1X2-inch boards and cheesecloth or screen. The herbs should be spread in a single layer, and turned each day, so they will dry completely.

It will take about two weeks for the herbs to dry depending on the weather. Foliage should be crisp before stripping from stems. Seeds enclosed in capsules should be removed and dried for an additional 7-10 days. It is possible to shorten the process to one day by drying the herbs in a dehydrator or in the oven, but the essential oils will be destroyed and the herbs ruined if they are dried at a high temperature. Less than 180-degrees for 2-4 hours is best.

Dried herbs should be stored in a cool, dry place where they are not exposed to direct sunlight. Ceramic, opaque glass, or metal containers are best for herb storage; paper and cardboard will absorb the oils. If clear glass jars are used they should be kept out of the sun to avoid bleaching of the herbs. Soon after the dried herbs are bottled, they should be checked to see if moisture has condensed inside the containers. If this happens, the herbs should be removed immediately and allowed to dry for a few days longer.

Many herbs-among them marjoram, chives, parsley, and tarragon-can be successfully frozen. Herbs to be preserved in this way should be rinsed and dried, but need not be blanched however, blanching basil helps to keep the older leaves form turning black. Place herbs in labeled plastic bags or boxes for freezing. Each herb may be frozen separately, or they may be combined in often-used mixtures. By harvesting herbs now, you'll enjoy top quality homegrown herbs throughout the year.

Prolong The Fun

Jack-o-lanterns quickly become mushy and moldy when the interior is exposed to air, allowing bacteria to grow rapidly.

Spray the inside of the pumpkin with a bacteria-fighting antiseptic spray. This will retard the bacterial growth.

Dear Twig: I found a giant green caterpillar on one of my grandfather's tomato plants. He said it was a hornworm. What can you tell me about it?

I can tell you it was either a tomato hornworm or a tobacco hornworm. Both are common in North America. Both get up to four inches long. And both like chomping tomato plants.

The tomato hornworm is the larva of the five-spotted hawk moth, Manduca quinquemaculata. It has eight curved white stripes on each side of its body and a straight black spike, or "horn," on its bum.

The tobacco hornworm is the larva of the Carolina sphinx moth, Manduca sexta. It has seven diagonal white stripes, and its horn is curved and red.

Sometimes you'll see hornworms with little white things on them. The white things are wasp cocoons! Small parasitic "braconid" wasps often lay their eggs on hornworms. The wasp larvae eat the hornworm's innards (yuck), then form cocoons when they're done. Eventually they kill the hornworm. This is good for gardeners but not for the hornworm.

Hawk moths and sphinx moths are also called "hummingbird moths." They're really good fliers. They hover while feeding on flowers. They look a lot like hummingbirds!

Ice Cream Sundae Serves 600

HARFORD (Susquehanna Co.) — Take 13 three-and-a-half gallon tubs of delicious ice cream flavors like cookies and cream, panda paws, maple walnut, peanut butter cup, chocolate marshmallow, cookie dough as well as America's favorite vanilla and pile on the chocolate syrup. Add strawberries, sprinkles, caramel, pineapple, M&M's, and peanuts. Top with a generous amount of whipped cream and a cherry.

This complimentary sundae was provided by the Susquehanna County Dairy Princess and her dairy ambassadors and dairy maids. Families totaling over 600 people stopped at the dairy arena at the Harford Fair to visit and "create the ice cream sundae of their dreams."

Speaking of ice cream, did you know? Each American consumes an average of more than 23 quarts of ice cream yearly. More ice cream is sold on Sunday than any other day of the week. America's favorite topping is chocolate syrup. It take approximately 50 licks to polish off a single scoop ice cream cone.

The ice cream sundae served at the Harford Fair was not a world record. The biggest ice cream sundae ever made was 12 feet high and made with nearly 5,000 gallons of ice cream and 7,000 pounds of toppings. Treat yourself and enjoy some ice cream today.

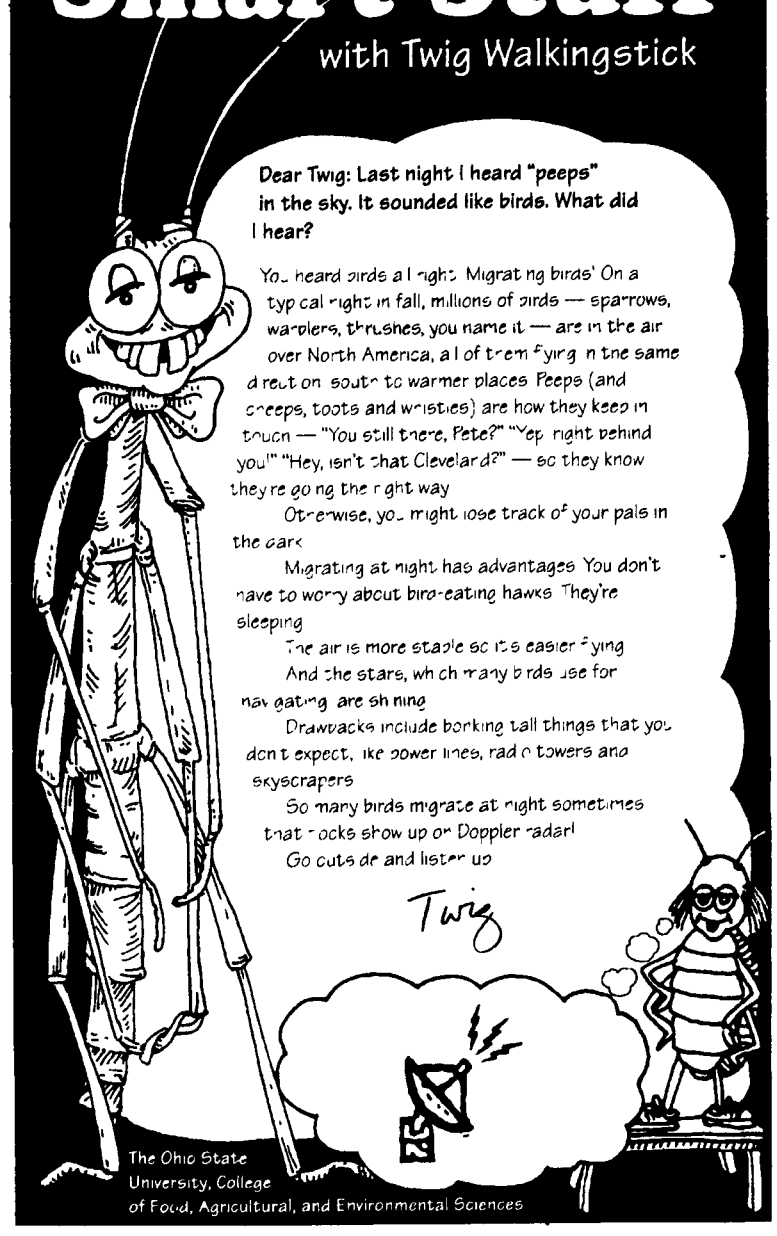
with Twig Walkingstick



Dear Twig: Last night I heard "peeps" in the sky. It sounded like birds. What did I hear?

You heard birds alright. Migrating birds! On a typical night in fall, millions of birds — sparrows, warblers, thrushes, you name it — are in the air over North America, all of them flying in the same direction, south to warmer places. Peeps (and cheeps, toots and whistles) are how they keep in touch — "You still there, Pete?" "Yep, right behind you!" "Hey, isn't that Cleveland?" — so they know they're going the right way.

Otherwise, you might lose track of your pals in the dark.

Migrating at night has advantages. You don't have to worry about bird-eating hawks. They're sleeping.

The air is more stable so it's easier flying.

And the stars, which many birds use for navigating, are shining.

Drawbacks include barking tall things that you don't expect, like power lines, radio towers and skyscrapers.

So many birds migrate at night sometimes that flocks show up on Doppler radar!

German Story, "Max and Moritz," Available In Dutch, English

KINZERS (Lancaster Co.) — "We often must — 'tis sad indeed — Of naughty children hear and read!"

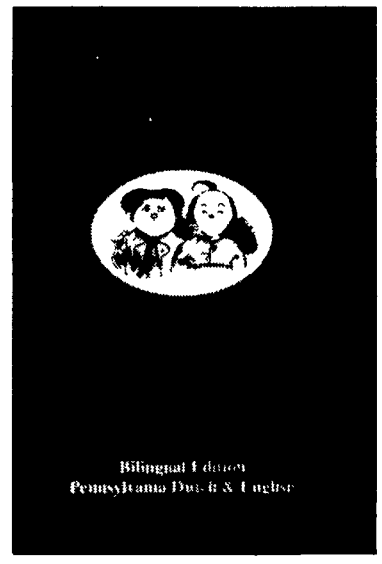
So opens the story of Max and Moritz, the two naughty characters in a classic children's story from Germany. Although all children would enjoy the story, the book would be especially interesting to children who know Pennsylvania Dutch, or are learning the language.

The book, "Hans un Yarick," or "Max and Moritz," combines poetry and cartoonish characters to tell the story and get its point — naughtiness does not pay — across to the reader.

The storyline has its beginnings in 1861 in Munich, and has endured until today. Not only do German adults and children know the "Seven pranks of two mischievous boys," but the story has been translated into more than fifty different languages.



In the 1940s two Pennsylvania Dutch poets, J. William Frey, and John Birmelin, translated the stories, and both Pennsylvania Dutch and English are together in this bilingual edition of the old story.

Max and Moritz, "Who, though supplied with wisdom's food, Would not be turned to what was good...." terrorize Widow Bolt's chickens, sabotage a footbridge, pack gunpowder in Doctor Whackem's pipe, release Mayflies into Uncle Fritz's bed, break into the bakery, and cut holes in the miller's sacks.

The characters were given their due at the end of the story, as "someone did affix An end to all such naughty tricks!"

Information about the book, priced at $9.99, is available at (717) 442-0220 or rarebooks@pobox.com.

Students learning Pennsylvania Dutch would benefit from the English and Dutch translations written side by side.

4-H HAPPENINGS

Susquehanna County Sizzlin' Steaks 4-H Club

The Sizzlin' Steaks 4-H Club members recently met at the Harford Fairgrounds to plant their beautification spot.

After planting and refreshments, several members presented demonstrations.

Brian Lockwood explained about different baseball pitches. Olivia Zick talked about dog obedience. Christina Zick told how to do rubbings.

Also, Bryce and Brandon Powers showed members how to load a flintlock muzzleloader. Junior Lockwood explained the difference between a longbow and a compound bow and Bradley Powers talked about motorcycles.

Ida's Notebook

by Ida Risser

Now that autumn has arrived, we must think of preparing for cooler weather. Adding an extra blanket on the bed or covering some plants at night helps adjusting to changing weather. Even though we have trees in our yard and lots of leaves, the wind blows them into the meadow. This saves us a lot of work.

The other week we spent an afternoon fishing. We did not have fresh worms but the fish ate them anyway. We kept the two biggest fish and had a nice meal from them. It is a lot more fun when the fish are biting as that keeps things lively. We did not take our boat as it is rather heavy to handle.

Most of our meals are eaten at home, but occasionally we do go away for a meal. We had a good chicken barbecue at a local retirement community. Landis Homes is built on my grandfather's farm. My mother was born there but grew up in the village of Oregon. It certainly would be a shock for Benjamin Landis if he could see what his farm has become. There is continual building as they grow to handle more people.

Sometimes people are amazed that folks our age would maintain a property and live alone. So many of our friends go to a retirement home when they are much younger than we are.

My husband's health does inhibit our style of living but we are hoping he improves after his operation. As he had relatives on both sides of his family, who lived to be more than 100 years old, he is hoping for a few more years.

My grandmother lived to be 77 years old and my mother lived to be 87, but I'm not really looking forward to be 97. Only time will tell what will happen.

Stream MAPS

The STREAM MAP OF PENNSYLVANIA was completed in 1965 after a thirty-year effort by Howard Higbee, a former Penn State Professor.

The map is known as the LOST STREAM MAP to some anglers.

Professor Higbee succeeded in creating a map of the highest detail possible...a map that shows every stream and lake. He painstakingly plotted by hand the location of 45,000 miles of streams onto a 3 by 5 foot map.

The map sold extremely well--until it was lost several years later. Incredibly, the printer entrusted with the original drawing and printing plates declared bankruptcy, then carelessly hauled Higbee's 30 years of work to a landfill.

The few remaining dog-eared copies became a prized fisherman's possession. Professor Higbee was offered $400 for one of his last maps. And state agencies were forced to keep their copies under lock and key.

Experts told Professor Higbee that reprints were impossible, because the maps were printed in non-photographic blue.

Then, in 1991, at the age of 91, Howard Higbee's dream came true. Computers made it possible to reprint the map. Howard said, "I never thought I'd live to see this day."

Why every angler and boater needs these maps

It is estimated that 10% of all the anglers catch 90% of the fish. Regardless of which group you fall into...there's a sure way to up your odds...simply try new fishing waters. Now, with this map you can find hidden streams and lakes.

Pennsylvania, New York, New England, New Jersey, Ohio and Maryland/Delaware are loaded with great fishing holes...many of them overlooked. Thousands of miles of streams, rivers and lakes are now easy-to-locate on one map.

The 3-foot-by-5-foot Pennsylvania map shows 45,000 miles of streams plus lakes. The 3 1/2-foot-by-4 1/2-foot New York map shows 65,000 miles of streams plus lakes. The 3-foot-by-4-foot New England map shows 36,000 miles of streams plus lakes. The 2 1/2-foot-by-3-foot New Jersey map shows 8,300 miles of streams plus lakes. The 3-foot-by-3-foot Ohio Map shows 29,000 miles of streams plus lakes. The 2-foot-by-3 1/2-foot Maryland/Delaware map shows 12,000 miles of streams plus lakes.

Professor Higbee's Stream Maps are the first and only highly detailed maps of their kind.

RAVE REVIEWS

"It is amazingly detailed and names some creeks in the Mohawk Valley that can't even be found on topographic maps."
—John Pitarres, OBSERVER-DISPATCH, Utica

"If you're looking for the most definitive maps ever created depicting every single creek, river, stream, pond and lake...then 'Professor Higbee's Stream Maps' are without question the finest."
—Howard Brant, THE NEWARK STAR-LEDGER

—Joe Gordon, TRIBUNE-DEMOCRAT, Johnstown

Apple Dumplings Music At Ephrata Cloister Oct. 12-13

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Ephrata Cloister will celebrate the Apple Dumpling Festival Oct. 12-13. Admission is free to the apple dumpling sales area.

Sunday will feature the music of the Ephrata Cloister with performances by the Ephrata Cloister Chorus in the historic meetinghouse at 2 p.m., 3 p.m., and 4 p.m. as part of regular admission to the historic site.

Sunday's performances of music will include original 18th century compositions by Conrad Beissel, found of Ephrata, along with other early American composers.

One of America's earliest communal societies, the Ephrata Cloister was founded in 1732 by German settlers seeking spiritual goals rather than earthly rewards. Gathered in unique European style buildings, the community consisted of celibate Brothers and Sisters, and a married congregation of families.

The lifestyle of the celibate members was characterized by strict discipline and self-denial. The community members became known for their music, calligraphy, and printing. Following the death of the last celibate member in 1813, the married congregation formed the German Seventh-Day Baptist Church.

Members continued to live and worship at the Cloister until 1934. In 1941 the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania acquired the historic site and began a program of restoration and interpretation. Today, nine original buildings are part of a 28-acre complex open for visitors. The Ephrata Cloister Associates, a non-profit group, provides support for the continued preservation and interpretation of the historic site, and operates The Museum Store at Ephrata Cloister.

The Ephrata Cloister is located in the Borough of Ephrata at 632 West Main Street (Route 322) at the intersection with Route 272. Admission is $7 for adults, $6.50 for senior citizens, and $5 for youth ages 6-17.

At Pageant 33 County Dairy Princesses Vie For State Title

to adapt to changes, and she thinks by then more technology based communication will used to present the message in different ways.

Courtney Johnson answered that she believes a lot of emphasis will be on technology. "And that society will recognize that the dairy industry is not a bunch of backward farmers as some portray us but that farmers have kept up with technology."

Rebecca Zimmerman said that she believes the future is based on the past and that farmers have been the foundation of the country and will continue so.

Rachel Ebert said that she will use her knowledge and technology to find the best way to promote the dairy industry.

When judges tallied the scores of the finalists with their on-stage presence and previous scores, Raechel was crowned state princess, Rachel Ebert was selected as First Alternate and Ashley Chapman as Second Alternate.

Raechel is the 17-year-old daughter of Douglas and Pamela Kilgore who farm 350-acres and milk 50 Holsteins in Airville. She has an 8-year-old brother Chris, and her sister Becky was a previous York County dairy princess who went on to become the 1999 state alternate.

Rachel is the 16-year-old daughter of Richard and Diane Ebert, who farm 395 acres and milk 75 Holsteins in Blairsville. Rachel has three younger brothers.

Ashley is the 17-year-old daughter of Mike Chapman, who owns and operates a milk hauling company, and Lori Pennock. Ashley lives next to her grandfather's 187-acre dairy farm where she keeps her 12 head of Holstein and Jerseys. Ashley has a 16-year-old brother.

Contestants voted Rebecca Zimmerman, Juniata County, as the most friendly and the one to receive the Miss Congeniality award. Rebecca, 17, is the oldest of the seven children of Marvin and Karen Zimmerman, Oakland Mills.

Scrapbook awards went to Maggie Moore, Mercer County, and Melissa Wolfe representing the SUN Area, which includes Snyder, Montour, Union, and Northumberland Counties. The scrapbooks illustrate the many different promotions that each princess fulfilled since her reign began in June or within a few weeks of that month.

Each year the Tina Shultz Memorial Award is given to the county dairy princess who is judged to have done the most outstanding job representing the industry in her county. The award is given in memory of the 1985-1986 Huntingdon County dairy princess who fought a losing battle with cancer while promoting the dairy industry.

This year the award went to the former state dairy princess, Rebecca Mowrer, who represented Huntingdon County. Rebecca, or Becky as she is most often called, said that after she assumed the state title she was determined to remain committed to her original goal to do the best promotion possible in her county. During her reign, she completed 604 local promotions in addition to state promotions. A junior in high school, she also maintained her academic rank as third in her class.

Second runner-up for the Tina Shultz Award went to Stephanie Biesinger of Armstrong County, who was recommended for her outstanding job in reaching the non-farming community.

In other business, Secretary of Agriculture Sam Hayes Jr., presented a check for $150,000 to Pennsylvania Dairy Princess and Promotion Services Inc. (PDPPS). The mission of PDDPS is to work with local county committees in promotional efforts to promote the sale and consumption of milk and dairy products, to train young people to serve as dairy promoters now and later become agriculture leaders, and to coordinate the selection and activities of the state royalty.

Junia Isiminger, executive director for PDPPS said, "Serving as a dairy princess is an honor and an education — equally beneficial to the contestant and the industry."

Judges for the two-day event included Diedra Harkenrider, Freeville, N.Y.; Marty Potts, Purcellville, Va.; Neal Linebaugh, Fairlawn, Ohio, and Richard Keen, Gilbertsville, N.Y.

Speech judges were Meghan Fullington, Syracuse, N.Y., David McCorkle, Camp Hill, Paul Semmel, Schnecksville. Scrapbook judges were Susan Kazanecki, Philadelphia, and Joyce Hershey, Cochranville.

Only one of the highly qualified contestants can wear the state crown, but all will continue dairy promotional efforts in the counties they represent for the remaining eight months of their reign.

One of the ways dairy princesses promote the dairy industry is by handing out recipes. Here is a recipe from the newly-crowned state dairy princess.

SHRIMP DIP

1 cup sour cream
2 teaspoons lemon juice
5-ounce package dry Italian dressing (use dry)
½ cup chopped shrimp

Blend together ingredients. Serve with vegetables or crackers. Serves 6.

Secretary of Agriculture Sam Hayes Jr. presents a $15,000 check to benefit the efforts of Pennsylvania Dairy Princess and Promotion Services, Inc. Accepting the check are Raechel Kilgore, Rachel Ebert, and Ashley Chapman.

Miss Congeniality is Rebecca Zimmerman from Juniata County.

Nutritional Study Shows Soda May Be Too Popular With Teens

BELTSVILLE, Md. — Got milk? Apparently many teenaged girls don't have enough. A new study by Agricultural Research Service nutritionist Shanthy A. Bowman, based on survey data, notes that milk consumption decreases as adolescent girls grow older.

Out of 732 girls aged 12 through 19 years, the 12-year-olds had the highest milk intake, with 78 percent drinking milk. The 12-year-olds also had the lowest soda intake—nine ounces on a given day.

Conversely, the 19-year-olds had the lowest milk intake, with only 36 percent drinking milk, and a high soda intake of 14 ounces a day. Those who did not drink milk at all had inadequate intakes of vitamin A, calcium, phosphorus and magnesium, the last three of which are most important for building strong bones.

The study is based on an analysis of dietary data taken from USDA's Continuing Survey of Food Intakes by Individuals for the years 1994-1996. The data are collected and managed by ARS, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's chief scientific research agency.

Another trend noted in the study is also of concern. Bowman analyzed data from staggered USDA Nationwide Food Consumption Surveys spanning four decades.

From the late 1970s to the mid-1990s, milk intakes for adolescent girls aged 12 to 19 years as a whole decreased by 36 percent, while intakes of sodas and fruit drinks nearly doubled. Although other beverages were also consumed, the mean soda consumption far exceeded that of other beverages.

At a time when school districts are reevaluating whether to continue offering sodas, the report urges school food-service providers to make low-fat and nonfat milk prominently available.

Bowman, with the ARS Community Nutrition Research Group, Beltsville, Md., is the author of the study, which appears in the September issue of the Journal of the American Dietetic Association.

4-H HAPPENINGS

Lancaster County 4-H Taking Part In Military Mailbag

The First of the 213th Air Defense Artillery battalion, based in Spring City, was deployed to Germany and other parts of Europe Aug. 1. Families across Lancaster County and other counties of Central Pennsylvania have been affected by this deployment.

In return for the soldier's valor and sacrifice, some area 4-H youths have decided to support these troops by writing letters of encouragement. They call this new program the "Military Mailbag."

Leif, Neil and Charlene Vestermark will be heading the committee overseeing the program. The letters will be sent to the men overseas to show them how we appreciate their noble courage to protect our freedom.

To help to write encouraging letters to our Keystone Soldiers overseas wishing them safe and speedy return home, contact Neil or Leif Vestermark at (717) 336-3152 or the 4-H office at (717) 394-6851.

Susquehanna County 4-H North Jackson Ag Club

The North Jackson Ag Club met Aug. 8. To get the meeting started the club said the American and 4-H pledges. Then Secretary Abby Onyon gave roll call and the secretary's report, and Beth Giangrecho, treasurer, gave the treasurer's report. Next old business was discussed. State days took place at Penn State University July 30 and August 1 and Dairy Round Up, August 3.

New business was discussed. August 10, the Scholarship horse show; August 12, a County Council meeting; and August 17, District Dairy show at Wyoming County fair grounds.

Next demonstrations were started. Joe Pipitone gave the first demonstration on turkey calls. Then Heidi Page, Kendal Miller, and Heather Pease explained to the club how to make a scrapbook. Next Dan Frechen did his demonstration on corn.

Steffany Schaffer showed the club pictures from her vacation out west and told a little bit about them, and Amber Schaffer explained to the club what tools are necessary for grooming a horse.

Jeremy Page, Adam Bailey, Anni Tabarrini, and Kyle Miller did their demonstration on how to weigh and measure the height of a cow. Coleen Boyanowski did her demonstration on vaccinations, and lastly Andrew Onyon did his demonstration on Masonry Construction.

The North Jackson Ag Club meeting took place July 28 at the home of Joe and Sandy Pavelski. After a picnic lunch, the meeting began with the American and 4-H pledges. Next Amanda Nowicki and John and Josh McAllister did a demonstration on horse safety. Stephanie Belcher did a demonstration on her crested ducks. Next Rachel, Brittany, and Krystal Chubirka did their demonstrations. Rachel did hers on her dog Scamp, Brittany did hers on her two guinea pigs, and Krystal read a report on Palominos that she wrote. Following Chelsey Saam did her demonstration on how to make rubbings. AJ Carey and Aaron Onyon gave the last demonstration. They did their demonstration on muzzleloaders.

York County 4-H Beef Club

The York County 4-H Beef Club met on July 29 for its first August meeting at the home of Walter and Nellie Laird. Members participating in the 4-H Olympics met early to paint T-shirts. The meeting was called to order by President Sarah Grim. Roll call was taken but not scored.

Under committee reports was a report on the club jackets. The jackets have been ordered and should be received for York Fair.

Beth Baer is working on the next community service project and more information will be available at the next meeting. The club banner committee met after the meeting to finalize the banner.

Everyone was handed a yellow sheet with the proposed changes for the rules and policies. There will a vote on the changes at the October meeting. Herman Hake gave a report on the 4-H Fair show committee. Jenn Schultz reminded members that she still needs pictures for the club scrapbook.

Under old business were the 4-H Fair Olympics.Everyone who would be participating at State Days stood up and said what contest they were entering. Members who went to the Regional Livestock Contest said how they placed. The 4-H cookie sales are still undecided.Under new business was a sing-up for banquet committees. Committees are needed for the Citation Award, decorating, program and welcoming. Sign-up sheets were passed around. After the meeting was adjourned, the members, leaders and parents enjoyed a tour through Walter and Nellie Laird's wild game room. The York County 4-H Beef Club meets on the first Monday of every month at 7:30 at the 4-H Center in Bair Station. For more information about the club or 4-H, contact Linda Spahr at the 4-H Extension office (717) 840-7408, or Dianna Shive, organizational leader, at 229-2755.

Bucks County 4-H Club Opens Community Garden

The Buffalo Soldiers 4-H Club recently celebrated the opening of Bethanna's Community Garden in Southampton. The Community Garden is a 4-H project located on the grounds of Bethanna, a Christian nonprofit child welfare agency.

The 4-H Club displayed a variety of produce and conducted tours of its organic garden for Bethanna employees and the community. As part of Bethanna's therapeutic services, 48 boys organized a 4-H club in January.

Crawford County 4-H Calf Essay Contest

Anyone between the ages of eight and 13, and willing to be involved in junior Holstein or 4-H in Crawford County, is eligible to win a registered Holstein heifer calf to be given by the Crawford County Holstein Club.

Contestants need to write, in their own words, an essay, of 100 words or less, why they would like to own a calf and how they would care for it. They also must be available for an interview with a panel of judges.

The boy or girl must breed the heifer to a registered Holstein bull. The first registered Holstein heifer calf must be given back to the Crawford County Holstein Club to be donated to another child.

Those interested should send an essay by Oct. 10 to Crawford County Holstein Club, c/o Eleanor Kalinowkski, 2013 State Highway 173, Cochranton, PA 16314.

Susquehanna County 4-H East Bridgewater Club

The East Bridgewater Community 4-H Club conducted a car wash and bake sale at the Ames Department Store in Montrose, Saturday, July 6. The money raised will help purchase flowers for the Harford Fair Beautification Project, and will also help cover expenses for other club projects and activities, such as the Memorial Day Float and the Blueberry Festival Jam Project.

The next monthly meeting will be a family picnic at the home of David and Renee Tyler. Members will bring a dish to pass.

Two members of the club participated in the annual Fashion Revue, at Lathrop Street Elementary School. Hanna Cronk placed first in the Junior Wearable Division, and Hilary Travis was one of four Senior participants chosen to attend the State level competition at Penn State University 4-H State Days July 31 through Aug. 2. Susquehanna County Paws And Tails 4-H Club

The Paws and Tails 4-H Club sent two teams to Penn State to compete in the Canine Bowl. One of their teams won second place. Susquehanna Team "Buddy" was the one that got second. On that team were Amber Johnson (Captain), Monica Turner, and Hilary Clarke. None of the team members have competed before and were surprised at how they did. At first they won each round until they went up against the two girls from Chester County. So, with a chance of winning still, they continued going. They won, until they went up against Chester County again.

The second team that Paws and Tails sent came in seventh place. This team was called: Susquehanna Team "Spike." On that team were Jennifer Young (Captain), Emily Ressequie, Heather Clarke, and Scott Johnson (also his first time competing). Even though they were out of the competition soon, "Spike" stayed happy and went on cheering for the other team.

Susquehanna County 4-H News Bits & Bosals 4-H Horse And Pony Club

The Bits and Bosals horse and pony club recently met at Judy Vanerson's house. First Felisha Schaffer, club secretary, took attendance. Then the club said the pledges. After Felisha Schaffer read the secretary's report, the club decided to do the candy bar fund-raiser later on in September. Next the club discussed the club trip then old business.

The club talked about Horse Camp, tack shops around the area, and the ethics program that all horse members must attend.

Northampton County 4-H Teens Attend Achievement Days

A team of 14 Northampton County 4-H teens attended Penn State Achievement Days this year. During State Achievement Days, 4-H teens have the opportunity to go to Penn State University for three days, experience life in the dorms, meet other 4-H teens from around the state, and show their skill in their 4-H area of specialty. Teens and chaperones from Northampton County 4-H joined over 1,000 teens from 4-H clubs around the state to participate in various events.

Northampton County 4-H members participated in archery Dustin Murray; riflery — James Ford and Joel Geiger; food and nutrition — Jennifer Hower, Diana Holder, Kristine Henn, and Nicole Kondziela; rabbit/cavy — Abbie Parmenter, Liz Baker, and Julie Jesiolowski; fashion revue — Jesica Knitter, Shelly Kneebone, and Jena Rutt; and presentations — Amber Buttner.

FFA makes it ReaL

Big Spring FFA Selected National One-Star Winner

The National FFA Organization recently selected the Big Spring FFA Chapter of Newville, as a one-star winner in the National FFA Chapter Award program. The chapter members have been invited to attend the 75th National FFA Convention in Louisville, Ky. Oct. 30 through Nov. 2, where they will be recognized for this honor.

The Big Spring FFA Chapter is one of 57 chapters selected from a pool of more than 500 candidates nationwide ranked as a one-star winner. The award program is sponsored by Cargill and Land O'Lakes Foundation as a special project of the National FFA Foundation.

You ask you answer

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know who to ask for answers.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

Or, you may e-mail questions and answers to LGOOD.EPH@LNPNEWS.COM

Please clarify what question you are answering when responding.

Do not send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a reply. If we receive the answer, we will publish it as soon as possible. Please include your phone number because we sometimes need to contact the person to clarify details. We will not publish your phone number unless you request it. However, if your question requires someone to mail items to you, you must include your address or phone number for publishing.

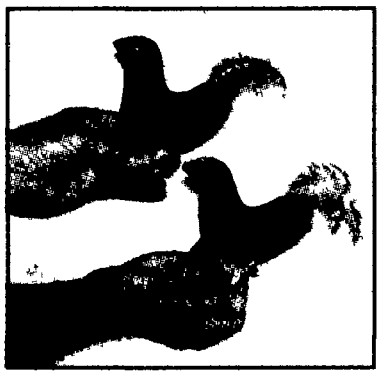
Minnichs Bid Farewell To Farm, Contents From Six Generations

LOU ANN GOOD
Food And Family Features Editor

LITITZ (Lancaster Co.) — "I was born here — 85 years ago," said Earl Minnich of a rambling white farmhouse.

It's a house filled with memories of the Minnich family — and a collection of items that dates back to 1867 when the farm was first purchased by a member of the Minnich family.

Every item and even the 100-acre farm is going to the highest bidder on Oct. 12.



These late 1800s sewing birds with real feathers were used as pin cushions.

Earl and Marian Minnich laugh a lot as they reveal bits and pieces of life in the past 85 years.

"I loved it all, but I'm just as glad to leave it," Marian said of the farm and the bakery business she started on the farm.

The couple married in 1946, moved into the family farm, and expected their life's vocation to be farming.

"We raised steers, pigs, potatoes, potatoes, and more potatoes," Minnich said of those beginning years.

They also sold dressed chickens, baked beans, and potato salad at a city market.

The couple recalled that two weeks after a baby was born, Marian was dressing chickens.

Marian dismissed people's astonishment at her ability to combine mothering and business by saying, "Dressing chickens — that's not much work. All you do is stand there."

Marian's passion was baking. She said, "I grew up making dinners for our family because my mother preferred working outside."

While attending market, Marian desired baking goods to sell but she said, "Another lady had a baked stand and I didn't want to offend her."

Finally Marian asked the lady if she would mind if she sold crumb cake. The lady graciously gave her permission.

"It took off from there," Marian said of her bakery business that expanded to five market stands.

"Oh, don't say that," his wife said, a bit embarrassed by the praise.

"It's true," Minnich said.

Evidently others people thought the same, for many competing businesses began, but Minnich's continues to thrive even today.

"Every store started their own bakery and deli," Marian said of the competition. Of her own ability to find popular-selling recipes, Marian said, "I had recipe books galore and tried recipes on my children. I guess you could say I used them as guinea pigs."

Marian recalls she worked a long time and went through many experiments before finding a chicken salad recipe that satisfied her.

"We had 8-10 ladies helping to bake," Marian said of those beginning years. "At lunchtime, we cleared the table and ate a cooked meal," — which Marian had prepared.

"It was one man with eight ladies, I'd say I was henpecked," Minnich complained good naturedly.

Some of the most popular bakery items were Moravian Sugar Cake, potato rolls, pickled watermelon rind, and lemon sponge and shoo-fly pies.

For many years, items were baked in the home kitchen, but eventually the Minnichs built a bake shop on the farm acreage and sold from there instead of going to market.

These stick sheep came from Germany in the late 1800s.

The bakery business thrived, and Minnich eventually had a neighbor farm the acreage because he was so busy helping with the bakery. It was his job to put the pies in the ovens, take them out, chop cabbage for creamed cabbage, and pick up supplies. In later years, companies delivered supplies.

"And they're all special," Minnich said.

They grew up helping in the kitchen, the bake shop, and with outdoor work. They often brought friends home for dinner. It wasn't unusual to have 32 at a table, and as many as 60. Eventually the children married and found other careers.

"When I was 65 years old, I wondered how I was going to get out of the market business," Marian said. She was pleased when Bill Cox, a family friend, offered to buy the bakery business. He continues to operate the bake shop on the farm, and the Minnichs continued to live on the farm until a few months ago when they moved to a retirement home.

Earl and Marian Minnich hold one of the first signs they used to market their baked goods.

Marian said she was glad for the months that enabled them to prepare for the sale at a slower pace. She said, "I'd take some things from the farm to our cottage, then decide I don't need it, and bring it back to sell."

The couple are amazed at the things they have amassed during their lifetime. "But many of these things we never used. They were just in our attic," Marian said of the accumulation of items from previous generations who lived on the farm.

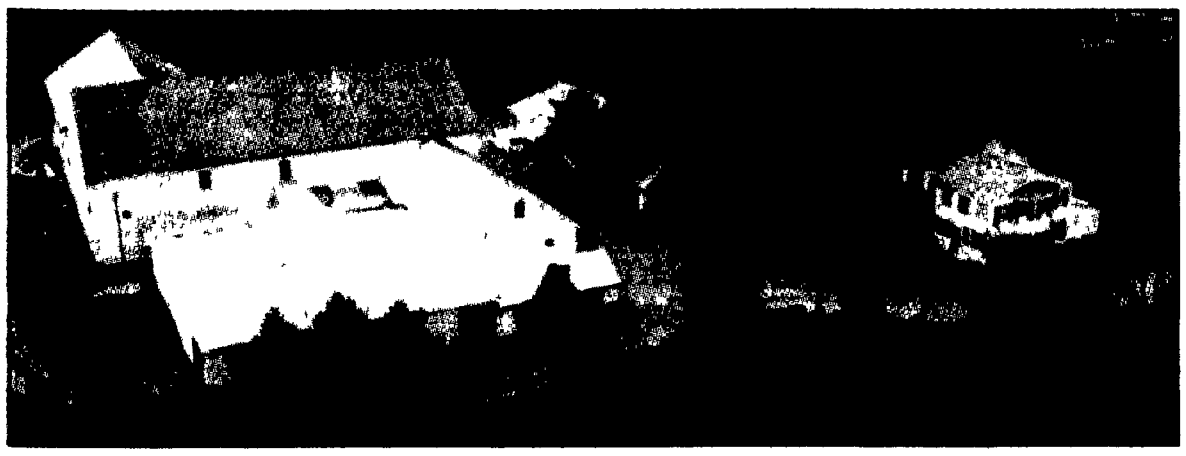
Some of the unusual items include dough risers from the 1800s, quilts handed down through the generations, sandstones, rye basket, agate coffee pot, and a 1920 commercial apple corer and peeler.

Of interest to those of the plain community is a large dove-tailed copper kettle that had been used in Kreider's Meeting House, Manheim. Other church items include communion ironstone bowls, foot washing tub, church pews, and a wooden turned pedestal leg communion table.

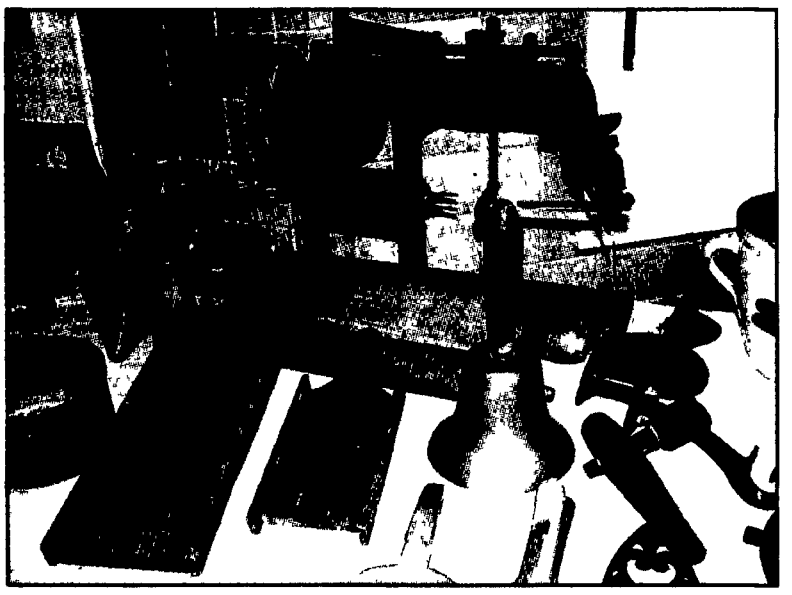
Crocks, old irons, Easter egg mold, butter scales with weights, brass bucket, coins, paper money, old toys, Winross trucks, and much more. Tractor, implements, tools, and equipment will also be sold in addition to furniture, and appliances.

The farm is said to have some of the flattest land and richest soil in the county.The Minnichs children and their spouses, 23 grandchildren and 23 great grandchildren gathered at the farm for a picnic recently. They plan to have a final picnic on the farm on the day of the sale. After everything is sold, they will sit beneath the tents and reminisce.

The Minnich farm is located at 87 Green Acre Rd., Lititz.



If the farm was an item, it would qualify as an antique. The farm dates back to 1867, when it was purchased by Minnich family members.



Here are some of the kitchen items that the Minnichs either used or found in their attic stored there by previous owners of the Minnich family.

THE ANTIQUE DETECTIVE

Anne Gilbert

Authentic Russian icon of the Mother of God of Kazan, in gilded silver frame with seed pearl robe and paste stones. Tempera on panel is 17th century. Cover, early 19th century. Photo credit: A La Vielle Russie, 781 Fifth Ave., New York, N.Y.

Telling If Icons Are Really Old

There was a time when Russian icons, depicting the Virgin Mary, Christ and the saints, were among the most popular items at auction. Prices kept going up from the 1970s to 1980. Today, when they make a periodic auction appearance, they are looked at with a skeptical eye, with good reason.

Icons are usually thought of as Russian. However, they were made in Greece and wherever Orthodox Christianity was practiced. Serbia, the Middle East, Rumania, Bulgaria, and the Ukraine all had icon painters. Icon painting originated in Byzantine Greece. Icons done for the church were often 10 to 12 feet tall.

Sometimes they were placed on the pillars or walls of a church. Household icons were much smaller and were hung on walls. They were painted by monks and specially trained artists.

But for the Bolshevik Revolution of 1917 the icons might never have left Russia. As it was, the Russians who escaped to America brought the home icons small enough to carry. They were sold here to help their owners economically survive. With religion officially dead in Communist Russia, during the 1920s and early 1930s, icons were exported.

During World War II Russian policy changed back and forth until in the late 1950. Once again icons were allowed to be exported. Not until the 1960s were they seriously collected by the general public in America and Europe as an art form. However wealthy collector, George R. Hann had discovered that they could be bought inexpensively back in 1935. He opened the George R. Hann Collection in his own museum in 1938. He had had the collection authenticated by a so-called Russian expert who had fled Russia.

By 1980 icons were being eagerly collected by Americans. And, heavily faked and reproduced. However, a 1980 Christie auction of the Hann collection changed the icon market. The collection sold for a record $2.8 million. However, a few months after the sale, Vladimir Teteriatnikov, a Russian emigre' and specialist icon appraiser, published and circulated a document to museum's and collectors stating he was about to publish a book proving that the Hann collection for the most part, consisted of fakes.

After many lawsuits had been filed against Christies, money was returned to disgruntled buyers.

CLUES: Sometimes it takes a long time for news to filter down to the average collector.

Detective

century icons at antique shows around the country. Some still do.

Authentic old icons were usually placed near or on a fireplace mantel, where they became blackened by smoke over the years. Guess what? These days they are chemically blackened. Also, if recently made, they will smell like new wood. Some icons had metal (sometimes silver or gold) surrounding the paintings of the religious images. These are known as riza or oklad. Only the heads and hand showed through the cut out metal.

Up until the 19th century full figures were painted under the metal covering. However, by the early 20th century artists no longer painted the full figure.

Only the parts that showed. From then on transfer prints were used.

An important clue to age is the way the wood or canvas was prepared. In an old icon there would be layering, beginning with white priming, sometimes laid over with a fine cloth or a gold leaf background. This was then painted with tempera colors, mixed with yolk of eggs and diluted with a fermented drink made from rye bread or fruit. Finally, the piece was varnished with boiled linseed. Over the years the paint flaked off showing the layering. Be wary of so called restoration that has removed such clues.

Fine, new icons are being made and sold as new. They are worth considering.

American Farmers Rebut European 'Myths' About Biotech Crops

SAINT LOUIS, Mo. — American farmers have dismissed as ludicrous claims that many of them are against the use of biotechnology in agriculture.

"Various pressure groups and some media are hoodwinking the [European] public by making unsubstantiated assertions about U.S. farmers' adoption of biotechnology," said Kimball Nill, Technical Issues Director of the American Soybean Association. "Their random statements are ludicrous, untrue, and deliberately misleading," he said.

Nill spoke recently at the launch in London, England of an interim report produced by nine major U.S. farm groups on the positive contributions of biotechnology and genetically modified (GM) crops to American farming.

"Farmers in the United States are well aware of the debate in the European Union (EU) over the adoption of biotechnology, and of the many issues and controversies surrounding it," Nill said. "U.S. farmers are also aware of the myths and misinformation fueling much of the discussion that has led to misunderstandings and falsehoods about the use of technology and the advantages it could bring to all."

The report, "Let the Facts Speak for Themselves," is designed to set the record straight by drawing on the knowledge and experience of farmers and numerous scientific and economic studies, correcting many commonly held assumptions about the adoption of biotech crops in the U.S.

The interim report makes the case for how the vast majority of crops used worldwide are the product of genetic modification and selection that has taken place for centuries, and that today's use of biotechnology is simply extending plant breeding techniques which have been used for the past 100 years. The report is available at http://www.tomorrowsbounty.org.

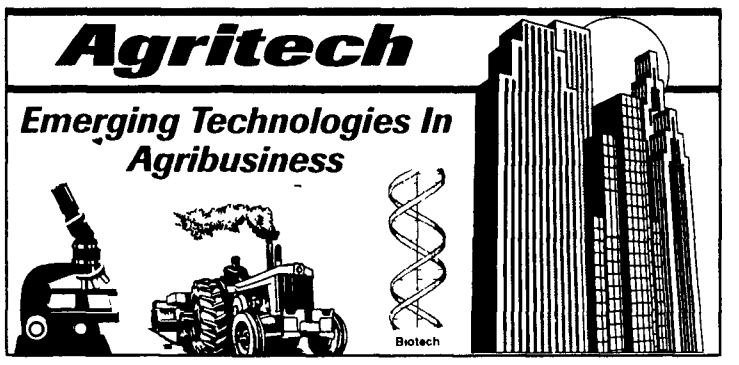
The report reiterates a list of factoids unverified or inaccurate information presented as factual and accepted as true because of frequent repetition — and sets out scientific and other evidence refuting these "myths."

The report attacks the statement that widespread growing of GM herbicide-tolerant crops has harmed the environment and says that, far from causing harm, herbicide-tolerant crops have transformed much of U.S. agriculture by reducing the need to plow the land. Thanks to reduced tillage practices, soil erosion is minimized, soil health and water retention is maximized, less carbon escapes from the soil to contribute to global warming gases in the atmosphere, and there is a considerable reduction in the amount of tractor fuel required for field operations.

Speaking at the publication of the report, the chairman of the United Kingdom's (UK's) Commercial Farmers Group, Henry Fell, who chaired the event, said, "It is important to present all sides of the argument. Momentum for biotech crops has become unstoppable — at least globally. Where does this leave the UK in particular and the EU in general?

"The truth is that we are being left behind. Investment in science and biotechnology is being cut. With our farming industry in the state that it is, we need all the help that we can to ensure that we have a viable farming and rural industry. We must learn from what is happening in the rest of the world and benefit from their experience and advances in technology," Fell said.

The report has been endorsed by major farmer organizations of the United States, including American Agri-Women, American Soybean Association, National Chicken Council, National Corn Growers Association, National Cotton Council, National Milk Producers Federation, National Potato Council, National Turkey Federation, and the United Soybean Board.



Bobcat® A300 All-Wheel Steer (AWS)

with Vertical Lift Path

Two Machines in One!

Go from all-wheel steer to skid-steer at the flip of a switch!

All-Wheel Steer Mode
This revolutionary compact loader has four steerable axles. That means less tire wear, less ground disturbance.

Skid-Steer Mode
Flip a switch and you get all the advantages of a skid-steer. The A300 maneuvers in tight spaces, turns within its own length, delivers high performance day-in, day-out.

Vertical Lift Path
The new lift arm design delivers superior lift height (126.4 inches), reach (34 inches), dump angle (41.9 degrees) and excellent visibility for easy truck loading.

Ohio Ag Economist Says, Droughts Have Few Financial Impacts On Crop Farmers

COLUMBUS, Ohio — A drought may make a growing season seem pretty ugly for a grower — affecting crop performance that impacts production, shrinks yields and ultimately creates economic problems.

But the weather occurrence, as it impacts the farming sector overall, causes little, if any, financial hardships to crop farmers as a group, except when it comes to government payment losses, says an Ohio State University agricultural economist.

"The conventional wisdom is that droughts are bad for crop farmers. There's no question that if you happen to be the farmer at the center of a drought, it's a bad year," said Carl Zulauf. "But while clearly acknowledging that farmers at the wrong end of the drought distribution are negatively impacted, droughts do not tend to cause financial hardship for farmers as a group except for the loss of government payments."

Zulauf analyzed over 30 years worth of data correlating droughts and market cash receipts (price times production) and found that during years of drought, market prices increase at the national level by an amount that offsets declines in yields and production.

So, although production declines in drought situations, an increase in market prices makes up for the decline so that producers' cash receipts from the market barely changes and may even increase. For example, USDA's May supply and demand report predicted market cash receipts to corn producers of $19.4 billion (forecasted price times forecasted production). In the August report, market cash receipts were predicted to be $22.2 billion, a 15 percent increase, even though production was estimated to have dropped by 11 percent from May.

"Why?" asked Zulauf. "Because the percentage increase in price exceeded the percentage decrease in production." Corn prices in August were projected to be $2.50 a bushel for the forthcoming crop year compared to the $1.95 season average projected by the USDA in May.

The same holds true for soybeans. Soybean cash receipts were predicted in May to be $12.7 billion and in August the number was at $14.7 billion, a 16 percent increase, although production was predicted to be eight percent lower than in May. Projected prices in August were $5.60 a bushel compared to $4.45 three months earlier.

Though it does not appear that growers as a group are worse off financially during drought situations based on cash market receipts, one thing that does economically impact farmers negatively are the loss of government payments tied to marketing loan rate and target prices, said Zulauf.

"In times of drought, these government programs create a risk for farmers that probably would not exist if the programs did not exist," he said. "What causes the risk is that, as market prices rise, loan deficiency payments and counter-cyclical payments decline. Farmers expected to receive these when they made planting decisions. While higher prices mean more revenue from the market, it means less from the government. And government revenue usually declines more than market revenue increases."

For example, including loan deficiency payments and counter-cyclical payments that were expected by farmers in May means that total gross income of U.S. corn producers actually decreased by five percent, from $23.4 billion to $22.2 billion. Total gross income of U.S. soybean producers also decreased by five percent from $15.5 to $14.7 billion. Based on the August report, loan deficiency payments and counter-cyclical payments are expected to be zero.

Thus, government programs that are designed to help farmers actually create a systemic or market-wide risk when a drought occurs. In essence, the government program removes the natural hedge or correlation between per unit revenue and yield.

"The creation of this systemic risk is an economic explanation for why Congress passes ad hoc disaster assistance when a drought occurs," said Zulauf. "However, the creation of this systemic risk also raises questions about the efficacy of loan and deficiency programs. We should be designing programs which remove this negative impact."

While most of the attention has been focused on how the drought is affecting crop producers, Zulauf said that livestock producers are being hurt by the drought.

"The average U.S. livestock producer is being negatively impacted by the drought because the cost of feed has increased, which reduces their bottom line," he said.

Ohio livestock producers are being affected more than the average U.S. livestock producer because feed availability is being cut more here than in the United States. For example, in its most recent crop progress report USDA rated 68 percent of Ohio's pasture fields as poor to very poor compared to 21 percent at this same time last year. In contrast, USDA rated 49 percent of U.S. pasture and range land as poor to very poor in 2002.

"Ohio farmers got a lot of first crop hay but the quality was poor because of too much rain. Later cuttings have been curtailed by drought across many areas of Ohio," said Zulauf. "Depending on where they are located and how severe their situation is, Ohio livestock producers are going through some very difficult times."

Susquehanna County Board Seeks Farms for Land Preservation

MONTROSE (Susquehanna Co.) — Applications are now available for the 2003 farmland preservation program. The Susquehanna Country Agricultural Land Preservation Board created in 1989 administers the program to purchase agricultural conservation easements from landowners in the county.

To date 17 farms containing a total of 4,068 acres have been preserved in Susquehanna County. The Board is currently working with one additional farm to become part of this county program.

Local funding comes from an annual allocation by the Susquehanna County Commissioners. These county funds are matched by the State Bureau of Farmland Protection, which also awards grant money to counties.

To be eligible, farms must be located in an agricultural security area and contain at least 50 percent of soils in cropland or pasture which are class I through IV soils. The farm must generate or be capable of generating annual gross receipts of at least $25,000.

Program applications will be accepted between November 1, 2002 and January 15, 2003. Each application is ranked against all other eligible applicants. A farm's rank is based on the quality of farmland, stewardship, and the likelihood of the conversion of the farm to non-agricultural uses.

For an application and/or more information, contact Evie Goff at the Susquehanna County Cooperative Extension office in Montrose, phone 278-1158; or one of the board members. They board members are: Dewey Lyon, Jim Frystak, Byron Hunsinger, Clarence Smith, Eleanor Kurosky, John Benscoter and Rob Strait.

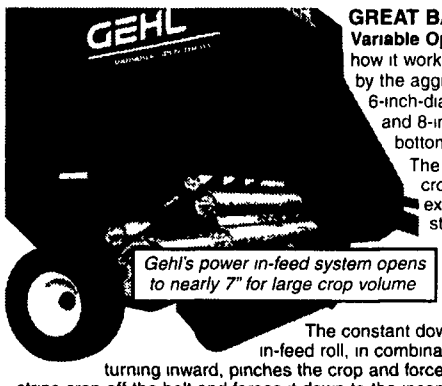
SPECIAL OFFER FOR NEW 4X5 WET HAY BALER
GEHL. MODEL RB 2580 ROUND BALERS
Featuring the ALL-NEW Variable Open-Throat Power In-Feed System



Gehl's power in-feed system opens to nearly 7" for large crop volume

GREAT BALING STARTS HERE
Variable Open-Throat Power In-Feed System Here's how it works The incoming crop is pulled off the pickup by the aggressive action of two power in feed rolls – a 6-inch-diameter pivoting power in-feed roll on top and and 8-inch diameter fixed power in feed roll on the bottom

The top pivoting power in feed roll rides over the crop as it is pulled into the bale chamber An extension spring keeps the toproll under constant downward force

The spring tension increases as the variable throat opens from a minimum of 3/4 of an inch up to a maximum opening of nearly 7 inches

The constant downward force of the pivoting upper powered in-feed roll, in combination with the fixed lower in-feed roll both turning inward, pinches the crop and forces it into the bale chamber The stripping roll strips crop off the belt and forces it down to the incoming crop Adjustable scrapers on the stripping roll and pivoting roll eliminate buildup

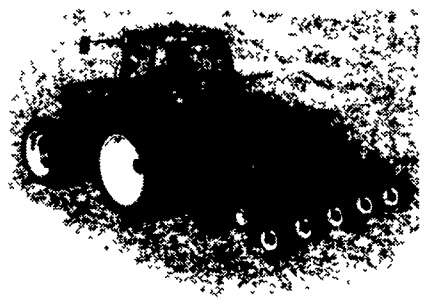
Put the Case-DMI Ecolo-Til 2500 Advantage to Work for You

- ➤ Controls Compaction
- ➤ Increases Water Absorption and Air Exchange
- ➤ Provides Warmer Soil in Spring for Earlier Planting
- ➤ Achieves More Uniform Crop Germination
- ➤ Greater Yield and Profit Potential



Hoober has Case-DMI ecolo-til 2500 units in stock from 3-9 shanks.

VOICES FROM THE FIELD

"In one of our low-lying fields, the water was staying on top and not getting through the hardpan. We had about an 13" barrier to get through, so we ran the DMI Ecolo-Til 2500 subsoiler and shattered that barrier. That land is really productive now, where it wasn't before."

Donald Burkholder
Pleasant Acre Farms, Bernville, PA

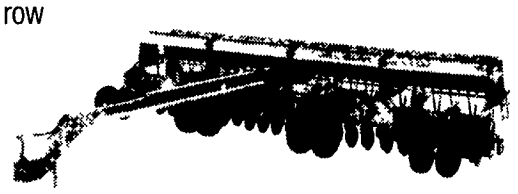
One Machine Does it All

The Great Plains Precision Seeding System...

- Plants corn, soybeans and wheat with a single machine! You can also plant twin row corn and harvest with your standard 30" corn header.
- Available in End Wheel, 3-Point and Folding models ranging from 15' through 30' working widths
- Features patented SingulatorPlus Meter mounted just above the ground on Great Plains exclusive Ultra-Narrow Row Unit. Each seed is metered just above the ground to ensure accurate spacing and placement in the furrow.

- Allows you to switch row spacing by simply removing a pin and shutting off the desired meters.



Great Plains Drills Now In Stock From 10' to 30'

Ready for Winter Wheat and Barley!

Handles your biggest spreading jobs

The New Holland Model 195 box spreader is up to your biggest spreading jobs.

- Capacity. The "195" takes on 410 bushels (440 cu. ft.) without flinching
- Strong construction. Corrosion-resistant steels last and last. And an HDPE floor means smooth unloading, even in cold weather
- Bonded Protection warranty. If the polyethylene floor fails or the sides rust, you'll get new ones FREE for 12 years
- Fast clean out... even with this big-capacity strong box
- Large tandem oscillating wheels... allow faster ground speeds in rough terrain, with less ground compaction

GEHL

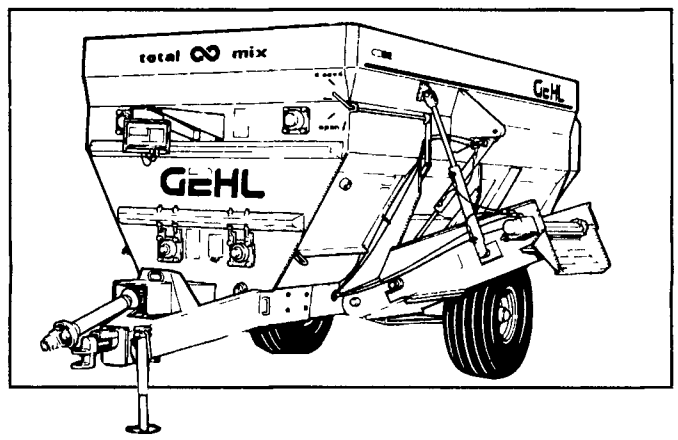
GEHL DELIVERS HIGH SPEED PERFORMANCE AND MORE RELIABILITY, TOO!

Gehl disc mower conditioners feature a simple drive system with fewer moving parts to power both the cutterbar and conditioning rolls from a single gearcase New cutterbar design delivers consistent performance in the toughest crops and conditions Full-width skid shoes and the patented Protectadrive™ system protect cutterbar gears Disc drive assemblies are individually removeable for quick servicing
Wider rolls provide more consistent conditioning while Gehl's unique forming chamber delivers fast-drying higher-standing, fluffier windrows or full-width swaths

TMR "Total Mix" Mixer Feeders



"Total Mix" TMR mixer feeders let you mix more long-stemmed hay into your ration - up to 30% by weight depending on hay type and moisture content.

- "Hay - slicer auger" - Incorporates knife assemblies into the two bottom augers
- Better mixing action - Four-auger design creates a double figure - 8 mixing pattern for fast and complete mixing of all feed ingredients.
- Energy efficient - Planetary drive system requires less horsepower
- Built to last - Patented star couplers absorb shock loads by allowing the bottom augers to flex, providing long service life
- Five sizes - 150 to 455 cubic feet capacities

CLUTCHES/GEAR REDUCTION ASSEMBLIES

Our Specialty
We stock them, stock the parts, pinions, gears, bearings, seals & gaskets, splined out puts, shafts, housing adaptors/reducers, and pilot bearing holders. With little or no changes, these new clutch/gear reduction assemblies could fit your gas or diesel engine - 50-100hp. Five different gear ratios

A valuable link between your engine and power take-off shaft equipment.

CLUTCH / 5.8:1 Planetary Gear Reduction Assemblies

For 8-30 HP

Engines
Fits most — Honda, Robin, Kohler, Kawasaki, others (1-2 cyl.)

- Fits most standard crankshafts – 1", 1⅛", 1Ⅶⅇ"
- Aluminum Castings/Housings
- Ball & roller bearings, hardened gears

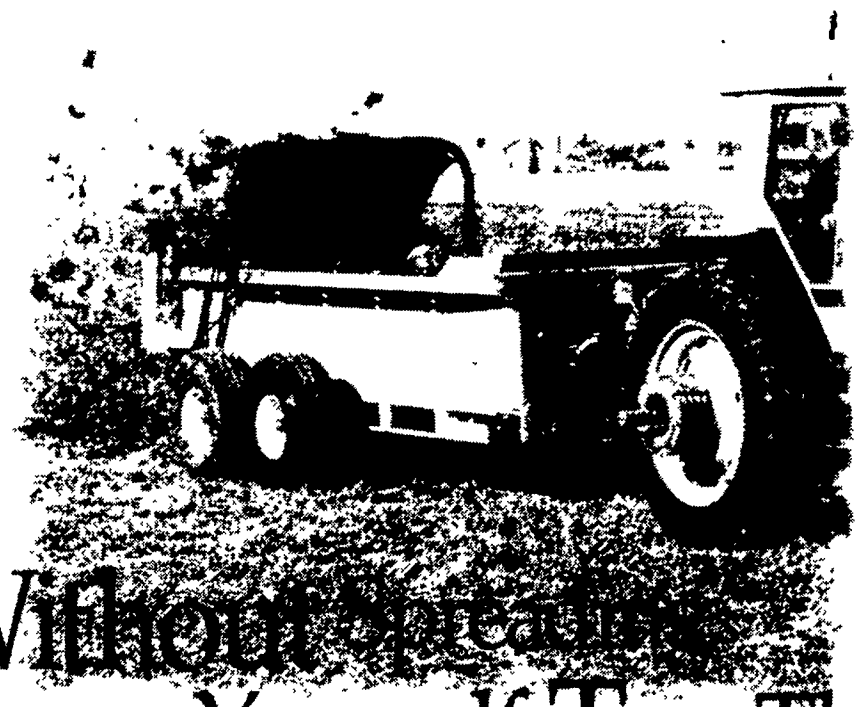
Match A Spreader To Your Needs



Without Spreading Yourself Too Thin

Get Unmatched Flexibility At A Great Price.

With eight sizes to choose from and a wide variety of options, it's easy to see how the New Idea® 3700 Series Spreaders meet the needs of any operation Their aggressive, main beater paddles are strategically spaced and angled to shred a wide range of material while giving you a consistent spread pattern.

Culvert-grade galvanizing over one-piece, copper-bearing steel sides provide a barrier against rust and corrosion And for hauling long distances, the truck-mount option proves to be the safest, most economical way to transport large amounts of material

To see how simple it is to customize your spreading operation, contact your AGCO® New Idea dealer today You'll be surprised how much time and money you'll save with the New Idea 3700 Series Spreaders.

Suzuki QuadRunner ATVs may be used by those aged 16 and older. Suzuki highly recommends that all ATV riders take a training course. We'll even pay for it. For safety and training course information, see your dealer or call the SVIA at 1-800-887-5344. ATVs can be hazardous to operate. For your safety, always wear a helmet, eye protection and protective clothing. Always avoid paved surfaces. Never ride on public roads. Never carry passengers or engage in stunt riding. Riding and alcohol or other drugs don't mix. Avoid excessive speeds. Be extra careful on difficult terrain. Along with concerned conservationists everywhere, Suzuki urges you to "TREAD LIGHTLY" on public and private land. Preserve your future riding opportunities by showing respect for the environment, local laws and the rights of others when you ride.

Suzuki quadrunner 4 x 4 s may be used by those aged 16 and older. Suzuki highly recommends that all 4 t v riders take a training course. We'll even pay for it. For safety and training course information see your dealer or call the SVIA at 1-800-852-5344. ATV's can be hazardous to operate. For your safety, always wear a helmet, eye protection, and protective clothing. Always avoid paved surfaces. Never ride on public roads. Never carry passengers or engage in stunt riding. Riding and alcohol or other drugs do not mix. Avoid excessive speeds. Be extra careful on difficult terrain. Along with concerned conservationists everywhere, Suzuki urges you to "TREAD LIGHTLY!" on public and private land. Preserve your future riding opportunities by showing respect for the environment, local laws and the rights of others when you ride.

Turning On A Dime:

Kenney's Quarter Horses Set The Pace In Barrel Racing

ZIEGLERVILLE (Montgomery Co.) As the name suggests, at Racer's Edge Quarter Horse Farm, speed is paramount.

Not just straightaway speed, however. Twisting, agile quick thinking, tight-corner turning speed.

Top barrel racers have been bred and raced under Dianne Kenney's care on the Montgomery County farm since 1974 when Dianne and her parents, Ted and Ellen, moved to the farm from Audubon for the acreage to house their animals.

The barn that stands behind the horse not only houses up to nine horses but also boasts a practice barrel racing arena. The Starting Line 4-H

The Kenney family began their involvement in the horse world almost by accident nearly 30 years ago. Dianne, through participation in 4-H received a Palomino for her 12th birthday, a horse which carried her and four other 4-H ers to state championships. "They placed every time," said Dianne's mother Ellen.

After showing in the pleasure classes for six months, her father who attended a show with her noticed the excitement and competition surrounding the timed events and asked Dianne about the contests. He later entered Dianne in a timed event where she placed fourth in her first showing. From then on she said she just "stuck to" the sport.

Racer's Edge Horses

The Kenney family started their stables by simply buying a second horse to keep the first one company. Then "they (more horses) just started coming," said Dianne.

The stable's horses, starting with the Palomino mare, have moved up in quality with the level of competition. Dianne now participates in Barrel racers start at $15,000 said Ellen.

The farm now hosts up to nine Quarter Horses and has been home to many of the top barrel racing horses in the country. In 1981 for example their horse was the high point barrel racing mare of the year.

Precocious Sugar named Outstanding Horse of the World in 1993 by the World Equine Research Institute helped to launch Dianne into the top echelon of barrel racing. Dianne purchased the horse in Texas in 1982 when the horse was five years old and already running barrels. Later, when the horse was retired to become a broodmare Dianne had bred since Quarter Horse semen was not allowed to be shipped. That restriction that has since been overturned.

Now one of the horse's foals -Black Cobra Jet or CJ out of Jet of Honor, a top barrel racing sire is one of Dianne's two current racers.

Another Jet of Honor son CDF King of Honor "or Rusty" as Dianne calls him, goes to shows each weekend along with CJ. The two five year

Clinic Focuses On Understanding Trailer Loading

ROCKSPRING (Centre Co.) — Consistency, patience, and remaining calm are keys to properly training a horse to calmly enter and exit a trailer, said Brian Egan, horse program assistant for Penn State Cooperative Extension who conducted a clinic at Ag Progress Days in August.

Egan uses a pressure-and release, please and-thank you system of getting the animal to make a right move.

For instance Egan will lightly tap the horse's hindquarters with a whip until the animal takes a step toward the trailer then stop tapping as soon as the animal takes a step. Egan is careful to stop tapping as soon as the animal does one not 1,000 steps, he said.

Although the clinic was titled Understanding Trailer Loading, Egan said I like to think of it more deeply than that.

First Woman U.S. Olympic Team Member Still In Horse Business

CHESTER SPRINGS (Chester Co.) — Marjorie and Harry Gill have a long-running history with horses. Quality horses. Show stopping horses. Winning horses.

Together Harry and Marjorie Gill have owned and trained some of the world's best jumping horses. In addition Marjorie was the first woman member of the U.S. equestrian team in Olympic history.

She is passing on her varied experience in the horse world by giving dressage demonstrations in the farm's ring for those interested in the sport.

Now on Larkspur Farm are several friendly animals that respond quickly to Marjorie Gill's treatment and ever ready carrots, as they obviously are used to her presents and touch.

"The horse must be loose not stiff and that must be learned," she said. They must develop a

Marjorie Gill, who has longtime experience with horses, has enjoyed getting to knew the "Nakota" breed of horses found in South Dakota. This uniquely-marked horse is called an "overo," a dark horse with its white markings not going over its back.

19 States Awarded Development Grants

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Agriculture Secretary Ann M. Veneman announced today $5 million in economic development to strengthen rural communities in 19 states, as part of the Bush Administration's ongoing commitment to invest and bolster programs for rural America. The funding will assist cooperatives in facilitating the retention of rural jobs through the development of cooperatives in rural areas.

"Utilizing cooperative ventures to bring new economic opportunities to rural areas is an important part of creating new jobs in rural America," said Veneman. "These grants will give rural residents the opportunity to expand and improve local businesses and economies."

The cooperative development grant program is administered through USDA Rural Development Rural Business-Cooperative Service. The grants were awarded on a competitive basis and are intended to foster rural cooperative development through projects that provide rural residents with education and technical assistance in areas of cooperative startup, marketing and managing, and other self-help tools.

Recipient states and the grant amounts are the following: Alabama — $299,365; Arkansas — $238,681; California — $299,530; Colorado — $298,740; Kansas — $300,000; Kentucky — $269,500; Massachusetts — $297,618; Maryland — $289,500; Minnesota — $294,000; Missouri — $173,385; Mississippi — $161,667; Montana — $291,652; North Dakota — $300,000; Nebraska — $294,979; Ohio — $294,976; Pennsylvania — $300,000; South Dakota — $100,000; Texas — $232,460; and Virginia — $299,980.

USDA Rural Development serves as the lead Federal entity for rural development needs and administers financial and technical assistance through three agencies: Rural Housing Service, Rural Business-Cooperative Service and Rural Utilities Service. Further information on USDA Rural Development can be obtained by contacting any USDA Service Center or by visiting USDA's Website at http://www.rurdev.usda.gov/.

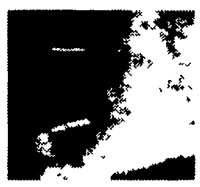
WARNING, ALL SILO OWNERS

Check your silo now for rotten staves. If you have been using your silo for 10 to 15 years for either corn silage or haylage, it is time to SHOTCRETE

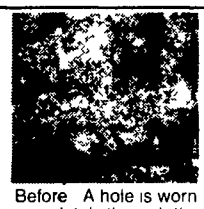
RESURFACES INTERIORS:
- Coats the silo's interior
- Protects feed in storage
- Durable, tough, acid-resistant
- Increase useful life
- Economical

Before The silo's interior with plaster damage and stave exposed

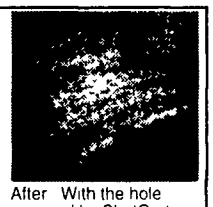


After The surface is reconditioned and a new thick tough surface will protect stored feed

REPAIRS HOLES:
- Repairs even large holes
- Up to twice the strength of the original stave
- Rapid application
- Durable surface

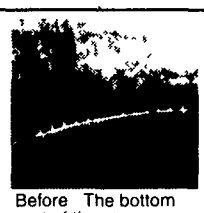


Before A hole is worn completely through the silo wall



After With the hole repaired by ShotCrete and a new surface applied the silo is ready for years of use

EXTENDS USEFUL LIFE:
- Support for old foundations
- Special repairs can be made... quickly and economically
- Little or no forming needed
- Stronger than the original



Before The bottom part of the staves are completely worn away

After The ShotCrete System repairs and replaces the missing structure

S&S Silo Service Has More than 20 Years Experience Recoating Silos With ShotCrete.

Everlast Roofing, Inc. Metal Roofing & Siding
The Ultimate G-100 Process
"The Best"
1 Valspar 10S Finish Coat
2 Epoxy Primer
3 Zinc Phosphate Pretreatment
4 G-100 Zinc Coating
5 Full Hard Steel (80,000 min yield)
6 Heat formed less paint cracks

Everlast II
NOTE! It is more important what is under the paint than what you see on top!
1 One of the best paints, superior acid rain, cracking resistance and color retention
2 Primer coat promotes outstanding top coat adhesion
3 Zinc phosphate pretreatment This is a very important process if your current supplier cannot supply you with this or does not know, you should reconsider
4 G-100 Galvanized Most metal roofing has approx 40% less galvanized under the paint G-100 is more galvanized than most unpainted panels
5 Full Hard Anything less than full hard will bend easier, lower snow loads, etc
6 Heat formed Metal is painted before ribs are formed Most paint cracks at bends heat forming greatly reduces cracks (check metal siding that is installed for 5-10 years)
7 Stronger design superior strength more metal per L F
8 Add Everything Together And Price Should Be $53 37 Per Square $1 69 Per L F
OUR SPECIAL PRICE ONLY
$48.32 PER SQUARE
$1.53 PER LINEAL FT.

Everlast is stronger.

Everlast makes metal roofs and sides that are substantially stronger than it's competition. Everlast II does not buckle as easy during erection, less popping and buckling while walking on it. Higher wind and snow loads. More attractive

EVERLAST II EVERLAST II EVERLAST II

Metal Roofs Aren't Created Equal

EVERLAST II IS BETTER:

- it is galvanized heavier, like old times.
- it is heat formed, less paint cracks.
- is cut while hot, prevents early edge rust.
- won't scratch as easy, paint is harder.
- won't bend or buckle as easy, stronger design.
- laps are tighter, and virtually invisible.
- nail/screws seal better, ribs fit tighter to head.
- zinc phosphate, not chromate under paint.
- still priced about the same or less.

EVERLAST II
is excellent for houses and barns.
DOUBLE DIPPED GALVANIZED
is proven best for animals.
STANDING SEAM
is ideal for houses.

Having Problems Getting Milk Cold?

Consider a Mueller precooler. It's an excellent way to lower the cost of cooling milk. It reduces milk temperature with water pumped straight out of your well. Mueller® precoolers are available in sizes to work with any system. If lower electric bills would make your life easier, call us and ask for more information on Mueller precoolers.
